A Troubled World.
What Ails Us All?
Permission From Abroad.
Sons, Full Grown.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THERE IS SERIOUS revolution in Brazil. Pernambuco taken by the rebels, according to report.

In China 75,000 "Reds" attack Kiangsi Province.

Mild and peaceful South Germany is rocked by earthquake. Raphael's beautiful Madonna in Munich, with the exquisite little cherubs looking upward must have felt the quake, but fortunately was not injured.

IT IS A STRANGE, agitated, restless, dissatisfied world.

That we have our share of the dissatisfaction here is proved in serious rioting and fighting by gangs of rowdies in Boston, attacking police and members of the American Legion.

It is enlightening in our day of "prohibition" to read that the fight started when a federal agent interfered with four bootleggers selling vile whisky to the crowd, in public.

WHEN YOU are ill, it is well to know what is the matter. Business is ill, with an illness that affects millions of unemployed, as illness of the body affects billions of cells.

Mr. L. Greenfield, of Santa Barbara, diagnosing, finds the following list of symptoms:

1: Over speculation.

2: Fear.

3: Loss of confidence in our financial system.

4: Very low and cautious circulation of money.

5: Increase of unemployment by big business methods of "economy."

6: False statements of the country's condition.

What would you add to these symptoms? There is something the matter that nobody understands. This country fortunately will cure itself this time as it has cured itself often before.

IT SEEMS strange to read in dispatches from Washington about the "type of submarines that the Navy may build under the London Treaty."

We couldn't imagine Grover Cleveland, or Lincoln, asking anybody in London: "What kind of submarines may we build? And how many?"

You are told that we may have, six years hence, as many as 40 United States submarines, and the Navy is "concentrating on numbers, not on size."

We ought to have 100 submarines NOW and we should concentrate on size, speed, and especially on cruising radius.

WE SHOULD SAY to the rest of the world:

"We want peace, and we intend to have it. Therefore, we have a submarine fleet that can go around the world, invisible, and destroy every one of your commercial ships.

"We have an air fleet that can cross all the oceans above the range of your anti-aircraft guns, and destroy every one of your cities, if to our regret we find it necessary to do so."

ANOTHER BRITANNIA begins to realize that her dominion sons are children no longer, and agrees, on demand of the Irish Free State, that the high court of any dominion shall render final decisions. Any dominion that chooses may abolish the right of its citizens to appeal to Britain's privy council against their own supreme court.

THE IRISH decide that their own courts are good enough, while this country decides that it needs decisions from foreign judges, and joins the World Court, sitting 3,000 miles away across the ocean.

What has happened to our national backbone?

ONE SCIENTIST, disliking the idea of making money, said when announcing an important discovery, "Thank heaven, it cannot possibly have any practical use." Probably he was mistaken.

Paresis, a disease of the mind, that has always ended fatally, is now treated successfully by radio. The disease has recently been fought by creating intense fever in the patient. Malaria-bearing mosquitoes were made to plant malarial germs in the paretic's blood—he got malaria, but paresis improved.

NOW, IN PLACE of the malarial mosquito, and unpleasant disease germs, the clean radio is to cause intensely higher fever. New York Academy of Medicine doctors discuss the new "remedy" with hope and excitement.

THE "CURING MACHINE" is a small radio station, its energy is localized between two plates. The patient sits between them, and the radio impulses pass through him, creating a high fever.

Nominee Hails Defection As Aid to Party, Scores Rail Chief as 'Traitor'

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Resignation of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania "because he cannot support all of the nominees on the Republican state ticket" was announced today by Edward Martin, Republican state chairman.

While Martin did not mention Gifford Pinchot, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, it is known that Atterbury's withdrawal from the committee was prompted because of a refusal to support Pinchot.

In accepting the resignation, Martin said he had asked Mrs. Worthington Scranton, the other member of the national committee from Pennsylvania, to take over the work.

SOLIDARITY ASSURED

Martin, in accepting the resignation, said:

"The solidarity of the party is assured by the steadfastness and loyalty of 67 county chairmen.

"The rules of the Republican state committee require the member of the national committee to be a supporter of all the nominees. Therefore he has tendered his resignation and I have accepted it.

"The campaign, congressional and state, is now under full headway and I can see no reason to call the state committee in meeting to select a successor to Atterbury at this time. I have asked Mrs. Worthington

BIG BROKERAGE FIRM SUSPENDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The New York Stock Exchange today announced the suspension of the brokerage firm of Prince and Whitely for insolvency.

The firm was one of the largest and oldest brokerage houses in Wall Street. In addition to two offices in New York City, it maintained offices in Indianapolis, Philadelphia and Reading, Pa.

Wall Street regarded this failure as one of the most serious in the past decade, although no estimate as to assets and liabilities was available.

The recent failure of J. A. Sisto & Company was regarded as the first casualty among Wall Street's larger houses, resulting from the collapse of the securities markets nearly a year ago. Prince and Whitely, however, is understood to have much more extensive interests than Sisto & Company.

Long Gives Louisiana Office to Girl Aide

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, 24-year-old secretary to Gov. Huey P. Long, today was to take over her new duties as Louisiana's secretary of state. Gov. Long appointed Miss Grosjean to succeed James J. Bailey, who died Tuesday after serving in that position 14 years.

Warburton Plans 'Round World Flight

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Plans of Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., to make a leisurely trip around the world were revealed here today. He will fly from here to San Francisco, ship his plane to China, whence he will fly to London. His plane will be shipped from London to New York, when he will fly back here.

Warburton, a grandson of John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, expects to begin his air journey in December.

Volpe Put on Trial Over Slot Machines

The selection of a jury to try the Arthur Volpe slot machine case was completed in Criminal Court this afternoon and the state opened its case against the Wilmerding politician. Two charges of keeping a gambling house have been placed against Volpe after a witness testified he had placed a slot machine in a store.

61 Tags Ignored; 2 Autoists Arrested

Two men charged with ignoring a total of 61 tags for parking violations were arrested downtown today by Patrolman John Ryan and released on forfeits for a hearing in Traffic Court. They were G. H. Steamer Senator Cordill Sinks Near Marietta

MARIETTA, O., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The steamer Senator Cordill, the largest packet boat in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati trade, struck an obstruction in the Ohio River, seven miles below here, and sank today.

The Cordill was enroute to Pittsburgh from Cincinnati with a heavy freight cargo, but a small passenger list. All passengers and the crew were landed without injury.

The craft sank on the Ohio side of the river.

TAX BOOST LIKELY IN '31

Revenue Collections Drop, City Facing Deficit; May Raise Valuations

Possibility of either a city tax increase of at least one mill or a raise in property valuations was seen today when the following developments were revealed as department heads began to outline their budget plans for the coming year:

1.—In spite of the increase in the tax millage and the metered water rates, the city this year is faced with a deficit of at least $2,000,000 in current tax collections.

2.—Although approximately $270,000 "free cash" was carried over from 1929 to 1930, a deficit in 1930 appropriations exists as the new budgets are being prepared.

3.—To meet the deficiency in collections, it was thought that the tax rate would be raised, or that because this is the triennial assessment year, the Board of Assessors would raise property valuations.

COLLECTIONS OFF

Tax collections for the nine months ending September 30, according to a summary prepared by the controller's office and announced today, totaled $17,289,247.54, which leaves a balance of $2,181,152.45 to be collected so as to meet the estimated total of $19,470,400.

Tax collections for the first nine months of this year amount to 88.7 per cent of the total, as against 90.9 per cent collected in the first nine months of 1929, and 91.78 per cent collected in the same period in 1928.

Tax collections for the first nine months of 1929 totaled $16,822,-

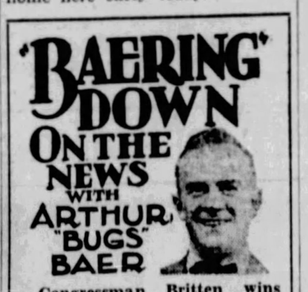
W. I. Swoope Dies; Ex-Congress Member

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Former Congressman W. I. Swoope, prominent in Republican activities, a leader in political work for a half century and one of the most widely known attorneys in the state, died at his home here early today.



Congressman Britten wins an important detail for doctors by flattening the plan of an application every two months for one quart of liquor.

That's not only unsanitary, but too long to wait.

Doctors can now go wet marketing for six bottles at a clip. You require a diploma to drink nowadays.

This whisky is used in medical offices and operating rooms. When a lady faints the doctor gives her a drink.

Then the doctor takes a drink. And he faints.

As an anesthetic producing the sleep that passeth all understanding and amendments, its soporific qualities are equivalent to having your hair parted with a chunk of lead pipe.

We forgot that the six bottles are supposed to last a year. Very often the doctors forget it too.

Its antiseptic and therapeutic values are high, provided you take a forkful every hour.

Over-Capitalization Cause of Depression, Says W. R. Hearst

The basis of prosperity is the ability of the public to buy, plus of course the willingness of the public to buy.

In other words, prosperity is based on the purchasing power of the public. When the public buys from the stores, the stores buy from the factories, the factories buy the raw materials produced by the farms and the mines.

All these forms of activity employ labor, and the money circulates with profits to all classes.

We were in the midst of such a prosperous period. Why did it not continue?

We do not have to go to the war in China and the silver situation in India to find the reason.

There may be contributing causes in those distant regions, but the real reason is right here at home.

The cause is not lack of money here, either. We have today all the money we had in the country in times of prosperity.

We have in addition part payments to us by foreign nations, and we have in addition again all the money that foreign investors from Europe, South America and elsewhere poured into the booming American stock market, and left here when the stock collapse came and wiped them out.

What then is the cause of the collapse?

Not merely over-speculation, but over-capitalization.

The people were in a speculative mood. They would buy anything. They would absorb any issue, without regard to basic earnings and dividends.

As a consequence, all sorts of Cats-and-Dogs were unloaded on the market and sold to the public, which bit at them like hungry fish at a cotton fly or a tin spoon.

Billions of dollars were taken from hard-earned hoardings of little speculators and stored away in the vaults of the big speculators.

Not only were companies formed of Amalgamated Cats-and-Dogs, and sold to the public at a hundred times their value, but investment trusts were formed, and after the public appetite for Cats-and-Dogs had waned, the investment trust, guided by the big speculators, to whose honor the public's money had been entrusted, absorbed the remainder of the issue of Amalgamated Cats-and-Dogs which the public would not knowingly buy.

In one instance, 60,000,000 shares of Amalgamated Cats-and-Dogs were unloaded on the public at $20 a share—$1,200,000,000 worth of worthlessness handed to the public in return for good money.

But all the capitalization that tended to bring about hard times was not over capitalization, and certainly not all of it wildcat capitalization.

The wildcat speculation could only be conducted by the great firms in whose honor the public had misplaced confidence.

Mere over-capitalization, however, was conducted by many institutions with less fame and more morality, and a certain amount of legitimate but unwarranted capitalization was practiced by almost every institution.

The marvelous improvements of modern machinery, and the wonderful advances in modern methods of mass production have caused almost everything to be produced at, to use a round figure, half its former cost.

But the sales price remained the same or was even higher.

Consequently the profits of industry were greatly increased.

Who should have had the advantage of this improvement in machinery and methods, this

LEVINE'S OLD SHIP FLYING TO BRITAIN

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The Radio Marine Corporation received a message from the steamship Quaker City, a hundred miles east-northeast of Cape Race, which told of sighting the airplane Columbia. The plane was flying at an altitude of 200 feet, headed "east true," the massage said. It was timed 12:55 Eastern Standard time.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Capt. Errol Boyd and Lieut. Harry Connor hopped off at 11:20 a. m., eastern standard time, in the airplane Columbia for England.

The veteran monoplane, which belongs to Charles A. Levine, is the vessel in which Clarence Chamberlin and Levine flew across the Atlantic Ocean from Roosevelt Field to Kottsbus, Germany, in June, 1927.

MANY SCARS

Since then it has carried Mabel Boll to Havana, it cracked up at the take-off of a projected flight to Rome, and was damaged in a flight which Levine made over Roosevelt Field.

Capt. Boyd, in command of today's flight, began last spring to prepare for the trip.

He hoped at first to start from Montreal on the flight in May or early June.

DOESN'T CARRY RADIO

First Canadian to enlist in the Royal Air Force during the World War, Boyd had flown the mails for several years. He selected Connor, who navigated the plane in which Roger Q. Williams recently flew to Bermuda, as his navigator.

The Columbia carries no radio equipment on her flight over the Atlantic, but is equipped with a delicate instrument which Capt. Boyd declared will make flying safer through fog.

Backing the flight is John A. O'Brien, of New York.

HEARST IN CHICAGO FOR FETE; SEES BUSINESS UPSWING

DEPRESSION WANING, HE SAYS

Publisher Declares Slump Conditions 'Exhausted;' Trade Gains Appearing

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—William Randolph Hearst, publisher, arrived here today to be an honored guest at a patriotic demonstration marking the 69ty-ninth anniversary of the Chicago fire.

"Prosperity banquets," parades, speeches and pageantry were on the day's program.

To newspapermen who interviewed him in the Congress Hotel, Mr. Hearst declared that conditions which brought about the business depression have disappeared, have "exhausted themselves.

DEPRESSION WANING

Analyzing the business situation, he said:

"It doesn't take long to fall from the top of a high building, but it takes a long time to climb back. The conditions which brought about the business depression now have exhausted themselves and business is beginning to improve. We who publish newspapers know that this is true.

"The late President Wilson said 'panics are a matter of psychology.' Of course, we all know that is true. That is also true of prosperity.

"The business institutions are beginning to feel the general improvement. Savings bank accounts indicate that people still have much money and they are now beginning to spend it.

"One could get along all summer with the old clothes, or possibly a suit of overalls, and the old flivver, but now they are wearing out and they have to buy new clothes, and a present for Aunt Susie, and begin to spend their money.

GENERAL IMPROVEMENT

"Business generally is improving and will continue so, and it will be a long time before the stock market will begin to reflect actual recovery of real business."

Mr. Hearst, accompanied by his son, William Randolph Hearst, Jr., was welcomed at the train by Mayor William Hale Thompson and other dignitaries.

Today's celebration, in the mayor's opinion, will bring forth a renewed allegiance to American principles, as well as a beginning of prosperity's return. Mr. Hearst's expulsion from France for having exposed the secret Anglo-French naval treaty provided a keynote for the manifestation of patriotism.

LAUDS HEARST

Describing the publisher as being "a very modest man," the Mayor said Mr. Hearst was opposed to making the day a gala event in his behalf. He added:

"We will release him at 5 p. m., and with the added note looking forward to a revival of prosperity, the program will close with three banquets addressed by nationally prominent speakers."

Resolutions praising William Randolph Hearst for the exposure in his newspapers of the secret Anglo-French agreement have been adopted by the Chicago Newspaper Printing Pressmen's Union, Local No. 7.

City's Name Added To Sign After Row

HARTFORD, Conn. — (INS.)— It was just a wee bit too much for the pride of Hartford to have painters come along and print the name of the New York, New Haven and Hartford in its abbreviated style on the trestle across Asylum street, in the center here. When the words "New Haven Railroad" appeared in gleaming white letters on both faces of the trestle, a storm rose that was not stilled until the painters came back and changed the legend to read "New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad."

Court to Decide Bandit Rewards

LAMAR, Colo.—(INS.) — The district court here will be called upon to determine which parties shall receive the $12,000 in reward that were offered for the capture of the "wolf pack" that robbed the first National Bank of Lamar, with resultant murder of four persons. The rewards are due to be paid now that three members of the gang have been executed.

Eight parties thus far have claimed either all or a part of the rewards.

DRY ISSUE STIRS LAW BODY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. — (AP.) —Promise of an early report on prohibition in which there will be "no pussyfooting" emanated from President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission today after long hours of argument at its opening session yesterday.

It has become definitely known that prohibition is now dominating the discussions of the commission and also that virtually all of the day and night sessions of yesterday were spent in arguing the demands of an insurgent element for an immediate report on this question.

Chairman George W. Wickersham announced that the commission hoped to report to Congress by the opening of the December session. He said:

"If the commission reaches the conclusion that prohibition is not enforceable I think we should say so."

KIWANIANS HEAR REALTY HISTORY

Romance of real estate from early days in the United States was described before Pittsburgh Kiwanis Club members today at the organization's weekly luncheon in Fort Pitt Hotel by J. W. Cree, Jr., president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board.

Declaring real estate is the foundation of wealth, Mr. Cree pointed out the English laws are the basis upon which transactions were based in Pennsylvania from the time William Penn was granted 47,000 acres.

Battle of Groton To be Re-enated

NEW LONDON, Conn.—(INS.) —The battle of Groton Heights, wherein nearly the entire defending force was massacred after they had repelled the enemy for hours when New London was attacked late in the course of the Revolutionary War, is to be re-enacted in pageant form, according to plans being worked out by a committee headed by Lieut. Gov. Ernest E. Rogers, of this city. The battle took place on September 6, 1781, and was followed by the burning of New London.

GAS KILLS FOUR IN OHIO MINE

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 9.—(AP.) —The bodies of three miners, killed by gas when trapped by fire in a slope mine near Dalton yesterday, were recovered last night. With the death of a rescue worker, the toll of the fire was fixed at four.

Four members of a United Mine Workers rescue squad from Pittsburgh recovered the bodies of the three miners who had died at the extreme rear of the drift tunnel, 800 feet back of the entrance. The bodies were found huddled together.

The trio had died from monoxide gas fumes, which also caused the death of Rush D. Hiller, 47, Canton undertaker, who was overcome while leading a rescue crew into the mine.

His companion took him to the surface, where he succumbed from effects of the gas.

VOTE MACHINE BAN SOUGHT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Delaware County Commissioners are being confronted with the same problems that have been troubling the Philadeladelphia County Commissioners in regard to using voting machines at the coming elections.

Sixty machines have been delivered and are ready for use in the November election, but it will depend upon the action of the County Court on a suit for an injuction which has been filed whether the machines will be placed in the polling places.

Eric W. Koehns, of Glen Olden, started a taxpayer's suit to enjoin the use of the machines as soon as it was announced the commissioners had signed a contract with the Automatic Machine Company, of Jamestown, N. Y., the same concern that has furnished the contrivances to the Philadelphia County.

2 Records in Week, Hawks Takes Rest

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS.)— After making his second record in a week, Capt. Frank Hawks rested here today. He flew from Philadelphia to New York yesterday covering 90 miles in 20 minutes. Tuesday he whirled off the 190 miles between Boston and New York in 53 minutes.

GRUNDY IN CITY SEES VICTORY FOR G. O. P.

Pinchot and Mates Will Win By Big Margin, Senator Says; Democrats to Rally

Senator Joseph R. Grundy paid a flying visit here yesterday and after conferring with political leaders left for Philadelphia. He was quoted as saying:

"Gifford Pinchot, nominee for governor, and his running mates on the Republican ticket will be elected by large majorities."

Grundy declined to comment for publication on the Philadelphia leaders who have bolted Pinchot for the Democratic nominee, John M. Hemphill, but he indicated a conviction that the defection of the Philadelphia organization would strengthen Pinchot in up-state counties.

The Senator conferred with his business representative, Samuel C. Jamison, W. L. Mellon, State Senator James J. Coyne, local manager of Senator Grundy's primary campaign; former President of Council James F. Malone, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern and Frank I. Gollmar, Allegheny County chairman of Pinchot's primary campaign.

HEMPHILL RALLY

Arthur M. Scully, county chairman of the Liberal party that has selected Hemphill as the lone Democratic nominee for its support, announced yesterday that a Hemphill rally will be staged Wednesday night in Syria Mosque.

David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman, announced Hemphill's itinerary for next week as follows: Monday — Upper Darby, Media and points in Delaware County; Tuesday—Oil City, Franklin, Greenville, Mercer, Farrell and Sharon; Wednesday — New Castle, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Ambridge and Pittsburgh; Thursday—Greensburg and other points in Westmoreland County; Friday — Johnstown and other points in Cambria County; Saturday—Points in Lancaster County.

NAMES CHAIRMEN

Lawrence has appointed the following chairmen for the Democratic committees: Attorney Charles Alvin Jones, campaign; Ewing Laporte, finance; Ralph E. Smith, speakers. Jones was chairman of the committee that drafted the current Democratic state platform. Laporte was an assistant secretary of the Treasury under the late President Woodrow Wilson. Smith is a former police magistrate of Pittsburgh.

COAL CO.'S TAX APPEAL UPHELD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.) —The Board of Tax Appeals has sustained the West Virginia-Pittsburgh Coal Company in its contention that the invested capital for 1918 should have been $1,319,262.

The case was appealed on this and other legal phases after the commissioner of internal revenue had declared deficiencies aggregating $138,740 existed in the returns of the company for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1922.

The opinion was written by Commissioner Smith.

2 PUPILS KILLED IN CRASH OF BUS, AUTO

Driver Tries to Pass Another And Runs Into Third Machine; 4 Children Hurt

EBENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 9. —Two high school pupils were killed and four others injured when their automobile, en route to the Ebensburg-Cambria Township High School, crashed with a school bus near here today.

The dead are Mildred Bertolone, 15, and Ardino Gismocchine, 15, both of Colver.

Peter Tandia, 18, driver of the auto, and Gracinda Oriolo, 16, are in the Colver Hospital with skull fractures. Elda Bertolone, 18, sister of the dead girl, and Anna Gedorka, 16, are in the same hospital with minor hurts.

The auto carrying the six pupils was en route from Colver to the high school. In attempting to pass one school bus, the auto collided head-on with a bus coming in the opposite direction. The auto was wrecked.

ATTERBURY OUT IN G.O.P. REVOLT

Scranton, the other member of the national committee from Pennsylvania, to take over the work and she has very willingly accepted."

Martin declined to amplify his statement, which was in typewritten form.

PINCHOT ELATED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—"My demand that Atterbury as National Republican committeeman from Pennsylvania should either perform the duties of his office or resign has born fruit."

So said Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor, in a formal statement today.

It was issued after he learned that W. W. Atterbury had resigned as national committeeman because he could not support the entire Republican ticket in Psnnsylvania. He continued:

"There was only one other man in Pennsylvania who by bolting the Republican party could have helped the state ticket as much as Charlie Hall has helped it, and that man was Atterbury.

"Atterbury has been using the employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad to do his political bidding at the expense and to the serious cost of the stockholders of the road. I have indisputable proof that he did so in the primary. He is doing the same thing now. Whether his action is a criminal infraction of federal law is a question to be determined, but, in any case, it is an outrageous abuse of the interests of the railroad, and the stockholders of the railroad. It ought to be resented, and it is resented by people all over Pennsylvania who have their own interests or the genuine interests of the Pennsylvania Railroad at heart.

SERVICE TO G. O. P.

"Atterbury's elimination from the Republican party will do the Republicans of Pennsylvania no harm and the Republicans of the nation much good. His treachery to the party which honored him was made the issue so crystal clear that nobody can misunderstand it.

"The great special interests, and that group of the public utilities which has gouged and exploited the people of Pennsylvania, and which is known as the Atterbury group, are together where they belong, and they have picked Hemphill as their candidate.

"On the other side are the common people of the state, Philadelphia included, who have been overtaxed, overcharged, exploited, and wronged. With them is legitimate business which likewise has been overtaxed and overcharged. I am proud to believe that both of these elements are behind me as their candidate."

Dorrance Predicts Hemphill Stampede

Charles Dorrance, state chairman of the Liberal party that is backing John M. Hemphill, Democratic nominee for governor, returned today to Pittsburgh and predicted a stampede of Western Pennsylvania voters to Hemphill as a protest against Gifford Pinchot for calling certain prominent Republicans "renegades, bootleggers, bartenders and gangsters." Dorrance stated:

"When the people of Western Pennsylvania read tomorrow the real Pennsylvania names of those who are backing up the state-wide movement to send Mr. (I'm not a Republican) Pinchot back to his insurgent accomplices, Senators Norris, Brookhart and Nye, there will be a Western Pennsylvania stampede for Hemphill greater than that east of the Alleghenies and one that will permanently induce Mr. Pinchot to live with us only as he has in the past—on week-ends in the summer time."

PARADE PROCEEDS

Mrs. Schoyer and Durbin were in the machine driven by Miss Schoyer. Mr. Downs escaped injury.

The procession had left the Pittsburgh Seminary Building at North avenue and Buena Vista street for two memorial services in Beaver County, one at the site of the old Service Seminary, the original foundation of Xenia Seminary, and the other at the grave of Dr. John Anderson, only professor at the Service institution.

The services were in connection with completion of the merger of the schools, which train United Presbyterian ministers.

Following the crash the injured were given treatment in Imperial and the party proceeded to Beaver County.

Territorial Rule Urged for Samoa

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.— (INS.)—The Bingham Joint congressional committee has decided to ask Congress to establish in Samoa an insular government similar to that in the Virgin Islands, according to a cablegram from Senator Bingham, committee chairman. The legislation would permit Samoans to become American citizens and would establish a territorial government.

5,000 Apply for 2,000 Cleveland City Jobs

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9.—(AP.)— Five thousand men thronged around City Hall and crowded into the street as applications were received at the hall for the employment of 2,000 men on three-day city jobs. Patrolmen were hard pressed to keep traffic moving, and the public auditorium annex was thrown open to accommodate part of the crowd.

Crafton Woman Hurt As 2 Cars Collide

Mrs. George Price, 35, of Crafton, suffered head injuries today, police reported, when an automobile in which she was riding, driven by Walter Brown, 17, of 101 Chateau street, collided with a car driven by Harry L. Bittner, Jr., 30, of 1513 Adams street, on the Duquesne way ramp. She was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital. The drivers were arrested.

BRAZIL ACTS TO CRUSH REBELS

Federals Prepare Offensive To Regain Northern States In Power of Insurgents

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 9. —(AP.)—The federal government took steps today to regain for the administration the northern states of Pernambuco, Rio Grande do Norte and Parahyba, all which have gone over to the revolution.

While reports came from Recife or Pernambuco that a rebel army was advancing down the coast and had over-run the state of Alagoas, the government designated Gen. Santa Cruz as head of all loyal troops in Bahia, between Rio de Janeiro and Pernambuco, with orders to conduct an offensive against the Northern states from there.

The insurgent army contains contingents from all three states, including those troops victorious in the week-end battle which wrested Pernambuco from hands of the garrison there.

CONTROL FOOD PRICES

Government forces have continued an advance into the state of Minas Geraes, whence most of the capital's food supply comes.

A decree was promulgated today regulating the food-stuffs trade in the city, and establishing maximum prices. Infractions of the law will be punishable with fines up to $5,000.

Radio messages from Manaos, capital of Amazonas, said the Legislative Assembly at that state had condemned the revolution, directing the secretary to inform the President of Brazil of their full support.

PLANT DAMAGED BY "REDS"

Dispatches from Para or Belem said that warships and police loyal to the government had fired upon that part of the army there which had revolted.

A government inquiry board found that Communists, allegedly, had done $2,000,000 damage to the property of the Bahia subsidiary of the Electric Bond and Share Company. The damage was said to have been inflicted by rioters during a Communist demonstration.

DECISIVE BATTLE NEAR

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Revolutionary armies of the Southern Brazilian states are converging on Sao Paulo, center of Brazil's vast coffee-growing region, where, it now appears, a decisive battle may be fought.

The Rio de Janeiro government, dispatches state, is depending upon troops in Sao Paulo to keep the Southern armies away from the capital while the revolution is put down in the North, and to this end has strengthened its military bases for defense of the coffee capital.

Reports through Uruguayan border points say 80,000 revolutionists are under arms and that armies totaling 100,000 men already have been mobilized. Parana and Santa Catharina armies totaling 30,000 men are marching toward the Uruguay River to effect a union there for the march northward.

Dr. Morris Nadel, surgeon riding in this ambulance, was hurried into another and rushed to a Brooklyn hospital with the truck driver after the two machines crashed at a corner.

Van Loan Won't Deny He's Engaged to Gilda Gray

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(INS.) —Inasmuch as Mrs. Gertrude Cameron Van Loan charged that her husband, H. H. Van Loan, the playwright, had announced his engagement to three women while still married to her, she will, perhaps, look askance at rumors linking her husband's name with that of Gilda Gray, the dancer.

Asked to comment on reports that he was going to marry the dancer, Van Loan countered in this manner:

"You can't tell. But people do get married, don't they? Even authors and actresses."

Miss Gray, divorced some time ago from Gil Boag, admitted that they had been "dear friends" for quite some time.

In a cross-complaint to her husband's divorce suit, Mrs. Van Loan charged the author, while still married to her, announced his engagement to three women, including Marjorie Rambeau and Virginia Brown Faire, actresses.

Prefers Home-Town Bride To Those Kline Found

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—(AP.) Matrimony by mail isn't so appealing, Ralph G. Klinger, employe at the Dauphin County almshouse, has decided as he prepared to wed a girl from the old home town of Lykens today.

Some weeks ago, Klinger appealed to Mayor Charles H. Kline, of Pittsburgh, for aid in finding a wife. Letters by the dozen followed, and Mayor Kline forwarded them to Klinger.

Klinger considered them.

Yesterday he appeared at the court house with Miss Hazel M. McClintock, 29, of Lykens—Klinger's home town—and got a marriage license.

The couple will be married here today.

POLICE MISSING, 'MYSTERY STILL' HEARING FAILS

MARY GARDEN ON SHIPBOARD . . . . QUITE FRISKY, TOO!

MARY RETURNS 'QUITE FRISKY'

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Mary Garden arrived on the Bremen today, "quite frisky," as she expressed it, after a summer on the Riviera during which she spent much time swimming with the fishes and, to quote her again, with no more on than they had.

Miss Garden, long an advocate of open-air sun baths, said she felt younger than ever. She dared anyone to say she didn't look younger and there wasn't a whisper.

"On the fifteenth," she announced, "I'm going to sing all over the radio."

She pronounced it "raddio."

Someone asked if she had learned that from Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

"Does he say it that way?" She asked. "What? He's been criticized for it? Well, he's perfectly right. He's always right. He's a dear."

After singing on the radio here Miss Garden will go to the West Coast to take a voice test and find out if she is equipped to star in a movie opera.

She said she had given up the idea of becoming an American citizen, although she took out her first papers five years ago.

"Now, there's one question you haven't asked," she said. "You always ask if I'm engaged. Well, I'm not, and I don't plan to be. I don't think there's any use getting married when you have work to do. Of course if a woman hasn't any work, then I suppose she has to get a husband to work for her."

AIR DEAD TO LIE IN STATE

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Ancient walls and rafters of Westminster Hall echoed today to the hammers of carpenters preparing the catafalque on which coffins of the 48 victims of the R-101 disaster will lie in state tomorrow.

The forty-eighth coffin, that containing the body of S. Church, rigger, who died yesterday at Beauvais, will be added to the 47 brought here aboard the warships Tempest and Tribune.

The coffins will be removed tonight from the mortuary chamber, where they have rested, to the hall and will be ranged in double column down the center of the hall, each draped in a national flag and floral tributes ranged around it. Sentinels with reversed arms will stand silently around the catafalque while the public files past.

In view of the intense public sympathy and interest, it is expected that many thousands will enter the hall, and that many others will be unable to gain entrance. The occasion of Edward VII's lying in state in Westminster Hall is remembered. At that time the line of persons who awaited admission extended several miles.

The vast grave in which the bodies are to be laid side by side in Cardington Churchyard is within sight of the great hangar from which the R-101 went on its fateful voyage last Saturday evening.

Cheating in School May Be Prosecuted

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Cheating in school may be punished by law for the first time on record in legal history, if a district attorney's investigation in Brooklyn uncovers the expected evidence.

Complaint has reached the State Department of Education that a Brooklyn school graduate took a regent's examination in Spanish for a student.

Tax Mulcting Laid To Albany Citizens

ALBANY, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Indictments were returned in County Court today against 10 Albany residents, including a physician, a prominent contractor, a theater manager and three city employes, in connection with alleged mulcting of the city treasurer's office of $50,000 of tax funds.

$10,000 Granted To Fight Mine Fire

An emergency appropriation of $10,000 to fight a mine fire endangering property in the vicinity of Baldwin road, Twenty-eighth Ward, was granted yesterday at a special meeting of Council. The emergency was certified by Mayor Charles H. Kline and Controller James P. Kerr.

Schenck to Increase Picture Production

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, film producers, said today after a trip from New York that the business depression definitely is ending. Schenck announced an increased production schedule for his company.

Freighter Aground In Heavy Lake Fog

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Lost in the heaviest fog of the year, the freighter Lyman C. Smith, of Oswego, N. Y., went hard aground in Lake Michigan today on a sandy beach just off the Village of Shorewood, a suburb of Milwaukee.

The ship was in no immediate danger and will be pulled off after the fog lifts, Coast Guardsmen said.

Given 10 Years In Payroll Holdup

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Willie Niemoth, alleged Chicago gangster, convicted of participation in a $47,000 payroll holdup here in 1926, was sentenced today in Criminal Court to 10 years in the penitentiary. It was the heaviest sentence possible under the law.

DRY AGENTS RAID LEGION HOTEL

Several Arrests Made for Bootlegging; Vets Have Close Fight for Chief

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Federal prohibition agents, under the leadership of Dennis T. Lorden, descended on the Hotel Statler, American Legion convention headquarters, early today, seized several men and held them on bootlegging charges.

Persons partaking of liquor were not bothered.

Lorden was rescued from a crowd of hoodlums in Park Square Tuesday night when he arrested four men for bootlegging. Boston and Legion police saved him and his prisoners from roughnecks.

The fight for the office of national commander of the legion, to be filled at today's session of the national convention, had narrowed down to a contest between Ralph T. O'Neil, of Topeka, Kan., and Munroe Johnson, of Marion, S. C.

A stubborn fight loomed over a proposed recommendation to Congress to pass legislation allowing war veterans to cash 80 per cent of their adjusted compensation, thus throwing into circulation about $2,000,000,000 to relieve the present depression.

AGED OHIO MAN BEATEN, ROBBED

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 9.—Two young men were held in jail here today after they are alleged to have confessed tying Vernon Jones, 75, to a bedpost in his home, beating him unconscious with a bottle, then robbing him of $16.

The prisoners, neighbors of Jones, are Charles Campbell, 23, and Emmett Keyser, 20.

Jones is suffering a skull fracture and is not expected to live, according to physicians.

An alleged confession told of the two entering the home in the evening for a friendly chat and drink of cider. They left the door unlocked.

At midnight they re-entered and, tying Jones to his bed, lit a candle "so he could see himself killed," assaulted him with the bottle and took $16 in cash.

MISSES DEATH IN ICEBOX

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 9.—Imprisoned for more than an hour today in a large cooler of the Carter Ice Company, Tom Yowler, 26, narrowly escaped freezing to death. He was saved by another driver, who found him on the floor in a semi-conscious condition. Yowler was taken to the Uniontown Hospital, where his condition is undetermined.

The temperature in the cooler was zero and the room was filled with fumes. Yowler had gone there to remove large containers of ice cream when the door closed behind him.

Before he collapsed from the cold, Yowler battered the door from within. He demolished the heavy lock, but not sufficiently to open the door. He collapsed just inside the door.

Nominating Paper Forgeries Charged

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—A formal objection to the petition nominating Prof. Robert P. Carroll, Syracuse, for governor on the third and bone-dry state ticket was filed today by Simeon J. Beckerman, New York, with Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn. The petition charges that scores of names on Prof. Carroll's petition were forged.

Pittsburghers Sail Aboard Berengaria

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sterrer, of Pittsburgh, left for Europe on the Berengaria. They said before embarking they intended to spend the month of November on the continent.

Other Pittsburghers on the same ship were Mrs. H. H. Browne and son, Christopher Browne.

'BRIDE' SLAYER HUNT SPURRED

EAGLE RIVER, Wis., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Perhaps the federal government, which punishes for murder by death, will take to the trail of George W. E. Perry, hunted for the honeymoon murder of his "wanted bride."

The county coroner, P. J. Gaffney, possesses evidence which he said today indicated that the woman, Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett, of Chicago, was slain on the Lac du Flambeau Indian Reservation, near which her body was found a week ago. If that is found to have been the case, federal prosecution will take precedence over that of Vilas County.

As authorities reconstructed the case, Perry met Mrs. Hackett through a want ad asking for a "woman companion to travel to California." A courtship followed and they were married in Chicago. They came to Wisconsin on a honeymoon financed partly by money Mrs. Hackett borrowed.

Window Cleaner Badly Hurt in Fall

Suffering a probable fracture of the skull when she fell yesterday from the second-floor window of a McClure avenue residence where she is employed as a domestic, Mrs. Margaret Reardon, of 5 Davis row, North Side, was in St. John's Hospital today. Mrs. Reardon was said to have been cleaning the window.

Morrow, Improved, Ready for Campaign

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Dwight W. Morrow was improved today. He will be able to open his campaign for United States Senator in a speech at Newark Monday evening.

BRIDAL PLANE FAILS FIELD

KHARTUM, Sudan, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—An airplane in which Marshall Field III and his bride were making a honeymoon tour broke down at Nimulo on the Uganda frontier yesterday. All occupants of the plane are safe. They returned to Juba by road.

Marshall Field III, grandson of the Chicago merchant, was married on August 19 in London to Mrs. Dudley Coats, regarded as one of the most beautiful women in British society circles, and widow of one of the thread mill operators.

They have projected a honeymoon in Africa to include desert and jungle trips.

Their wedding tour thus far has been replete with violent incidents.

On September 1 Field was knocked down, but escaped injury, in a train wreck, and 20 days later his plane was forced down on a North African desert.

His arrival at Cairo, hopping off place for the tour, was delayed, but a start was made October 2.

CAPONE CHIEF FLEES U. S.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Frank Nitti, "enforcer" for Al Capone, using a false passport, has sought sanctuary in Europe, government agents said today.

The paymaster and cousin to Capone was permitted to flee only because of his close relationship, according to the federal men. Other mob members who have sought new locales have had to run the gauntlet of gangland's guns.

Capone was reported incensed at Nitti, because he would not give himself up when sought for evasions of the income tax laws. Nitti was accused of "putting the heat on the whole mob" by declining to surrender.

Meanwhile a "baby-faced" man—Samuel Battaglia, 25—was held today as a suspect in the $16,000 jewel robbery of Mrs. William Hale Thompson, wife of the Mayor, but there was considerable doubt about his being the robber.

Ex-Senator's Wife, Pennsylvanian, Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Mrs. Laura Harreld, wife of former U. S. Senator John W. Harreld, of Oklahoma, died at her home here today. She had been ill six months.

A native of Morgantown, Pa., Mrs. Harreld was an active hostess to official Washington between 1921 and 1927, while her husband was serving terms in both Senate and House.

SEA FLIER HOPS FOR AUSTRALIA

HESTON, Eng., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian airman, who has flown both Pacific and Atlantic oceans, left the airdrome here today in a light plane on a lone trip to Australia.

The Australian's machine had been loaded with so much fuel it was estimated she will be able to fly 2,000 miles without making a stop.

With long hops the airman had confidence he would be able to better the present England-to-Australia record made by Bert Hinkler in approximately 15 days.

Kingsford-Smith named his machine the Southern Cross, Jr.

Kingsford-Smith was promoted wing commander for his flight this summer to America from Ireland. Upon arrival here he was reported to be about to give up flying because of his impending marriage to an Australian girl.

In August he underwent two operations in Holland.

A. F. OF L. AIRS JOB PROBLEM

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The problem of unemployment was before the resolutions committee of the American Federation of Labor annual convention here today.

The report of the executive council of the Federation of Unemployment, which had been referred to the committee, declared unemployment was the "outstanding economic fact of the past year."

The report also said that "while production undertakings were generally in a sound condition, failure to make the proper adjustment of credit forces and to provide wage-earner and small salary incomes adequate to buy the products of industries, contributed to end what had been a long period of economic prosperity."

2 Wilkinsburg Men Given Commissions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Two Western Pennsylvanians were commissioned today in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the Army.

They are Charles W. Cramer, of 725 Midland street, Wilkinsburg, captain, Field Artillery, and John F. Hanlon, of 811 Center street, Wilkinsburg, second lieutenant, Engineers.

Vitamin G Found In Liver and Kidney

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—A series of tests made by Department of Agriculture specialists revealed that vitamin G, growth-promoting factor for animals and man, was found to be from five to eight times more abundant in beef liver, pork liver and beef kidney than in lean beef, pork and lamb, it is announced.

MAGISTRATE SAYS HE'S 'AMAZED'

Three Arrested in Raid Also Absent When Case Comes Up After Delay

BULLETIN.

Inspector Albert Beebe today said he would order the three men arrested in the twice-raided and police-guarded distillery in Vickroy street last Saturday night, and the officers who arrested them, to appear for a hearing before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court tomorrow morning. Today a haring was set, but neither defendants or officers appeared.

The labyrinth of strange circumstances concerning the twice-raided, police-guarded Vickroy street alcohol distillery became more tangled today when three men, arrested by police at the plant, failed to appear at the hearing in Center Avenue Station.

The hearing was also marked by the absence of the officers credited with having conducted the raid, and Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, his patience exhausted, declared he was amazed at the attitude of the department.

HEARING DELAYED

The defendants—Carl Miller, of Fifth avenue; Joseph Miller, of Fairhaven road, and Nick Paret, of New York—were arrested Saturday night by Police Capt. John Schnorr, Lieut. Hoban and a squad of patrolmen. At a hearing Sunday morning an officer appeared in court and told the magistrate he was instructed to ask for a postponement of the case for five days.

NOBODY SHOWS

The five days lapsed, and the hearing was scheduled this morning. Following the crier's call none of the defendants appeared. Rothenberg asked Sergt. Clifford Blackburn:

"Where are these men?"

Blackburn—"Out on $1,000 bail."

Rothenberg—"Where are the officers in the case?"

Blackburn—"I don't know."

Rothenberg—"Where's Lieut. Hoban?"

Blackburn—"Out in the district."

Rothenberg — "Where's the captain?"

Blackburn — "He works at night."

Rothenberg—"Where's the inspector?"

Blackburn—"He hasn't come in yet."

SCORES POLICE

Rothenberg—"Well, you tell your superior officer I want to know why the police and the defendants were not at the hearing today."

Thus the "hearing" ended.

Inference that the distillery was permitted to run after the police raid was drawn from the fact that 48 hours later when prohibition agents visited the plant they said they encountered six men attending the stills, which were capable of producing 2,000 gallons of alcohol daily.

SIX HELD FOR COURT

Six other men, arrested at the plant when prohibition agents raided it last Monday, were held for court today at a hearing before the United States commissioner. They are Thomas Procter, Louis Johanson, Charles Schmid, Joseph Weber, George Dill and Charles Peters.

Attorney Morris D. Canter, counsel for the defendants, attacked the legality of raid since it was admittedly conducted without a search warrant. Agents testified they found the men attending the stills.

Attorney A. T. Leith, of the prohibition department, held that the raid was legal since the agents defined the plant as an open violation.

No mention of the raid police said they conducted Saturday night was made at the hearing.

Inference that the plant was operated following the police raid was drawn when agents reported the men arrested were attending the stills at the time of the raid.

Missing Girl Feared Kidnaped by Man

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Police were asked today to locate Katherine T. Deegan, 17, who failed to return home Tuesday when sent to buy a bottle of milk. Later her parents found a broken bottle of milk lying in an alley back of their home, and Charles C. Deegan, the father, remembered hearing an automobile skid to a stop in the alley and then speed off. He believes an admirer of his daughter kidnaped her.

British Set to War On Afridis Raiders

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—The London Star says the greatest Indian frontier war ever planned is about to commense on the northwestern border of India, where Great Britain has mustered a powerful army, composed of both British and native troops, under Gen. Sir Robert Cassels, who will direct an expedition to punish raiding Afridis tribes.

Coolidge Opposes Votes For Mere 'Good Fellows'

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 9.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

If self-government is to continue to be a success the voters must take their duties seriously. As the relations of the government in both our political and economic life become increasingly intricate, the necessary qualifications for discharging the functions of high office must be correspondingly raised. Administration and legislation are becoming more and more an exact science. It is no longer possible to expect the best results from men and women without previous training in public activities.

Calvin Coolidge

For important political service the three qualifications necessary are character, ability and experience. Some of our voters are not giving sufficient consideration to these requirements. They are often supporting candidates whose greatest appeal is that they are good fellows. An agreeable personality is a fine quality, but it is not enough to administer a great office. It is vain to support office seekers who smile, if it results in electing office holders who are not competent.

The government cannot be run successfully by substituting the power of entertainment for the power of accomplishment. The essential quality for the voters to require in their choice of candidates is capacity for public service.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Son to Pick Own Career, Lindbergh Declares

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—When Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., grows up he is going to have the whole wide world in which to find himself a career—without parental interference.

In an interview about the baby which appears in the forthcoming issue of the magazine "Pictorial Review," Col. Lindbergh is quoted as saying with a laugh that he has as yet given no serious thought to young Charles' career. He said:

"Our son has hardly reached the age to have his future determined for him, and in any case it is a question he can decide for himself when the time comes.

"Personally I don't want him to be anything or do anything that he himself has no taste or aptitude for. I believe that everybody should have complete freedom in the choice of a life's work."

The chief problem in connection with "our son" at present, the interview reveals, is not what he is going to be when he grows up, but how in the world his father and mother are ever going to thank all the thousands of admirers who showered him with presents when he was born.

Charles, Jr., it appears, would have to remain a baby for the next 10 years or so to wear out all the layettes that were sent him, and his parents received so many letters and telegrams it was a human impossibility to acknowledge them individually. Indirectly, through the interview, Col and Mrs. Lindbergh ask the senders to forgive them.

Marion Davies Home With New Plays and Clothes

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—(Universal.)—With a new stage play, a new motion picture story and new ideas for clothes, Marion Davies has returned home from a four months' trip to New York and Europe.

The play is "The Way to Treat a Woman," purchased by Miss Davies while on her vacation. The new story for her next motion picture for Cosmopolitan and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is "The Bachelor Father." And, the new idea for clothes—well, the dress she wore when she left the train at Pasadena is a sample.

It was a biege crepe, trimmed with sable at the collar and cuffs. There was a dark brown hat and shoes to match.

Constance Bennett and Kathryn Carver, who were among those who met Miss Davies at the train, agreed it was quite the smartest thing they had seen in many months.

Miss Davies was accompanied by her father, Judge Bernard Douras, who recently resigned from the New York bench. He plans to make his home with her in Southern California. Also with her on the trip across the continent were Mrs. Victor Watson, Miss Rose Davies and Harry Crocker.

COAL RATE PLEA HINGES ON RAIL STANDINGS

Traffic Bureau Sees Threat Against Northern Field Roads in C. & O. Claims

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The defense of the rail carriers before the Interstate Commerce Commission in the complaint of coal operators of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio that preference is given Kentucky and West Virginia operators on lake cargo coal, hinged on the independence of the railroads serving the two districts.

O. D. Brooks, vice president and general manager, and A. B. Gilbert, traffic manager, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, both testified their road is capable of carrying all the coal that originates in the Southern fields. Gilbert emphasized testimony to the effect that the Chesapeake and Ohio was not dependent upon those roads which have routes both to the Southern and Northern fields, such as the Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads, and declared that because of this the railroads could not be held in violation of Section 3 of the interstate commerce act, which forbids undue preference to any group of shippers.

SEE "THREAT"

The testimony that the C. & O. was in a position to handle all the Southern coal was interpreted by counsel for the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau to be a threat aimed at those railroads of the Northern fields which participate in the Southern hauling, and which, through defendents in the present case, might be inclined to favor the petitions of the Northern shippers.

CITES TONNAGE

Gilbert introduced exhibits to show that a preponderance of tonnage from the South enabled the roads to handle the Lake cargo coal more cheaply than from the North. In the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad he showed that in 1929 it handled 9,138,284 tons of Lake cargo coal originating in the alleged preferred districts, while the most it handled on any one of its northern routes was 479,325 tons.

Hungry Burglar Freed, Given Loot to Eat

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—John Gormon hoisted his gaunt form wearily and leaned across the prisoner's rail. He was haggard from days without food.

Burglars, and they had the evidence against him—a carton of potato chips, cans of soup, a bit of candy stolen from a wholesale house. He stood there awaiting sentence, indifferent. Jail and food was better than freedom and hunger.

The prosecutor stepped up to Judge Lyle and whispered. Perhaps he remembered "the quality of mercy——"

The court addressed Gormon.

"I am going to discharge you. And hadn't you better take the evidence along? It will help you along until you get a job."

U. S. Ambassador Begins Trip Home

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Irwin Boyle Laughlin, American ambassador to Spain, will leave here tonight by train for Paris and New York, beginning a two-months leave of absence.

OLDEST WOMAN PUBLISHER DIES

ROCKVILLE, Md., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Mrs. Rebecca Fields, 100-year-old publisher of the Montgomery County Sentinel, is dead at her home here.

She was believed to be the oldest woman publisher in the world. She took over management of the weekly at the death of her husband in 1871. Some years ago she relinquished active direction of the paper to relatives.

GIRL'S CHARGES SEND 2 TO JAIL

Charles J. Bauer, 27, known as "Sailor Jack," of Jacksonia street, was sentenced to serve from seven and one-half to 15 years in the penitentiary, and his brother, John Bauer, of Reddour street, from three to six years in the workhouse by Judge W. H. McNaugher in Criminal Court today.

The two had been convicted of attacking a 15-year-old girl.

Four years ago "Sailor Jack" served time for making improper photographs, the court was informed, and was on parole when arrested.

$50 Fine Follows Alleged Beer Sale

John Devilit, 45, of 801 Carson street, was fined $50, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, by Magistrate John J. Sweeney, in South Side Police Court today. Charles Dietmeier, of 367 Walter avenue, arrested as a witness, testified he had bought four bottles of beer at 10 cents each in Dwulit's place.

Ship 'Shorts' High Tension Wires, Pilot Saved

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Coy Tisdell, Edinburg, Tex., aviator, took off here, but his plane failed to gain expected altitude.

Six hundred yards along his course the ship zoomed into a series of high tension electric wires. Fortunately for Tisdell, the airplane caused a short-circuit in the wires.

Unable to reach the ground the pilot waited patiently in his seat for several hours until he and his plane were rescued by a crew of workmen.

HERRICK GUILTY ON RUM CHARGE

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Manuel Herrick, Congressman from Oklahoma in 1921, was in jail here today awaiting sentence on a charge of manufacture and possession of liquor.

He was convicted in Federal District Court yesterday, despite his insistance he had been attempting to procure evidence of dry law violation.

Herrick was arrested August 8 at a 500-gallon still in Southern Maryland. Agents making the raid said the former Congressman, dressed in blue overalls, was working as a $15-a-week handyman.

Bullets Miss Hawk, Kill Shooter's Wife

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Bullet wounds inflicted accidentally when her husband shot at a chicken-hawk, today caused the death of Mrs. Ella May Yoak, 25, of Clendennin.

PLANS FOR RED COUP CHARGED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Armed Communists, who have been supplied with at least 20,000 smuggled rifles, are ready to seize American government agencies in the name of the Soviet leaders, it was declared yesterday in testimony before the congressional committee investigating radical activities.

The coup, according to the witness, Lieut. Col. Roy F. Smith, was set for November 24. Smith is director of the speakers' bureau of the Better America Federation. He said:

"The general plan of the Communists, according to our information, is to seize all police departments, city halls, newspapers, telegraphs, railroads, army and navy arsenals and army and navy trucks. That plan is in keeping with the announcement made at the Moscow convention in 1924, when United States representatives were told, 'we have not become less active in your country—we have become more discreet and it will not be long before you can readily understand our power over there.'"

PIANO COST CUT IN NEW PLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Pianos manufactured on a mass production basis and selling for 25 per cent less will be put on the market next month by seven piano manufacturers. The competition of mounting radio sales has forced the industry to adopt "scientific production methods" and to abandon handicraft almost entirely, Berthold Neuer, vice president of William Knabe & Co., explained in revealing the plan to the Associated Press.

The new type of piano is the result of experiments conducted by Dr. C. N. Hickman, of the Bell Telephone Company, under the direction of George G. Foster, President of the American Piano Corporation.

Quakes in Italy, Fiji Isles Reported

CATANZARO, Italy, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Two earth shocks were felt in this district today. Damage was small, consisting principally of fallen chimneys.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The River View College seismograph today recorded severe earthquake shocks, estimated to be 1,900 miles northeast of Sydney in the neighborhood of the Fiji Islands.

Four Killed as Car Hits Indiana Truck

MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Four persons were killed and one injured in an automobile accident six miles west of here today. The dead: Kenneth E. Verhart, Gaylord Springer, Letha Cooper, all of Muncie, and Mrs. Howard Allen, Daleville, Ind. The four were in an automobile which crashed head-on with a truck, the driver of which was injured.

DIRIGIBLE GOOD 2 YEARS MORE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Two to four more years of life were forecast for the Los Angeles, the huge Navy dirigible, by the board of inspection and survey of the Navy Department after a study of the physical condition of the ship.

Christened the Los Angeles by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in 1924, the ship already has lived double the three-year period predicted by its makers, the German Zeppelin Company.

"The Los Angeles is now over six years old and has had over 2,500 hours under way, representing over 110,000 air miles, and in addition has operated about 1,700 hours at mooring masts," the report said. "This represents a longer useful life than that of any rigid airship known to date."

On the assumption that the Los Angeles would continue in life for several years, the board recommended it finally be destroyed "through tests designed to yield data on devices for mechanical handling, landing and mooring masts."

AUTOS KILL ONE, INJURE SIX

An unidentified man was dead and another in a serious condition today from automobile accidents last night.

Morgue attaches were endeavoring to establish the identity of a man, about 65, who was killed when, according to police, he walked into the path of a machine driven by George Entress, 46, of 2830 Bedford avenue, at Merchant street and Ridge avenue.

Charles Lynch, 27, of 1225 Buena Vista street, was in the Allegheny General Hospital today with injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile in Market street, near Diamond. The car, police said, was driven by Irwin Americus, 29, of 219 Roup street.

Two men and three girls were injured, the men seriously, when their automobile crashed into a pole at Irvine and Greenfield avenues shortly after midnight. They were John S. Kelly, 22, of 407 Fifty-second street, owner and driver of the car; Ferdinand McElroy, 20, of 5305 Dresden way; Katherine Farrell, 20, and her sister, Mary 18, of 4029 Haldane street, and Betty Cadwalder, 17, of 5710 Rural street.

I. C. C. Approves Sale Of Phone Co. to Bell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission decided that acquisition by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania of the McMurray Telephone Company was "of advantage" and "in the public interest." A certificate of acquisition was ordered.

The McMurray Telephone Company operates exchanges in Allegheny and Washington counties.

High-Pressure Debt Collectors on Job

WINDSOR, Ont. Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The city solicitor is looking up the law to see if something can be done about an obnoxious method of collecting bills. A yellow motor truck with a big sign, "Bad Debts," has been parking in front of various homes.

DARROW WINS YOUTH PAROLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Over the objections of complainant and prosecutor, Clarence Darrow obtained probation for a young bank teller embezzler, whose defense he undertook by request of Judge John H. Lyle last week.

The youth, Nicholas Pace, was charged with embezzlement of $1,024 from his former employers. Darrow asked the complaint be changed to petty larceny so that probation could be granted at once. Prosecutor Frank Mast refused to sign the new complaint, whereupon Judge Lyle ordered his bailiff to function in the prosecutor's place.

The youth was ordered to restore the money at $50 a month.

More Street Lights Urged to Aid Autos

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Increased street lighting to make automobile headlights superfluous was suggested by Preston S. Millar, president of the Electrical Testing Laboratories of New York, at the twenty-fourth convention of the Illuminating Engineering Society.

Street lighting in most cities has not kept pace with traffic requirements and consequently streets are less safe at night than they should be, Millar said.

CITY TAX BOOST FOR NEXT YEAR THREATENS

$27.39, and $14,705,346.58 in 1928. In the last three months of 1928 8.76 per cent of the total was received, while in the same period in 1929 the percentage was 8.62.

It was pointed out hat if the average collection for the last three months of 1929 and 1928 is maintained for the same period this year, there will be a deficit of almost a mill. If the average is maintained only $1,643,268 will be collected in the next three months, it was said.

Another addition, aside from the tax deficit, to be taken care of in the new budget, it was said, is an increase in the payroll, which totals $239,000. Salary increases were granted last year, but were only paid for 10 months, totaling $1,145,000. This year the increases will have to be provided for 12 months.

Members of the taxation committees of the Real Estate Board, the Building Owners' and Managers' Association and the Chamber of Commerce were reluctant to discuss the tax deficit until they hold a meeting. It is intimated that the three groups would assist Council in solving this year's budget, after study and means of cutting departmental expenses have been found.

shown that if increased valuations were resorted possible by the fact that the triennial assessment would mean very little to- making up the amount because on the present illage it requires a valua- f $6,000,000 to raise $100,000. 1930 land valuation is $576,- 780, and on buildings $587,- 400.

To meet last year's tax deficit of more than $1,000,000, and to provide funds for the police and fire referendum, the city tax millage was raised from 25 to 26 mills on land, and from 12.5 to 13 mills on buildings, over the protests of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association. In addition the water meter rates were also increased.

ENGLISH SEES NO RAISE

Councilman W. Y. English, chairman of the Council finance committee, said:

"I expect the tax rate for next year to be the same as for this year. I do not know of any deficit, nor do I anticipate any that would cause an increase.

"As far as the tax collections this year are concerned, my understanding is that they are holding up well. The only thing in sight that I can see that might cause us some difficulty is the fact that we will have to pay the increased pay to police and firemen, 12 months next year, instead of only 10 months, as was the case this year. This will be possibly a little more than $200,000.

"The normal increase in valuations will certainly take care of that amount."

enormous increase in products and lower cost of production?

Obviously some reasonable part of it should have gone to the management of industry, and the greater part of it should have gone to the working masses.

In other words, the increased profits should have been distributed largely in higher wages and shorter working hours.

If this had been done, the shorter working hours would obviously have prevented any lack of employment, because a greater number of men would have been employed to fill out the working week.

And if wages had increased in proportion to the productivity of modern machinery and the consequent increase in the profits of industry, the purchasing power of the public would have increased and the consumption of all kinds of goods and products would have been maintained at a high level, or raised to a still higher level.

But when profits in industry increased 6 per cent to 25 per cent, labor got but a small and greatly grudged proportion of that increase, with practically no reduction of working hours, and all of the rest of the increased profits were transformed into increased capitalization.

If a business which was making 6 per cent had come, through the use of modern machinery and modern methods, which decreased the price of production, to make 25 per cent, the main result of that increase of profits was a four-fold issue of stock, or as large an issue of stock as would still keep the business on a 6 per cent basis.

When the business, despite the increased profits, had thus been reduced to a 6 per cent basis, through a four-fold issue of stock on which the business now had to pay dividends, of course there was no money left to increase wages and shorten the hours of the employes.

In other words, there was no money left to build up the purchasing power of the masses, and MAINTAIN THE CONDITIONS WHICH MADE FOR PROSPERITY.

Excess capitalization took money away from the masses WHEN MONEY OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN GIVEN TO THEM IN THE WAY OF INCREASED WAGES AND SHORTER HOURS.

In fact, the supply of money in the hands of the public, which creates the purchasing power of the public, was sapped by added capitalization and over-capitalization instead of having that supply of the public's money increased by a more liberal distribution of profits in wages.

If profits had been distributed in wages, prosperity would have been maintained and increased.

We would have had for the masses of the public not only a full dinner pail, but a full pocketbook.

But when the money in the hands of the public was not increased by higher wages but diminished by the sale to the public of inflated securities, we created what we have now—an empty pocketbook and in many cases an empty dinner pail, and in some cases a bread-line.

The whole cause of the hard times is not merely over-speculation but over-capitalization, and the failure to take advantage of the opportunity provided by increased profits in industry to devote the major part of those profits to higher wages, which would maintain the purchasing power of the public, and to shorter hours, which would have given full employment as well as ease to the wage and salary earning public.

DIVORCED FILM PAIR TO REWED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Barbara Bedford, 27, former screen actress, and the man she divorced in 1928, Alan Roscoe, 43, film actor, are to remarry. Applying for a license, the couple said:

"It takes a divorce as well as a marriage to make a man and a woman acquainted with each other. We found there was no one else in the world for each of us."

They were first married in 1921. Miss Bedford testified at her divorce trial her husband said he was "not fit for the slavery of double harness." They have one child, Barbara, aged 6.

LAURA INGALLS SETS RECORD

LOS ANGELES, Oct 9.—(INS.)—The transcontinental flight of Miss Laura Ingalls, St. Louis aviatrix who flew here from New York in 30 hours and 27 minutes, was recognized today as the women's record for the trip.

After fighting head winds and fog during most of her flight yesterday from Albuquerque, N. M., Miss Ingalls landed her plane at Grand Central Air Terminal. Fog between Kingman, Ariz., and this point delayed her more than an hour, the aviatrix said.

Miss Ingalls took off from New York Sunday after announcing her intention of establishing a two-way coast-to-coast flight record for women.

Process on Iron Success, Aston to Carry On

Another long trail of research lies ahead of Dr. James Aston, metallurgist, who yesterday saw 15 years of research and experiment come to a successful end with the inauguration of the Aston process in the new A. M. Byers wrought iron plant in Economy.

Processing of wrought iron by machine, in place of former hand puddling, is the first radical change in the manufacture of wrought iron in more than 150 years, Aston predicted:

"Having achieved this change, we have not come to the end of the road. There is no telling where research will lead us. Special wrought iron, through entry into the realm of alloy material, is a probability today.

"The new process gives us an intimate control over metal and slag composition and over the vital reactions entering into the production of wrought iron, which will lead to more uniform quality and give us a chance to invent new alloys."

Romance lies behind the matter-of-fact front of this man whose name will go down into history with the great Bessemer, with Cort, inventor of the puddling process. Twenty years ago h crept into the lime-light as one of the nation's authorities on corrosion in metals. He became interested in wrought iron, as a metal peculiarly resistant to corrosion. But wrought iron was more expensive and more difficult make than other metals. It required hand-puddling.

For generations, scientists and engineers had sought a method of producing more uniform wrought iron in greater quantities. They tried to build machines to do the puddler's work. They failed. He has succeeded.

The new Economy plant is capable of producing 45,000 to 50,000 tons of wrought iron a month, with a labor force of about 700 men, in comparison with former hand-puddled output of about 5,000 tons a month with 1,000 men.

Rich, Famous Polo Star Found Shot

RUGBY, England, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Harry Rich, famed international polo player, was found shot to death and authorities said it apparently was a case of suicide. The sportsman's valet found the body and said that an hour before the tragedy Rich had appeared normal. The polo player was lying in his bedroom only partly dressed when found. A double barrel shotgun was nearby.

Irene Castle Builds New Haven for Dogs

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—A new haven for friendless dogs, a two-story building, with steam heat, a modern lighting system, hot and cold water and two attendants always on duty, has risen from the ashes of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin's "Orphans of the Storm" dog refuge, destroyed last winter by fire.

'Army' Drive Fails To Come Near Goal

With but three days of the annual home service fund appeal of the Salvation Army, workers report they are far short of the $112,000 they hope to raise for the maintenance of relief operations in the county during the next 12 months.

Lieut. Col. Charles B. Campbell, divisional commander, said the present campaign is the most important the army has made in Greater Pittsburgh and repeated previous statements that demands for relief have been the greatest in the army's local history.

Former Cafe Owner Kills Self in Park

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Fred Mann, former cafe owner and sports promoter, shot and killed himself today on a bench in Lincoln Park, according to police.

When Mann's body was found his right hand still clutched a revolver from which one shot had been fired. He left a penciled message giving directions for the disposal of the body and asking that friends be notified.

Dry Law and Greed Held Rackets' Cause

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Prohibition and merchants' greed, fostering racketeering, are responsible for crime in Chicago and elsewhere, is the opinion of Col. Robert I. Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, speaking here before the New York Board of Trade. Randolph said the willingness of many business men and institutions to pay for increased business through special privileges, has brought on unfair competition and racketeering.

Hunt Launched for 2 Snowbound Hunters

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Two hunters lost in the mountains and exposed to snow storms for several days were sought today by forest rangers. R. H. Robertson, of Boise, missing from a hunters' camp since Monday, was missing near Yellow Pine. An unidentified hunter was reported lost in the Bear Valley mountains. Judge and Mrs. Harry Lamson, of Fairfield were rescued from an isolated mountain cabin where they had lived on deer meat since being lost Monday.

Man Hit With Chair, Kin Gets 90 Days

Because, police say, George Eberhardt, 32, of 1526 Garfield avenue, crashed a chair over the head of his brother, Harry Eberhardt, 38, 904 Columbus avenue, Magistrate John J. Sweeney, in North Side Police Court, today sentenced George to 90 days in the workhouse.

Mrs. Eva Erhardt, wife of the injured man, testified that George came to their home last night for a visit, but got unruly. She was compelled to call police when the visiting brother used a chair on his host's head.

DOOMED MEN'S PLEAS HEARD

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania yesterday heard the appeal of Thomas F. Martin from sentence of death in Philadelphia for the murder of C. Cameron Cook, a bank messenger, during a holdup. The plea was based chiefly upon an alleged insinuation upon cross examination of Martin of intimacy between him and a daughter of a woman, his chief witness. The alibi of Martin was that he was at the house of the woman at the time of the murder.

The appeal of Wilfred Flood from sentence of death in Luzerne County for the murder of an attendant, Joseph Pollard, during a gasoline station robbery, was argued on the grounds that the lower court failed to grant a continuance of the trial because of remarks of the court, prejudicial conditions, necessity of obtaining witnesses and other reasons.

The right of a coal company to mine coal pillars supporting a water line was argued in the case of Valley Smokeless Coal Company against Manufacturers' Water Company, appellant, from Cambria County.

Other appeals argued were: Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in behalf of Ruth Matthews, appellant, against Sallie Lomas, Schuylkill County; Abraham Koppleman against Commercial Casualty Insurance Company, appellant, Erie County; Susannah Rankin and others against Sarah E. Rodgers, appellant, Washington County.

WRECK DELAYS RAIL TRAFFIC

Traffic on the Pitcairn line tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad was tied up several hours late yesterday when three cars of a west bound freight train left the tracks at Wilmerding and piled up at the side. No one was hurt, railroad officials reported.

Known as Train PT 21, the cars carried a cargo of freight and merchandise bound for the South Side terminal, it was said. Wrecking crews worked several hours repairing the tracks and righting the cars.

HOME FOR AGED SITE GAINED BY RE-ZONING

Browns Road Location Wins In Council Over Protest; Neighbors Assured Park

Council has cleared the way for the construction of a new home for the aged on a 17-acre site located on Browns road north of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Fifteenth Ward.

This was done by the passage, at a special meeting called for the purpose, of an ordinance changing the zoning of the site from B residence to A residence.

The meeting was held yesterday afternoon after a hearing at which J. M. Norris led a delegation opposed to the change. He declared that those protesting had purchased property with the understanding that the zoning regulations would not be changed. He added:

"If the zoning law can be changed at will to permit some one to sell property conveniently, it doesn't mean anything."

STILL TO BE PARK

Leo Lehman, Harry Neaman and I. A. Simon, directors of the home, appeared to urge the zoning change. Lehman said:

"We intend to maintain the integrity of the grounds. You will always be assured of facing a park. The topography will remain as it is at present. The building will be built about 1,000 feet away from your property."

His argument, reinforced by plans and air photographs, won Council over and the special meeting resulted. Some time ago a zoning change that would have permitted the erection of the home on Saline street was disapproved by Council.

LINKS WINS CHANGE

In spite of the protest of P. T. Trump, Council yesterday approved a change from A residence to commercial at Forward avenue near Maeburn road. Trump contended that he had gone to considerable expense erecting a golf course in an adjoining commercial district and that rivals had built one in the residence district they now sought to have changed. He contended that the rival course had operated illegally in spite of a promise to Director of Public Works James M. Clark to keep closed until the matter was settled.

Illegal operation of the course was denied by Clarence V. Watkins, owner of the property for which the zoning change was asked. He contended that it received a city license to open and closed when that move was asked by Director Clark. The change was voted unanimously.

Parade Ends Meet Of State Firemen

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Led by James Auman, of Gettysburg, newly elected president, the State Firemen's Association held its annual parade here today as the closing event of its fifty-first convention.

Ask Death Penalty In Matron's Slaying

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Death in the electric chair will be demanded as the penalty for Alexander McClay Williams, 18-year-old Negro inmate of the Glen Mills Reform School for Boys, who killed Mrs. Vida Robare to "get even" with her husband, Frederick, 36, for demerits given him at the institution.

Williams made a 15-page confession, telling in detail how he stabbed the comely school matron to death with an ice pick.

His wife, Rebecca, was named sole beneficiary in the will of Walter B. Eichleay, contractor, of 204 Lytton street, Schenley Farms, when the $156,000 estate was filed for probate today in the register of wills office.

A brother, John P. Eichleay, of 421 Bailey avenue, is named executor. The petition for probate points out that since the will was written in November, 1904, a daughter, Margaret D. Eichleay, has been born.

A $30,000 estate is disposed of in the will of Edward Hemple, of Pittsburgh, also filed for probate today. A trust fund, providing an income of $50 monthly, is bequeathed to Mrs. Helen C. Spering, of McClure street, Homestead. The balance of the estate is given to two sisters of the deceased.

Dodges Bench Quiz, Faces Impeachment

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Gov. Roosevelt today indicated a special session of the State Senate might be called to consider impeachment of General Sessions Court Judge Amadeo A. Bertini for refusing to waive immunity and testify before a special grand jury in the Ewald-Healy case.

Democratic leaders heralded Roosevelt's latest action in court scandals as his reply to Charles H. Tuttle, Republican nominee for governor, that Roosevelt had "surrendered his sword to Tammany."

CITES BUSINESS LOSSES BY FIRE

Donald J. Howard, secretary of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, addressed members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday. His talk was part of the Fire Prevention Week program the Chamber is conducting. He declared that of the $462,000,000 fire loss in America last year, business alone suffered at least $300,000,000.

Last night W. J. Gemeiner, Sidney Teller and Howard made radio addresses on fire prevention. During the day talks were given in several high schools. Today's program calls for talks at the Lions and Kiwanis Club meetings, addresses at Peabody and Latimer High Schools and inspection by firemen of business plants.

WIFE DIVORCES SCHOOL HEAD

Ralfe L. Sterner, 34, president and part-owner of the New York School of Music and Art, boasted of other women being in love with him, according to the testimony of his wife, Mrs. Vivian B. Sterner, 25, of Dunlap street, granted a divorce by Judge Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas Court.

She charged cruelty and indignities, testifying he slapped her a number of times and forced her to leave his home, 28 West Eighty-sixth street, New York, with their child in the middle of the night in December, 1926. They were married December 9, 1925, after a courtship when she was a student at the school and he was a vocal teacher.

MASTER MYSTERIES -:- By ARTHUR HOERL

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Robin Dale goes to California to report on the case of Elsie Donahue. On the night of her wedding Elsie disappears after entering the house she had built and furnished as a new home. He interviews Roy Carroll, the husband. Elsie was last seen by Fred Wagner, a former suitor. Wagner ran after her toward the beach which fronts the house. The other wedding guests followed. Both Elsie and Wagner disappeared. A launch was heard leaving the small dock. Carroll thought his wife was going to their yacht. The launch was returned in a mysterious manner. Elsie never went near the yacht. Carroll believed his wife had run off with Wagner. The morning following Dale's interview the body of Elsie is washed up on shore.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER IV.

Robin Dale arrived at Dead Man's Cove before the body had been removed. The medical examiner had already made his report to Prosecutor Sherid and Franks, who were, of course, present. The report was that the body had been immersed for probably 10 days (that took it back to the day of Elsie Donahue's disappearance), but that there was a question whether drowning had been the cause of death. An immediate autopsy was to be performed to ascertain the truth.

"I wonder would you ask the medical examiner," Dale said to Franks when he had heard the details of the original report, "to make a careful inspection of the body for marks of a rope to which a weight might have been attached. I think you'll find that's important."

Franks smiled skeptically.

"I don't see the importance of it, Dale, but I'll instruct Doc Alwyn."

"Carroll been here?" Dale asked.

"We had a tough time with him. Carried on frightfully—tried to get to the body, but, of course, the state it's in, that was impossible. We had to fight him off. Two of my men took him back to the house after he collapsed. It's a nasty business."

"There's a fiend loose, and you can only hope it doesn't go any further. Nothing tangible yet, I suppose?"

"No—can't seem to get a starting place on this case. The papers are riding us harder every day."

"What time do you expect the report on the autopsy?"

"Three o'clock."

At 3 o'clock Dale dropped in on Alonzo Franks. The report had not yet been received. There was some interesting news from the Donahues. Louise Donahue had broken down and was under the care of a physician. For a time, Franks' man reported, they had despaired of her recovery from the shock.

Mrs. Donahue had been kept in ignorance of the truth. It was felt that the added shock of the frightful news might prove fatal. Carroll had recovered somewhat from the frenzy into which he had wrought himself, and taken charge of the household.

Dr. Alwyn came in during the talk. Dale listened with keen interest to his report.

"Death was due to poisoning . . . found enough strychnine to kill ten people. Unquestionably been in the water nine or ten days."

"Any marks on the body, doctor?" Dale asked.

The doctor shook his head.

"No marks of any kind."

"If there had been a weight of some kind tied about her would it have left a mark?"

"Unquestionably. As the gases formed inside, the body lifted and would have strained against any cord or rope."

There was nothing more to be learned and Dale left shortly thereafter. He hired a launch and went out to the Sea Gull.

Capt. Myatt was not averse to telling what he knew. It proved to be very little. One thing which seemed of small importance at the time developed, however, to be of great significance.

"Capt. Myatt, is it possible for a launch to come alongside without attracting attention?"

"You're speakin' of the night Miss Elsie disappeared?" The captain shook his head. "'Twas impossible, young man, with the watch doin' an' on the lookout for the launch."

"When did you get Mrs. Carroll's orders?"

"A week before the wedding. We were to get under way the day after the celebration, headin' for Hawaii."

"She made no change—no last-minute change — in those orders?"

"Not a one—an' she was aboard the day before seeing to everything. No, I'm sure she was still expectin' to sail."

"May I have a look at the bridal suite, captain?"

Capt. Hyatt led the way to the cabin Elsie had selected for the honeymoon. It was slightly aft on the deck level. The cabin was quite sizeable considering the size of the yacht. The feminine touch was discernible in the appointments. There were twin beds, overlaid with pink silken spreads. Boldly embroidered on each was a seagull in flight.

The baggage still stood in the room as it had been deposited on the night of the tragedy. Three huge wardrobe trunks, bulging within them the trousseau of the bride of death. Quite a number of pieces of smaller luggage were strewn promiscuously about. Dale could not help feeling a twinge of compassion as he gazed upon these silent, deserted reminders of a tragically-ended happiness . . . tragedy, the octopus of sorrow, enfolding always so many hapless victims in its tentacles.

There was nothing to be found in the cabin. Elsie Donahue had apparently never entered it on the day in question.

They went out on the deck again. Just before Dale left the captain made a casual remark.

"Say, young man, it may or may not mean anything—probably is just an accident—but the anchor is missin' from the launch. I noticed it a day or so after that night, when I went ashore."

"Thanks, Capt. Myatt; at present that fact doesn't seem to couple with anything."

The next day, being the eleventh day after the tragedy, Robin Dale hired a car and drove to Van Nuys. He went directly to the ranch owned by Len Hildreth. He found Hildreth a talkative old fellow, very wrinkled and browned by the everlasting heat and sunshine.

"Fred was a dandy boy, worked hard an' never caused no trouble," Hildreth answered to Dale's initial inquiry. "Course, I knew Elsie, too. A smart young 'un an' pretty. Used to come a Sundays with Fred. I was sorry to have him leaving me."

"You mean, he was going to leave the ranch?"

"That was it. Only I can't understand why he ain't never come back after his clothes. There they are, upstairs, all packed an' standin'. Was goin' to Elsie's weddin' an' then leavin'. Mighty sorry I was she didn't team up with Fred."

"Did he tell you where he was going?"

"He did. St. Louis, where his folks are. Writ his mother a letter a week 'fore the weddin'."

When Dale returned to Laguna he made inquiries of Alonso Franks regarding Fred Wagner's family.

"We checked up in St. Louis. Widowed mother lives there. Got a letter a couple of weeks ago sayin' he was coming home. Wagner hasn't been home for three years. Been watchin' the place, o' course, but he's never showed up. Mother's pretty well prostrated over the affair, but she ain't heard a word since that letter."

"But, have you heard the latest?" Franks went on after a bit. "It's about the dead girl's estate, an' a pretty big estate it is."

FIFTH, GRANT, OLIVER AND WILLIAM PENN PLACE

SPEED NATION'S WORK PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Every effort is being put forth by the government to expedite what was termed the greatest building program in history, Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, said today.

During 1930 building contracts calling for expenditures of more than $100,000,000 will be let. So far contracts have been awarded for 66 structures representing a cost of $43,000,000. Forty-nine additional contracts with expenditures of $30,000,000 will be awarded before the end of the year.

Cost of land will increase the total to $160,000,000, according to Heath. About $40,000,000 of the total will be paid to labor.

Ford Lunches With Maker Of Austin

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Henry Ford had lunch yesterday with his largest British competitor, Sir Herbert Austin. It was a private affair and had not been anticipated even by the highest officials of their firms. The object of their meeting and discussions was not made known.

LABOR BALLOTS OUST THOMAS

LLANDUDNO, Wales, Oct. 9.—The National Labor party conference in session here defeated J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for the dominions, in elections for a new national executive for the Labor party. Sir Oswald Mosley, who was defeated last year, today was allotted a seat on the executive.

Another government member, Morgan Jones, parliamentary secretary to the board of education, was defeated also.

J. R. Clynes, home secretary, headed the list of the Trades Union section candidates, with 2,042,000 proxy votes, while J. H. Thomas was at the bottom with only 836,000.

Cheers, mingled with laughter, greeted the announcement of Thomas' figures. Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister, was elected treasurer of the executive without contest, the Premier having resigned that position.

Rhode Island G. O. P. For Dry Referendum

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Adopting a plank pledging itself to abide by the decision of the people as to whether the party shall work for repeal or strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, the Republican state convention opened here today.

United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf and Gov. Norman S. Case were renominated.

South Bend Bank Closed by State

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—The Peoples State Bank, a $1,240,000 institution, has been ordered closed by Thomas Barr, chief examiner of the State Banking Department.

A depleted cash reserve was given as the cause for the bank's closing by State Bank Commissioner Luther Symmons in Indianapolis. Symmons said that no irregularities were known at present.

Scientist Burns To Death in Plane

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Dr. George Steiner, 35, Houston geologist and geophysicist, was burned to death in the crash of his cabin monoplane 30 miles from Kountze, Tex.

The ship, taking off in a wooded section, was dashed to earth as its wing tip hit a pine tree. It caught fire within sight of Earl Callahan, one of Dr. Steiner's assistants.

Cuticura Healed Rash of Pimples on Lower Part of Face.

"I noticed a few pimples breaking out on my face. I scratched them and in a short time the lower part of my face was covered with a rash of small pimples. Water came from them and they scaled over. The pimples itched and at night I scratched causing the trouble to spread.

"I tried several remedies but they were a failure. I remembered a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I had in the house so tried it. I was amazed at the results so purchased more and in two weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Domenick Potori, 2325 So. 10th St., Phila., Pa., March 3, 1930.

Sold throughout the world. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

DOCTORS FIGHT LIQUOR LIMIT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Dr. William G. Morgan, president of the American Medical Association, today said many prominent physicians in his organization were co-operating to build up sentiment favoring the removal by Congress of all restrictions on the use of whisky in medical practice.

He said the campaign had his support as well as that of the majority of the association members.

The association probably will organize state committees in June at its conference in Philadelphia to advocate removal of the restriction.

Chinese Mutineers Flocking to Reds

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Thousands of rebellious soldiers throughout Southern China today were reported flocking to the Red banners, swelling the ranks of Communists to formidable proportions.

Changsha advices said the Reds in Hunan Province had perfected an organization to a high degree and were virtually in control of the entire province.

MOTOR FREIGHT HIT BY RAILS

ATLANTA, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Problems created by the current trend toward motorized transportation for "short haul" occupied most of the attention of delegates to the annual convention of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America here.

Charles Barham, of Nashville, Tenn., vice president and traffic manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, told the association the decision whether "advantageous disposition" shall be made of the steam carriers lies with traffic study clubs.

H. A. Palmer, of Chicago, editor of the "Traffic World," official organ of the association, said the need for co-operation between industrial and rail traffic experts never has been greater than today.

'BRIDAL PARTY' CASE UP AGAIN

Another chapter in the story of the interrupted "bridal party," consisting of four young men and the prospective bride, Miss Patricia Lusk, 20, which fell into the hands of federal officers last February, while the party was en route in a stolen automobile from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh for the wedding ceremony, is about to be written into the Federal Court records of the case.

Miss Lusk and her four companions pleaded guilty in Federal Court on March 19 to transporting a stolen automobile in interstate commerce and, all, with the exception of Russell Meyers, 19, were placed on probation for two years.

Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien today was advised by the district attorney of Hamilton County, O., that Benjamin Lewis, 19, one of the paroled men, is under indictment there on a robbery charge. O'Brien said he will ask the court for a bench warrant to have Lewis brought here for violating his parole, and in the meantime have a detainer lodged against him.

Each of the other two men have run afoul of the law since their probations.

Of the party of five Miss Lusk is the only one whose behavior since being placed on probation has not been questioned by the court.

SHOTS HALT 2; ONE ESCAPES

Patrolman John Zoric opened fire early today when three Negroes he detected leaving the Grossman shoe store, 317 Station street, Wilmerding, refused to heed his comand to halt.

One of the three, Charles Wedon, 29, of Brentwood, Md., fell with a bullet in his shoulder. A second, Sam Robinson, of Charleston, S. C., gave himself up, while the third escaped. The wounded man was taken to the McKeesport Hospital, where he was reported dying, the bullet having penetrated his chest.

Wilmerding police recovered a dozen pairs of shoes alleged to have been taken from the store, county detectives reported.

The detectives began checking to determine if the Negroes were the same ones who shot and killed August Braum, butcher, of West Elizabeth, Saturday night in a holdup of his store. He was slain when he threw butcher knives at three Negroes who staged the robbery.

Pittman Urges Loan Of Silver to China

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—A loan of several hundred million ounces of silver to China is today the foremost plan under consideration by the United States Senate for rehabilitating the foreign commerce of that nation, Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, told members of the International Silver Commission and the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce.

Priest Averts Panic In Burning Church

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Fire broke out last night in St. Isadore's Polish Catholic Church while 200 worshipers were attending services there. A rush for the exits that threatened to become a panic was halted when the Rev. Thaddeus Nowak, with his back to the flames, besought the members of the congregation to move slowly.

Sitting Up With Sick Dog Alibi Fails; $5 Fine

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The one about sitting up with a sick friend is well known, but Dr. Georgia Stephens' story to Justice of the Peace Porter was that she was sitting up with a sick dog.

Dr. Stephens was before the court for parking overtime. She explained:

"Of course, I am not a veterinary, but nevertheless I was sitting up with a friend's sick dog. The dog's condition was critical, and I was trying to do something to save it."

"You have given me half a dozen such excuses before," said the magistrate. "I am going to fine you $5. I will remit it, provided you produce the sick dog in court."

Dr. Stephens paid the fine.

VOLPE EXPLAINS IN DEATH QUIZ

Checks totaling nearly $1,500 given him by Joseph Lobianco, murder victim, were in payment of loans made to the slain man, James Volpe, Wilmerding political leader, explained when questioned by Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren.

Volpe explained that Lobianco often borrowed money, but always was prompt in his payments. He paid with checks made out to "Cash." These ranged in amounts from $25 to $350 and were indorsed by Volpe, according to detectives.

Volpe, a wholesale grocer, said he had no business dealings with the victim.

A half-dozen detectives who have been conducting a search for the two gunmen who escaped in an autmobile after shooting Lobianco, his wife, Mary; his brother, Carmen Lobianco, and Louis Tomano, a customer, in a store at 419 Sixth street, Braddock, Saturday, were without a clue to their identity today. They were unable to find the owner of a set of license plates believed on the automobile abandoned by the killers.

THIEVES, POLICE SHOOT IN FIGHT

Three Negroes, detected while attempting to force a rear door of the N. Rice Wholesale Cigar Company, 1635 Fifth avenue, early today, escaped from Patrolman Benjamin Keil after a running pistol battle in which the policeman fired three shots and the robbers fired one.

Keil, making his rounds shortly after midnight, discovered the men at the door and commanded them to halt. They ran to an automobile and started down a side street, the policeman in pursuit. After exchanging shots with the policeman they escaped.

The Rice store was the scene of a robbery in August when thieves entered the apartment above the store, cut a hole in the floor and lowered themselves to the storeroom. They escaped with cigars and cigarets valued at $14,000.

Bandits Kill Man Get $15 in Holdup

DETROIT, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Two armed men shot and killed a pharmacist here during a holdup which netted them only $15. Their victim was Oscar E. Ouellette, 48, proprietor of a drug store.

A 13-year-old boy employed in the store said the two robbers entered and ordered Ouellette to hold up his hands. He complied, but one of the men suddenly opened fire, and Ouellette fell, dying instantly.

GIRL, 19, ADMITS KILLING MAN

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—A 19-year-old Camden girl, formerly a resident of Philadelphia, confessed, police said, she had shot and killed a man in Blackwood, N. J., as a climax to a party. The girl, Mary McClyment, was held without bail on a charge of murder.

The victim was Edward Nicholson, Jr., of Camden.

Two of Miss McClyment's young woman companions and two men are held without bail as material witnesses.

"I didn't mean to shoot him," Miss McClyment told detectives.

She said Nicholson and one of the other men in the party were fighting. The girl ordered Nicholson to desist, and when he paid no attention she fired three shots. The bullets all struck Nicholson in the chest.

The Hoover uses least Human Energy

There is an exact scientific test which shows the amount of energy consumed in doing any piece of work.

Such a test was made of a woman operating a Hoover. It required the least effort on her part.

One reason for this is the fact that The Hoover cleans best when run slowly—contrary to most electric cleaners. The other is that The Hoover removes more dirt per minute, thus shortening cleaning time and lessening effort.

We want you to see for yourself how easy The Hoover is to use. Telephone now for a demonstration or home trial. The New Popular-Priced Hoover costs no more. Only a modest amount down; balance monthly. Liberal allowance for old cleaners.

TELLEZ TO TALK FOUNDER'S DAY

Manuel C. Tellez, Mexican ambassador to the United States and dean of the diplomatic corps at Washington, will deliver the principal address at the thirty-fourth annual celebration of Founder's Day at Carnegie Institute, next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Carnegie Music Hall.

Senor Tellez

Dwight W. Morrow, former ambassador to Mexico, and Mrs. Morrow, are also expected to be in attendance.

In addition to the Mexican ambassador's address, a program of music, comprising organ selections by Dr. Charles Heinroth, and choral selections, has been arranged.

At the conclusion of the Founder's Day exercises, announcement will be made of the winning awards in the Twenty-ninth International Exhibition of Paintings. Following the announcement, the Fine Arts galleries will be thrown open to the public.

Address by Babson Official Scheduled

Ralph B. Wilson, vice president of the Roger Babson Statistical organization, was to speak at a business conference this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce, arranged by the chamber's entertainment committee and free to the public.

Other speakers will be Louis Cates, also of the Babson organization, and H. C. Baldwin, economic engineer. An open forum will follow, for discussion of phases of industry and commerce.

SOME WOMEN ALWAYS ATTRACT

You want to be beautiful. You want the tireless energy, fresh complexion and pep of youth. Then let Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help free your system of the poisons caused by clogged bowels and torpid liver.

For 20 years, men and women suffering from stomach troubles, pimples, listlessness and headaches have taken Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a successful substitute for calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients, known by their olive color. They act easily upon the bowels without griping. They help cleanse the system and tone up the liver.

If you value youth and its many gifts, take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly. How much better you will feel—and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

For all SILKS use the new

CARBONA Grease Absorbent POWDER

REMOVES GREASE SPOTS WITHOUT LEAVING A "RING"

Most silks are now "weighted" or "loaded" with foreign substances to make them appear of better quality. Liquid cleaners dissolve this "weighting" or "loading," and this causes "rings" on Silks. We have therefore created Carbona Grease Absorbent Powder for use on Silks only. This Powder will not affect "weighting" or "loading" in any way—it absorbs Grease Spots instead of dissolving them, and no "rings" can result from its use on Silks.

For all other Fabrics use Carbona Cleaning Fluid

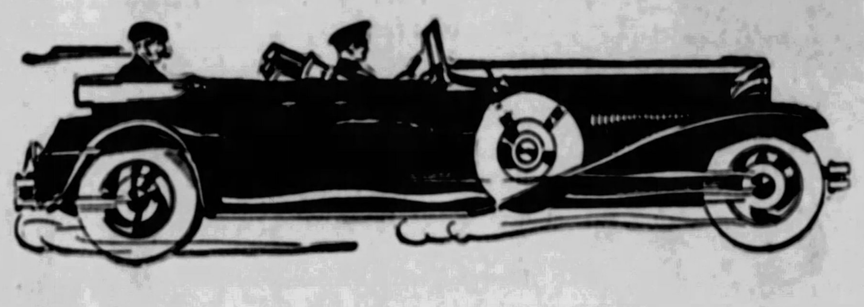
WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

FREE AUTO PARKING

"To the Club—James"



See the down-hearted business man

He has lost all his money

He is forlorn. He doesn't care what happens

He is going to slump into "the finest automobile on earth," kiss the cold world good-bye, and go away out in the country and shoot himself . . . A GAME OF GOLF!

NO, the average man in this country doesn't curl up very easily. He never did. He never will. We thrive on things that can't be done.

If we need to get our ships from the Atlantic to the Pacific in less time, we scrape together a few billion dollars and dig a ditch through Panama.

If a mountain gets in our way, we punch a hole through it—all in a day's work.

Granted, a problem comes along now and then that puts us against the ropes, but when the bell rings for the next round we're up and at 'em again, full of the old American Come-Back.

For example, remember what happened in Wall Street last October? There was a wallop on the chin that no one else in the world could have stood up under.

Afterward, of course—medicated gauze, adhesive tape and iodoform. But that's all ended now. The nurse has been dismissed—the doctor paid.

Fundamentally, we're far better off than ever before. We now know the fallacy of easy money. Sweat and determined effort have been re-glorified. There is a new spirit of business relationship. The banks are being good to the manufacturer. The manufacturer is being good to the stores, and the stores are being good to the consumer.

Quick always to take advantage of the breaks, the American People realize that NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY. Hoarded dollars are fast being turned into clothing, into home furnishings, into food for the ice box, shoes for the children . . . automobiles, radio, jewelry . . . whatever the home needs and the heart desires. For the American people CAN buy and they ARE buying, and when this army of hard-headed buyers swings into action—good-bye hard times!

Such prices as you can get now! It's certainly Shopper's HOLIDAY. A little money never went so far. Don't take our word for it—go down to any of the stores and check up for yourself. The counters are groaning with bargains. Grab while the grabbing's good—for these low prices can't last.

TWO UNDER BAIL FOR CHECKUP

Peter Stilo, 34, a barber, of 1202 North avenue, and Phil Clemens, 40, a tailor, of 1010 Bluff street, were released on bail of $1,000 each by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today while police check up on activities of the pair.

They were arrested last night by Frank Ferris, of the homicide squad, who took them to the station on suspicious person charges.

When arraigned today, Rothenberg said to one of the men:

"Oh, so you're in again?"

The prisoner denied ever having seen the magistrate, but Rothenberg told him he had been up for picking pockets five years ago. Ferris asked that the suspects be held for five days. Bail was provided and they were released.

NAVY ADOPTS PRATT PLAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Greeted as a gesture of confidence in an international desire for peace, the reorganization plan of the Navy's new chief of operations, Admiral William V. Pratt, went into effect today.

Embracing sweeping changes and a slash in destroyer and submarine tonnage, the plan was outlined by Pratt as designed primarily to provide the United States with an efficient naval nucleus and effect financial savings.

Officials here pointed out, however, the plan virtually trimmed the Navy to London treaty pattern. It will cut the Navy approximately 120,000 tons, officials announced, and effect a reduction of 4,800 enlisted men.

Ohio Farm Boy Held After Fatal Holdup

DENVER, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Carl Thomas, 16, Middletown (O.) farm boy, is in Denver jail today, and J. G. Armstrong, 55, Denver grocer, is dead as the result of a daylight robbery and shooting on one of Denver's principal business streets Wednesday. Thomas is said to have attempted to hold up Armstrong in the latter's place of business, but became nervous when Armstrong moved toward a door, and shot.

Canadian Village Swept by Flames

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 9.—(INS.)—The village of Plantagenet, 40 miles east of Ottawa, was almost destroyed by fire. The blaze wiped out Lalonde's Hotel, badly damaged the Gautheirs Hotel, and reached many other buildings.

KDKA—Victor Herbert Opera.
"Rose of Algeria."
"The Rose of Algeria," a comic opera in two acts, will be presented next in the Victor Herbert Opera series.
In the first act, in the walled oasis of Sidi Ahmoud in the Sahara, a honeymoon couple, Mr. and Mrs. Billings F. Cooing, are found. They are bound for nowhere in particular, and are oblivious of time and place. A story teller enters, followed by Bayadere dancing girls, rug merchants and jewel venders. Zoradie, the Sultana of the Barakeesh tribe of Arabs, is disguised as a fortune teller. Zoradie wishes to be loved as Mrs. Cooing is loved. Capt. de Lome, a Frenchman, offers his services. To the young officer the fortune teller is already queen. A love scene between Capt. de Lome and Zoradie leads to the finale of the first act.
In the second act two deserters ar-

A. S. Beck Brevities featuring Ginger Rogers and Willie Howard is a new Columbia network offering tonight at 7 o'clock. World Series stars are to talk on the RCA Hour, WCAE at 10 o'clock . . . "Song of My Heart" and "Oh, Promise Me" are Oliver Smith's contributions to Melody Moments on WCAE at 9:30 . . . Lutheran League program on WJAS at 10 offers Helen Oelheim, contralto . . . this is the first time a Protestant denomination has taken to radio on a large scale . . . If you like Herbert operettas turn to KDKA at 10:15 for the "Rose of Algeria" . . . Saint Saens' graceful composition, "The Swan" is a 'cello solo on Arco Party, WCAE at 9.

Ginger Rogers

How many remember "24 votes for Underwood"—those hectic days when the Democrats searched about for a Moses to lead them out of the underbrush? The man they finally selected—John W. Davis—speaks on WJAS at 10:30.

Milton Tully breezed into the city yesterday just to see if everything's going all right.

HOW THE WIND BLOWS

Ask the boys at WCAE how the wind blows and they will tell you it comes out of the West, and here's why: On August 15, the date of Gimbels Roof Party for employes, Art Brown and Frank Mulloy tied a message to a balloon and sent it "on the air." Mrs. Amy Hood, who lives two miles east of Stahlstown, Westmoreland County, found the balloon in a tree recently and mailed it to WCAE.

QUESTION A DAY:

What is Louis L. Kaufman's middle name?—E. C. Knieling.

Answer—Lou has no middle name. The initial "L" was put in there about two years ago for euphony's sake.

Walter Damrosch's Music Appreciation Hour starts tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock over KDKA and WCAE. Selections include "Scherzo from Symphony No. 5," "Anitra's Dance," "March from 'Lenore'," "Sounds of the Forest" from "Siegfried," Schumann's "Evening Song" and the Overture to "Fingal's Cave."

RECORD?

Godfrey Ludlow played 676 notes in 50 seconds recently. The selection was "Will o' the Wisp," by Reeve.

* * *

Johnstown—Mary Louise Pugh, contralto, Somerset, and David Thomas Evans, baritone, Johnstown.

Indiana—Mabel Florus, Indiana, and Donald Edgar Longwill, Indiana.

Warren—Charlotte Weller, contralto, Warren, and Robert E. Kinander, baritone, Warren.

Petrolia—Sara Elizabeth Gumpper, Butler, and John Ray Loudon, Mars.

Greenville—Glenn S. Renner, baritone, Greenville.

Washington—Anne Marie Coville, lyric soprano, Washington, and Jack P. Hoyes, baritone, Belle Vernon.

Pittsburgh—Charlotte Shallenberger, Springdale, and James C. Achtzehn, Clairton.

Reversing the usual procedure, a girls' committee came to the KQV studios in an automobile recently to pick up the Blues Chasers—Jack Banky and Tony Lombardo. Oh, for the life of a radio star!

The party was in Homewood. Two hundred girls were present. Whoopee!

Richard Bird, who played the part of Capt. Stanhope in "Journey's End" when it was at the Pitt, is the featured performer in the WJAS sketch at 8:45 tonight from Columbia.

Cute girls—Alberta Etzel and Charity Lanning, pretty teachers at Shady Side Academy—who presented themselves at our desk yesterday with a verbal "Question a Day." Their question was, "Will you show us how the Sun-Telegraph is printed?" We did . . . with pleasure!

If you can spare our vanity, the girls said we looked just like the picture in the paper. This is quite a different opinion from that of the downtown restaurant cashier who said we looked just like the fellow in the paper, only he had more hair.

Vanity, vanity . . all is vanity.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

We can't swear to this but it sounds logical. A fan in Erie is said to have bought two radios so he could hear Floyd Gibbons and the Atwater Kent Hour at the same time on different stations Sunday night. Both are turned on at once and the listener takes a position half way between them. He declares the effect of Gibbons talking against a background of music is excellent.

STOKOWSKI
in Radio's Great Broadcasting Event
courtesy of your PHILCO DEALER

LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI, giant of the conductors, raises his baton next Sunday. At his command, and fired by his amazing musical genius, the great Philadelphia Orchestra will bring you music in its most gorgeous form. And this concert also brings you for the first time created by Stokowski himself. Let him explain it in his own words:—

a new broadcasting method

"I am aiming at three results: First—to improve the balance of tone between the individual instruments, and also the choirs of instruments. Second—to detach from each other, and keep pure in tone-color, the solo instruments of the orchestra. Third—to be able to conduct the Orchestra, and yet at the same time hear the Orchestra not as it sounds in the studio, but as it sounds on the air as listened to on the receiving set in the home."

Leopold Stokowski

Tune in 5 to 6 P. M., Station WCAE

Price, less tubes . . $355

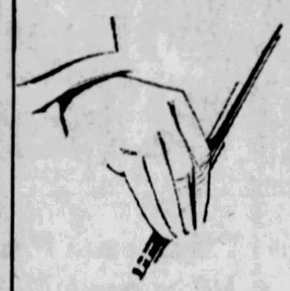
As with a STRADIVARIUS
so with a STROMBERG-CARLSON



THE owner of a Stradivarius if asked whether he owns a violin will say with pride, "I own a Stradivarius." And—a Stromberg-Carlson owner, if asked whether he owns a radio will say, with equal pride, "I own a Stromberg-Carlson."

The reason for this pride is, that each instrument embodies those qualities, which from time immemorial, mankind, the music loving, has treasured most. Richly resonant tone . . . . exquisite outward form . . . . evident love of craftmanship . . . . time defying staunchness . . . . due to seeking out only those materials fine enough on which to lavish care.

In violins, there has never been anything finer than a Stradivarius. In radio—"There Is Nothing Finer Than a Stromberg-Carlson."

Listen to the Stromberg-Carlson Hour Monday Evenings in a Coast-to-Coast Broadcast over the N.B.C. Blue Network and Associated Stations.

Stromberg-Carlson unsurpassed quality Receivers range in price from $155 to $369. The Multi-Record Radio, $645. (Prices, less tubes). They may be purchased with moderate down payment out of income at only a nominal finance cost.

WHAT PITTSBURGH RADIO STATIONS OFFER THIS EVENING

The LOUDSPEAKER

Reaching Mars. Some Wild Ideas. | Radio Got Littau. Shakespeare-Shy.

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—O. H. Caldwell, formerly a high priest of the Federal Radio Commissions, told a group of amateur astronomers the other night that every radio program sent over the air is racing toward distant stellar bodies. Judging from the speed and frequency with which it is heard, the voice of Floyd Gibbons, we'll wager our ear trumpet, will be first to reach the other planets. The jazz maestros will press him closely and not far behind them will be heard the excited accents of those lords of the adjective, McNamee and Husing.

Louis Reid

It should be a close race to, say, Neptune between those ballards of the moment, "I'm Dancing With Tears in My Eyes," "Singin' in the Rain," the Maine Stein Song and "Happy Days Are Here Again," but if Neptune has been listening carefully she is most familiar with the songs of Stephen Foster. Reliable "Swanee River". The most aired melody of the broadcasters.

Harding Returns Have Just Reached Sirius

Then M. Caldwell, letting his reckoning run riot, declared that if there happened to be a radio set somewhere in the new superuniverse in Virgo and placed at a spot cool and solid enough for a fan to sit on, that region of the skies would hear Amos 'n' Andy 17,000,000 years from now. Good Heavens! Further, a receiving set at the distance of Sirius would have received only last year the returns of the election of Warren Gamaliel Harding in 1920. Fancy that, district leaders!

Amos 'n' Andy begin their evening broadcast at 7 o'clock. But up on Mars, according to Caldwell, it is 7:04 before the lugubrious musical strains that introduce the bewildered oafs reach the ears of the Martians. And on Neptune it is 10 o'clock before her dwellers hear Amos' familiar "Ugh." The very thought of the illimitable sound and fury that nightly wings its way through the ether is enough to stagger the imagination. It is enough to overwhelm any life that might be existing on other planets. Let's get back to earth.

The cinema cathedral over which Canon Rothafel presides is becoming more and more a training school for the operatic and concert stage. Several of its vocalists are now in the corral of Gatti Cazazza and many of its musicians have gone on to the more celebrated symphony bands.

Comes now a call from Omaha for Joseph Littau. A call to conduct a symphony orchestra, the first summons of its kind to reach any of the Canon's maestros. Littau, of course, is accepting. He would be a chump if he didn't.

Radio Loads Littau To Big Symphonic Job

Radio, of course, is responsible for the beckoning. Omaha has heard his Sunday broadcasts—concerts in which Littau not only paid regular tribute to Beethoven, Bach and Brahms but in which he carved out new paths by offering the best music of modern America. And when modern America was exhausted, he turned to modern France and Spain and Russia where the most unusual and the most brilliant music is now being written.

It was Littau under the kindly nod of Roxy who departed from the familiar and unsatisfactory practice of many broadcasters of giving only excerpts of a great work and decided to air the whole work or none of it at all. The response of the car-cuppers was immediate and enthusiastic.

Littau got his first chance as a piano player in the outlying movie theatre, called the Regent, on the northern border of Central Park, which was managed by Roxy. When Roxy moved downtown he brought Littau with him and it was not many years before the piano player was waving a baton over 110 musicians.

A little man, Littau has the restless energy of a jazz band leader. But his energy and his ideas do not run to jazz. They are directed chiefly upon the fire and vigor of Ravel and Albeniz and Stravinsky and the Tschaikowsky of the symphonies.

The jazz leaders do not take much time away from their air schedules even when the more attractive resorts beckon. The leaders believe that absence from the microphones for more than two weeks makes their audience ever so forgetful they were ever on the air. Can you remember when there were once bands on the networks called Olsen's and Bernie's?

Broadcasters Shy At Shakespeare

Broadcasters still refuse to become too friendly with Shakespeare. . . . The most successful plays on the radio are those written expressly for the radio. . . . Ferde Grofe, first aid to the jazz emperors, is organizing a band for the loudspeakers. He will not only direct it but will furnish it with his own ambitious attempts to dress up jazz.

After 40, Bowel Trouble is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All drugstores.

RARE VIOLINS AT CLARION

CLARION, Pa., Oct. 9.—Some interesting violins of venerable and high class vintage have been found in Clarion County. Mrs. Harry E. Eisenman, of Shippenville, has one bearing the inscription "Nicolaus Amatus fecit in Cremona 1650." Mrs. B. W. Irvin, of Clarion, owns one with the inscription "Giovan Palo Maggini, Brefcia, 1671." And Mrs. E. M. Fulton, of Shippenville, exhibits another bearing the words "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonentis, facietsat anno 1738." All of these have been passed down in the owners' family for years.

DEMANDS, GETS TERM IN JAIL

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Harry Nelligan, 47, convinced police today that under his rights of a citizen he was entitled to go to jail if he wished.

Nelligan stopped Captain of Police Schelhas on the street and requested that he be sent to jail. Capt. Schelhas pointed out that since he had violated no law there was no reason for sending him there.

But Harry has determination. Several hours later he appeared at the police station with the information that he had seen Warden W. W. Caldwell and had been told it would be all right for him to go to jail.

Capt. Schelhas telephoned the prison and was informed that the latchstring was out for Harry. The desk sergeant was ordered to prepare a paper entitling Harry to admittance to prison for an indefinite stay.

Armed with the paper, Harry walked over to jail and was admitted.

Perry Highway Relocation Asked

Relocation of the Perry highway five miles southwest of Meadville and the elimination of two railroad grade crossings was sought yesterday before the Public Service Commission. The State Highway Department made the application. The two crossings involved are those of the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad and the Erie Railroad in Union Township, Crawford County. The improvement involves erection of two overhead bridges, each having a 100-foot span. The commission will allocate the costs.

Demands Civil War Memorial Action

Action on the erection of the Civil War memorial near Lake Elizabeth was demanded in Council yesterday by Harry A. Little. The monument was removed from its old location when the city began to cut down Monument Hill. The sum of $30,000 has been appropriated for the new location.

Taxicab Company Sued for $100,000

A suit seeking to recover $100,000 damages from the Yellow Cab Company was filed in Common Pleas Court by Marion Martina Brown, of 2855 Charles street, North Side, who alleged her spine was fractured when struck by a taxicab, November 30 last, at West Diamond and Ohio streets, North Side.

The cab was operated at high speed in disregard of the intersection and the driver failed to sound a horn, the suit alleged.

DIGESTION FINE NOW; SALESMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

"I got so I couldn't eat anything without having trouble afterwards," says Mr. Roland M. Morris, popular salesman, of 272 South 57th Street, Philadelphia, Penn. "I would have heartburn, gas, and sick headaches.
"Nothing seemed to help me. I tried everything I could hear of but my indigestion hung on two years.
"Then my doctor advised Pape's Diapepsin and I had almost immediate relief with the first two tablets. Now that I have been taking them for some time, I find I can eat pork or most anything and have no trouble. I sleep well; my nerves are O.K. and I have gained 15 pounds."
Thousands like Mr. Morris are finding quick, certain relief for indigestion or so-called "acid-dyspepsia" by using Pape's Diapepsin. You chew a tasty tablet and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears. So do the other symptoms, such as nausea, headache, gas, belching, nervousness, etc.
Pape's Diapepsin contains no narcotics; can be taken often as needed without harm. All druggists sell it. Or if you prefer to try it before buying, just write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box.

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

NASH

Announces . . .

3 new EIGHTS and a new SIX

NEVER was such motor car quality offered at prices so sensationally low. The literally startling difference becomes at once apparent when you contrast the prices of the new and finer Nash series, with prices of corresponding models a year ago.

Coming at this time, these wholly remarkable values constitute an achievement of special import, not only to those who buy—but to those who manufacture motor cars, as well.

This unique example in value-giving was planned last November. At that time, C. W. Nash and the strong group of executives surrounding him, clearly foresaw present conditions. They at once began to design cars affording value so great, so unmistakable, as to overcome all buying reluctance.

The result is instantly apparent. Even casual inspection of the four new Nash cars establishes the fact that nothing even remotely approaching them in downright dollar value has ever been available in their respective price fields.

The low non-productive Nash overhead, the fact that Nash operates entirely without the heavy financial burden of borrowed capital, and the foresightedness of the Nash organization, alone enable Nash to offer so much for so little.

These three factors have combined to produce in these cars beauty and luxury and performance so notable, at prices so low by contrast, as to win for Nash a still larger place in the minds and the hearts of the motoring public.

Whatever style of car you desire, there is a Nash suited to your needs. Come in at once—drive one of these thrilling new cars—let us appraise your present car.

SENSATIONALLY PRICED!

STUDY THESE SENSATIONAL PRICES!

Compare what is probably the most remarkable achievement of Nash in greater value-giving—the New Six—with the Single Six it succeeds. The New Six offers a multitude of superiorities—at prices which range from $160 to $140 below the prices of the Single Six.

Body Style	The New Six W. B. 114½"	Last Year's Six W. B. 114½"	Price Difference
Sedan (4-door)	$845	~~$1005~~	—$160
Coupe	$795	~~$940~~	—$145
Coupe (rumble seat)	$825	~~$980~~	—$155
Sedan (2-door)	$795	~~$935~~	—$140

Compare the New Eight-70 with its two additional cylinders, its longer wheelbase, its larger, more luxurious body, with the six-cylinder car it replaces. Then consider the remarkable fact that there is actually a basic price differential in favor of the new Eight!

Body Style	The New Eight-70 W. B. 116½"	Last Year's Six W. B. 114½"	Price Difference
Sedan (4-door)	$995	~~$1005~~	—$10
Coupe	$945	~~$940~~	+$5
Coupe (rumble seat)	$975	~~$980~~	—$5
Special Sedan (4-door)	$955

Compare the New Twin-Ignition Eight-80 Series with the 6-cylinder car it replaces. The Eight-80 is larger, longer. Design, appointments, upholstery are finer—prices are radically lower.

Body Style	The New Twin-Ignition Eight-80 W. B. 121"	Last Year's Twin-Ignition Six W. B. 118"	Price Difference
Sedan (4-door)	$1295	~~$1415~~	—$120
Coupe	$1245	~~$1345~~	—$100
Coupe (rumble seat)	$1285	~~$1395~~	—$110
Town Sedan (4-door)	$1375

Compare the New Twin-Ignition Eight-90 Series, now with a 115 H. P. Engine, with the last year's 100 H. P. Eight. Body appointments are finer, upholstery more luxurious, and prices are far lower!

Body Style	The New Twin-Ignition Eight-90 W. B. 124"-133"	Last Year's Twin-Ignition Eight W. B. 124"-133"	Price Difference
Sedan (4-door)	$1565	~~$1795~~	—$230
Cabriolet	$1695	~~$1875~~	—$180
Coupe	$1695	~~$1915~~	—$220
Coupe (rumble seat)	$1745	~~$1975~~	—$230
Sedan (7-pass.)	$1925	~~$2195~~	—$270
Limousine (7-pass.)	$2025	~~$2385~~	—$360

N. Y. MAN HEADS HUMANE GROUP

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Several members of the American Humane Association, which is holding its annual gathering here, charged in addresses that veterinarians frequently refuse to sanction destruction of animals that should be killed so they can collect fees for their treatment.

W. A. Young, of the Animal Rescue League, Boston, urged a movement to bring veterinarians and humane organizations into closer touch. Sydney H. Coleman, New York, was elected president.

ACID STOMACH! Here's a pleasant way to Get Rid of It

A bubbling effervescent drink that sets acid stomachs right in a jiffy. Tastes so good you'll like it for its taste alone. It has been FAMED in Europe since 1680. Italians drink it as we do soda water and it's an antacid that has no rival. So good even small children take it without coaxing. Gently laxative and altogether delicious. This easy pleasant way to rid yourself of hyperacidity is called

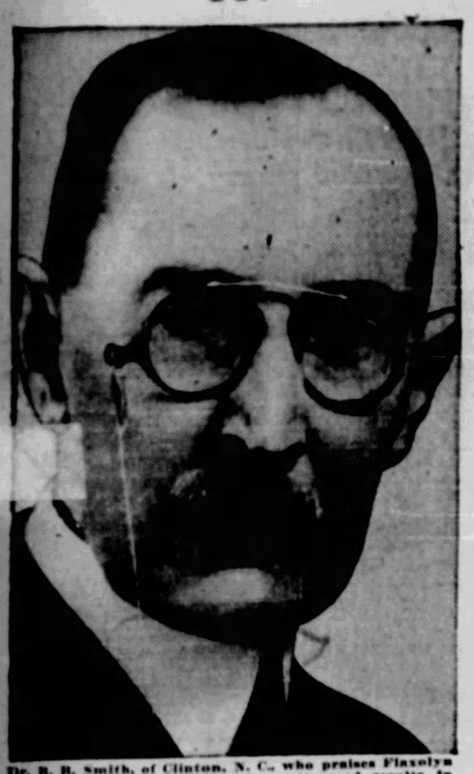
Doctor Personally Got Such Wonderful Relief from Flaxolyn

He Is Happy to Give Public Endorsement



Dr. B. B. Smith, of Clinton, N. C., who praises Flaxolyn so very highly because he has witnessed results in his own case.

Searched years for a satisfactory preparation to help his own case.

Of all the messages received by Dr. Luntz, the doctor responsible for the development of Flaxolyn, there is none quite as touching as the interesting letter received from Dr. B. B. Smith, a prominent retired physician.

"I have just about finished, personally, 30 days' use of Flaxolyn," reads Dr. Smith's letter. "I began its use as an experiment for the relief of gas in the bowels and colon which had distressed me greatly for some time.

"I had tried many different remedies and resorted to all sorts of means, including massages, etc., without satisfactory relief. I am very happy to say that I have found in Flaxolyn the results for which I had searched for years. I am greatly improved by the use of Flaxolyn and gladly recommend it to everyone as a reliable and dependable aid for conditions of occasional constipation, and other troubles due to faulty elimination of body wastes."

German Physician of Great Prominence Applauds Formula

Professor Dr. Remy Hirsch, one of the most distinguished physicians in Germany, and formerly head of the Nervous Disorders Division of Berlin's largest hospital, is one of a number of physicians who have been retained to give their frank opinions of Flaxolyn and who have placed their approval upon it.

Dr. Hirsch is highly enthusiastic over the effectiveness of Flaxolyn. He calls Flaxolyn not only a safe and pleasant formula, but a powerful one.

Dr. Juan Pallares of the University Hospital in Valencia, Spain, says: "I find Flaxolyn superior to any formula I know for that vicious ailment, occasional constipation, with its dastardly effects upon the system, through repeated neglect. I am satisfied Flaxolyn has no habit-forming tendency. It has excellent corrective power. I endorse it and congratulate you."

Penna. Policeman Gives Praise to Flaxolyn

Traffic Officer Owen P. Miller is known to almost every citizen of Allentown and to many visitors. Mr. Miller knows that he must keep in perfect physical condition at all times and to help him do this he has had occasion to use Flaxolyn. The splendid results are testified to in the following message: "I am very happy to add my praise of Flaxolyn to the many which have already been printed. It is a wonderful medicine."

Owen P. Miller

You are undoubtedly familiar with some of the numerous statements which have appeared in these columns in the past, such as the letter from Mr. and Mrs. John Pullman, of Haddonfield, N. J., who say: "We never dreamed Flaxolyn could do us so much good."

Any number of people have used such words as "marvelous," "remarkable," etc., in describing the satisfactory results obtained from Flaxolyn.

GAS, HEADACHES, HEARTBURN

Suggest Prompt Trial of Floxolyn

If your appetite is dull and you want to give it that necessary stimulation, to produce keener enjoyment of your food; if sick, bilious headaches are the result of occasional constipation, or if your kidneys require mild diuretic activation, Flaxolyn may be just the medicine you need. Certainly there is no harm in trying it, as it is guaranteed safe, pure and satisfactory. Pleasant, easy and economical to take.

"I Am Profoundly Grateful for the Good Flaxolyn Has Done Me," Says Pittsburgh Visitor

What follows are not the words of an advertising writer, but the sincere personal experience of a man who tells in his own language just what Flaxolyn did for him.

"Deepest gratitude for my improvement through the medium of this wonderful, simple preparation forbids silence on my part," says Mr. Emanuel E. Smith, of Philadelphia, on a recent visit to Pittsburgh.

"I only regret that words of mine fail to describe how much I have gained at 53 years of age, and through the efficient cleanser, Flaxolyn. To me it was almost unbelievable—until I investigated. Folks, where occasional constipation holds sway, don't hesitate—give Flaxolyn a fair trial."

Mr. Norbert B. Connahan, Manager Mayflower Store No. 14, states that never in all his years of experience in the drug business has he seen a preparation win such phenomenal success as has Flaxolyn. "Flaxolyn has been succeeding," says Mr. Connahan, "for one simple reason—it brings results. It is effective, where so many other preparations fail to be."

Flaxolyn Called a "First Aid to Beauty"

Sooner or later your face is bound to betray the too-frequent repetitions of what once was "temporary constipation." Better be safe with Flaxolyn than sorry without it. Avoid headaches and heaviness, belching and bloating, caused by this condition.

Flaxolyn Free If It Fails

Flaxolyn contains no drastic or habit-forming drugs; it is rich in sun-dried and air-dried herbs, effectively combined with highly approved vegetable extracts, bile salts and organic medicinals. Have no hesitancy in trying it.

The whole world contributes to the potency of Flaxolyn. In it are Senna Leaves from Arabia, Licorice Roots from sunny Spain, "Sacred Bark" from California, Buchu Leaves from Africa, Sarsaparilla Roots from Mexico—and other important ingredients from the five continents.

By all means tear out the coupon and hand it to your druggist, who will be very happy to redeem it so that you may give Flaxolyn the trial it merits.

THE FAMOUS FLAXOLYN GUARANTEE

1. Flaxolyn is guaranteed safe and pure.
2. Flaxolyn is guaranteed to show results by the sixth pleasant spoonful. If you are not perfectly satisfied with the improvement, return the partly-used bottle to your druggist, and get your money back. Flaxolyn is free unless it does you good!

SUPREME COURT HEARS DAGUE'S PLEA

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

Kid:

I am writing a piece for our high school paper on "Education: What It Means and How!" and I would like to have your advice. The last time I wrote a piece for our high school paper I sent it to the wrong high school, like the fool that I am. Do you think I did right? My mother is always telling me to take my problems to you, but I know what a busy man you are. As a matter of fact I don't know what a busy man you are. Please give my regards to all your friends and tell them that I pray nightly that they are paroled before Christmas.

ELIM WHEEL.

P. S.—I only wrote this letter to see whether the mail box is working.

William E. Best, the examiner for the Public Service Commission, who has been away on a motor trip, is glad to get back, although he is still a bit dazed by something that happened to him in a village near Harrisburg. Mr. Best's car broke down and he was held up for several hours for repairs. While he was waiting, one of the village's official welcomers learned his identity and decided this was an opportunity to make an impression upon a state official. He asked Mr. Best if he would like to see the town while the car was being repaired. Mr. Best said he would. The gentleman drove Mr. Best to the cemetery, pointed out the various graves, drove him back to his own car and said goodbye.

True story: During the safety convention the delegates were taken for a boat ride on the Ohio. This being a safety convention, there wasn't a drop of liquor on the boat or delegates. But a visitor from Kansas City had an idea. He bought a bottle of colored pop which in color resembled whisky. One by one he took a dozen other delegates to dark, secluded spots on the boat and generously offered them what he described as good whisky. They all drank, and they all agreed it was good stuff. One fellow asked for a chaser.

It is a pretty safe guess that there were more microphones on hand for the Westinghouse memorial program than there had been for any other program ever broadcast locally. For the dedication ceremony in Schenley Park there were seven, and at the banquet, six. Not more than one was needed at any one time, but microphones are sensitive, and the Westinghouse officials weren't taking any chances of the broadcast being interrupted. For the most ordinary program there is always one extra microphone at hand. It seems there are tubes hidden in the microphone's mouthpiece and that frequently, without warning, they get out of order. As things turned out, none of the extras were needed.

The Westinghouse program was considered so important that 30 or more stations on the two networks with which Westinghouse is affiliated ignored the World Series in its favor.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 9.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Well, the baseball is all over now. St. Louis did mighty well west of the river, but they should have never crossed it. Fording the Mississippi and going East has ruined not only many ball teams, but many a promising public man.

Take these boys at home among their own pop bottles and they were hard to clean after, but they had no business east of the Rockies, monkeying with Mr. Earnshaw. Connie Mack at 99 years of age will be able to sit in bed and show 15 other managers how to handle a ball team in a crisis.

But it must have been a great series. Only one man I can't forgive. That's the radio announcer for Columbia, who kept comparing Dykes' bonehead play chasing Gelbert, to one pulled years ago by Hans Wagner. Hans Wagner never in all his life pulled one. It was Heinie Zimmerman.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Youthful Gangster Is Killed by Rival Racketeers

CHAPTER I.

The Edgewater Kid never knew what hit him. Like the cleat against the teeth on the dog of a ferryboat windlass running free, came a metallic, ratcheting rattling. Angry flashes of flame spat from a window across the narrow street. In the near distance a church bell tolled on.

Two minutes later there was a curious crowd at the doorstep of the house where the Kid had lived. And Polack Annie was on her knees on the bloody sidewalk, raising her quivering hands on high and calling on the saints. The Kid had been her Man.

A harness-bull, club waving in one hand and with his other tearing at his service gun somewhere under the tails of his service coat, panted up, shouldering all aside. For him they made way, all but Polack Annie, who was blubbering maudlin supplications and swaying.

"Who knows anything about this?" bellowed the bull.

Nobody spoke. Then a small man with glasses on and no coat, who had run out of a nearby dwelling at the sound of the machine-gun fire, pompously squirmed forward, pointed down at the riddled remains huddled in a crazy and shapeless heap, and stage-whispered:

"The Edgewater Kid!"

"Oh, said the cop, "then you know somethin', do you? What's your name?"

"Now, look here, officer. I don't want to get into any trouble—can't afford it. I'm with an insurance company—taxpayer—own my own home—"

"Don' talk back to me. An' don' move."

A stout, middle-aged woman squeezed forth.

"I run this place," she volunteered. "I rented that room a week ago yest'd'y to two men—I didn't know nothin' about no guns—nothin' till I heard them weird noises, officer—I swear—"

"Put on your hat. You can do your swearin' at the station... anybody else here know anything about this sweet doin's—an' on a Sund'y, too—is they?"

Marked for Death

Friends Discuss Passing Of the Kid

The siren of the police ambulance stopped all else. Around the corner, on two wheels, against the traffic lights, it shot as though it, too, had been projected out of a "cannon." A few yards behind, its gong beater banging, sped the patrol wagon. It yanked up on its emergency brakes and vomited a squad of eight uniformed men, two plainclothes men and a sleepy reserve lieutenant. The case was out of Carney's hands now.

In the back room of a dummy garage on North Royal street, opposite one of the northermost walkways into the park, sat a well set-up man with a gold cigaret lighter in his hand. He snapped it shut and slid it back into his pocket on its gold chain. He crossed his knees and one trouser leg crawled up, disclosing a gold garter buckle. From his vest he fished up a gold pencil and drummed with it against a gold ring on his left fourth finger.

"I told you them hyenas had the Kid on the spot."

And as he spoke he revealed a gold tooth.

"Peace be unto the souls o' the rats what got 'im," solemnly spoke a tall, handsomely built young man in natty chauffeur's togs. "We'll give 'em the same up-an'-up they give the Kid, eh, Goldie?"

"Sand, Ray — sand!" cautioned Goldie. "This calls for some noodle."

Three of Them Hurry To Scene

The bluecoat yanked out a whistle and cut the Sabbath stillness. He fished up a notebook and made a memo of the time, the street number, the date.

"Who else knows anything about this?" he demanded. No one spoke up. He stepped over the carcass of the murdered gangster and shook Annie by the shoulder.

"What do you know about this?" he bawled.

"Go 'way—go 'way," she yammered.

"Aw, yeh? You're goin' for a buggy ride, redhead—ah, here they come."

On the run from three directions three other officers were clumping it on the lam. Carney, the first on the scene, with rights of priority as well as assignment, for this was on his beat, ordered the others about sharply.

"Hey, there, Quinlan—call the station an' report a homicide—said to be the Edgewater Kid—5:52 p. m., Sund'y, August 'farth, front o' fifty-far-fifty-nine Putnam aven'e . . . call for the amb'lance an' the wagon . . . here, you, Finkel, take charge o' this here man an' that there jenny—material witnesses—you, Van Haven, keep them people back—I'm goin' in the house an' see who's what the hell."

Vengeance

Victim's Pal Wants to Even Matters

"You mean—you don' mean we're gonna let them West Side goofers get away with this? This ain' like the rest o' the jobs. This ain' business. This is plain murder," cried a wiry, monkey-faced little fellow in ready-made dark clothes.

"Exact'y, Chimp. Murder. And murder ain't our racket."

"Since when?" chirped a blond youngster, who might have passed as a college junior.

"Since all the time," said Goldie, as he stowed away the gold pencil, went down into his pants pocket and came up with five twenty-dollar gold pieces, which he shuffled in one hand dexterously. "We knock 'em off, yes. That's part o' the routine. We got to operate. Big industry does the same thing — if competition won't merge to stay on the reservation, well, what are all the gat-factories runnin' for? Nations act and react the same way. That's strictly legit. But this? Well, they say in the olden days there was a war over a dame. But in these days! We're civilized"

The group of 10 sat dumbfounded. Then Chimp arose and said:

"Okay, chief. If you say no, you mean no. So this here won' be official, if you know what I mean. But I'm goin' out an' croak the scums what butchered

Policeman Sees Weapon In Window

Quinlan shuffled off to the box; Finkel seized the little man, deaf to his entreaties, threats and whimpers, and dragged Polack Annie up on her feet. Her knees buckled and he slung an arm around her and held her up. Carney started up the steps. Van Haven called him:

"Say, hadn' you better take a peek acrost over there—that's where batt'ries was concealed."

Carney wheeled sharply about and came down. In a protruding open bay-window on the second story of a frame building, a boarding-house, stood in easy view a regulation army machine-gun, its muzzle pointed square at the spot where he stood. He jumped aside. He waddled across the street and to the house. People from within and without were already jammed around the door.

"Who knows anything about that cannon up there?" he screamed.

500 JOBLESS ASSURED HOME

Business Men Raise Fund To Provide Shelter, Food During Winter Months

At least 500 homeless and destitute men are assured of food and lodging throughout the winter by action of a committee of business men in establishing a charity headquarters in an abandoned building at 439-449 First avenue.

Although not yet opened officially, for the past several nights jobless and homeless men have been fed and given sleeping quarters. Official opening will take place within the next 10 days when beds and other fixtures are installed.

Grocery stores, restaurants and dry goods establishments are cooperating in the plan.

APPEAL TO GOVERNOR

A petition has been presented to Gov. John S. Fisher for 500 beds and blankets for the "hotel." These are expected to arrive shortly.

A spokesman for the committee, in announcing plans for the feeding and bedding of the men, said:

"There will be no paid officials at the establishment. We intend to give as much help as possible to the hundreds of destitute men who will roam the streets during the winter. Many persons have assured us of co-operation in food, cooking utensils and other equipment. Many others will contribute cash. We will co-operate with other charity and welfare associations throughout Pittsburgh."

The name of the organization is "The Helping Hand Committee."

NOTED CONTRIBUTORS

The committee includes: Joseph C. Trees, of Benedum-Trees Company, chairman; Benjamin Page, president of the Pennsylvania Trust Company, treasurer; James Rae, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Attorney Harry I. Miller, secretary; E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; J. Rogers Flannery, Frank J. Lanahan, Harrison Nesbit, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, E. C. Eppley, of the William Penn Hotel; Gerald P. O'Neil, of the Hotel Pittsburgher; Frank L. Duggan, vice president, Consolidated Ice Company; J. L. Walsh, Pittsburgh Real Estate Company; Oliver Kaufmann, John Wimmer and Joseph Huhn.

Brooms, mops and disinfecting material were sent the "hotel" today by the city.

Map November Welfare Campaign

The annual November campaign of the Welfare Fund is being mapped out. Following a meeting in the office of F. J. Chesterman, chairman of the employe division, it was announced that Allen S. Davison, of the Allen S. Davison Company, will serve as district chairman in charge of organizing South Side establishments. Close to 8,000 workers will serve without pay in the drive for funds.

CONFESSION BASIS OF APPEAL

Attorney Takes 10 Minutes To Urge New Trial for Companion of Blonde

Argument in a new trial for Walter Glenn Dague, convicted with Irene Schroeder, his sweetheart, of the murder of Brady Paul, state highway patrolman, required only 10 minutes before the State Supreme Court here today.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, of New Castle, one of the defense attorneys at the trial of the pair in Lawrence County, contended that the court erred in admitting evidence of an alleged confession by Dague that he had participated in 29 robberies other than the one in Butler, Pa., which immediately preceded the killing of Paul.

CASUAL EVIDENCE

Charles J. Margiotti declared that such testimony was not offered as direct evidence and that the confession of additional crimes came out only casually in the rebuttal testimony of Sheriff Charles H. Wright, of Phoenix, Ariz., who participated in the capture of the pair in an Arizona desert after their flight from Pennsylvania.

Margiotti pointed out that Dague's defense at the trial was only a plea for mercy and that no acquittal was asked. He declared that Dague had bought a gun for Irene and had taught her to use it in the West Virginia mountains.

The court took the papers in the case.

Attorney Percy Allen Rose, of Johnstown, especially retained by Mrs. Ella J. Mountz, reputed wealthy coal operator of Houtzdale, argued Irene's case yesterday. Attorneys Dickey and Benjamin Jarrett, of Sharon, who defended the pair at the trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand, were present but took no part in the argument. Special Prosecutor Margiotti presented the commonwealth's case.

ASK APPROVAL OF GAS SALE

Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Service Commission, yesterday was asked to approve the sale of the Greenville Natural Gas Company, of Greenville, to the United Natural Gas Company for $260,000.

The last-named concern has been buying gas companies in the northwestern section of Pennsylvania and is supplying gas at a net rate of 65 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, 5 cents more than is paid by consumers in the Pittsburgh district. In addition a monthly service charge of 20 cents is made.

George E. Welker, of Oil City, president of the United Natural Gas Company, stated that his company is a part of the National Fuel Gas Company system, a New Jersey corporation, which has interests in New York and other states. He said the purpose of the amalgamations was to give improved service without additional cost to 45,000 consumers. The Greenville company has 3,000 consumers.

Chester National Bank Liquidated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Voluntary liquidation of the Chester National Bank, of Chester, Pa., with a capital of $300,000, is announced by the controller of the currency. The Chester National, the controller said, was absorbed by the Cambridge Trust Company, of Chester.

Fighting Fowls Attack Young Child

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 9.—Two-year-old Edward Eckenrode, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Eckenrode, of Cresson, acted as peacemaker to his sorrow. Noticing two roosters in the flock at the Eckenrode poultry houses fighting, the lad intervened and he was set upon by both fowls.

LIST THAT JOB AND AID NEEDY

That odd job Mr. Householder or Mr. Casual Employer has to be completed before winter comes can be done expeditiously now because of the large number of men and women out of work, and are waiting for just such employment, J. F. Mitchell, state employment officer here, said today.

In a statement directed to prospective employers, asking them to fill in the Sun-Telegraph's "I Offer a Job" coupon, Mitchell said:

"We have hundreds of applications for work on file in our office. I suggest those who have work to offer, fill and mail in the coupons at once. As soon as they are turned over to us we'll see that the jobs are filled with willing workers."

Both the state employment office and the City Civil Service Commission are willing to send prospective job fillers to persons who so desire.

Nearly a score of local men and women had jobs today after being placed by these bureaus yesterday, it was announced.

Placements were made by Mitchell, and Thomas Hansbury, secretary of the Civil Service Commission. Coupons published in the Sun-Telegraph asking that jobs available be announced, were turned over to those bureaus.

As soon as offers of jobs—no matter how small they might be—are received by the Sun-Telegraph, they are turned over to the officials. Applications on file are checked and the needy recommended to those asking workers to interview them.

Offers of work to girls and women are handled at the state employment office by Miss Frances Zoglman, placement clerk, under supervision of Mitchell.

The Sun-Telegraph is daily printing a coupon to be filled out by employers who need men and women to fill any kind of work, temporary or permanent.

CRASH PERILS 3 IN HOME

A man and a woman and their 16-month-old son narrowly escaped injury when an automobile driven by George Terreel, 20, Negro, of 2610 Wylie avenue, crashed into the front of their home at 303 Arlington avenue, today.

Earl Clark, 24, the father, holding his son Harvey, was about to open the door from the inside of their home, when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Clark, 23, was following. The family was about two feet from where the machine struck the building. Damage was estimated at $300.

Terreel was arrested, charged with reckless driving. Mt. Washington police say the driver skidded on the steep, wet street.

Officer, Pilot Near Death After Crash

DETROIT, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—A police detective was near death and an airplane pilot seriously injured as the result of a crash which occurred while they were returning a supposedly stolen airplane from Mt. Clemens, Mich., to Detroit for safekeeping pending determination of its ownership.

Detective Peter Sprott, 25, nephew of James Sprott, former superintendent of Detroit police, was assigned to accompany the plane back to Detroit from the Macomb County Airport where it was found yesterday. Junior Kelly, 32, a licensed pilot, was engaged to fly it.

FIVE PADLOCK CASES BEGUN

Two places in Allegheny County and three in Beaver County are named in preliminary injunctions granted by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today on complaint by Robert S. Krause, deputy prohibition administrator. Further violations of the liquor laws are forbidden pending final hearings November 3.

The places and alleged proprietors named follow:

Drinking room rear, first floor, 17 West Park way, J. E. Reel; confectionery, 106 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, John A. Cawley; Darlington Hotel, Darlington, Pa., Joe Bozzo; clubroom, second floor, 124 Merchant street, Ambridge, Nick Suzick; barroom and store, 343-345 Maple avenue, Ambridge, George Matish.

Proprietors' Plea Gains Bowling Tax Delay

The proposal to place a city tax on bowling alleys and miniature golf courses has been held over by Council until the new budget is made for the first of next year.

The delay was decided upon after Edwin J. Wuerthele and a committee representing the Bowling Alley Owners and Manufacturers' Association had appeared to protest against the proposed $2.50 tax per alley.

Wuerthele presented a petition which he said was signed by 17,323 citizens of Pittsburgh protesting against the proposed tax. He and others maintained that bowling alleys are losing money and that it would be necessary to increase prices if the tax were imposed.

He pointed out, when told that the alleys pay nothing to the city at present, although poolrooms do, that bowling is still at pre-war prices and affords recreation of thousands who are unable to join high-priced clubs. The tax, he said, would bring in only $25,000 additional.

President of Council John S. Herron informed the committee that Council did not intend to take action until the first of the year and that in any case the meeting would be given a second hearing.

No one appeared to protest against the proposal to tax miniature golf courses $1.66 per hole, which is part of the same ordinance.

CITY TO SPEED BUILDING OF RAIL AND RIVER TERMINALS

COUNCIL SPURS LEGISLATION ON PROJECTS

Garland, Little Urge Plans To Cut Delay; Hays Site Awaits Action by County

The Department of Public Works and other branches of the city government are preparing the necessary legislation for Pittsburgh's rail and river terminals for submission to Council next week.

Council yesterday, at a special meeting, unanimously favored the motion of Robert Garland designed to expedite the terminal plans. He asked that the necessary legislation be prepared and that a conference be called by President of Council John S. Herron as soon as possible.

Councilman Harry A. Little followed immediately with a motion that the legislation needed to create the North Side rail and river terminal in Manchester be prepared and sent to Council.

HAYS SITE

This was adopted unanimously. So was another motion by Councilman George J. Kambach, asking for legislation on the Hays site on the Monongahela River.

The trio of motions will have the effect of bringing the entire rail and river terminal again before Council at an early date. According to engineers of the Department of Public Works, plans for the physical work already have been prepared. Months ago the necessary permission was secured from the federal government and the state.

LAND IN ESCROW

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt said it will be impossible to have leases for the North Side site ready by Tuesday, the day set in Little's motion. Negotiations are going on, he reported. One obstacle to the site, a dispute between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Equitable Land Company as to the ownership of some of the property, has been settled by having that section placed in escrow until a court decision is rendered.

The cost of the physical work at the North Side terminal depends upon the kind of terminal wanted by Council, according to city engineers. Estimates range from $250,000 to $1,000,000, the engineers maintaining that $500,000 will be needed for an adequate beginning. It is said that the plans drawn permit of economy as well as expansion.

An effort is to be made to have Allegheny County pay for the Hays station site, the reason being that the city is without funds. The sum of $250,000 has been "earmarked" for rail and river terminals.

Philadelphia Man Sees Trade Boom So Near That Church Need Not Retrench Budget

By THE REV. I. W. RUPP, Special Correspondent.

(The Rev. Mr. Rupp will write daily exclusive dispatches for the Pittsburgh-Sun Telegraph, featuring those highlights of special interest to Pittsburgh district Lutherans during the sixth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church now being held in Milwaukee.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9.—The United Lutheran Church has reaffirmed its policy of allocating all Siebenberger Saxon mission work to the Pittsburgh synod and rejecting allocations of this work to synods on whose territory colonies of Siebenberger Saxons reside.

This continues the policy agreed upon in 1926 by which the Pittsburgh synod established churches among Siebenberger Saxon people in Youngstown, Cleveland, Canton, Gary, Detroit and Windsor.

The superintendent of missions of the Pittsburgh synod is given permission to organize churches among any Siebenberger Saxon colony. Dr. John J. Myers, of Pittsburgh, missionary superintendent, is in charge of this work.

SEEKING UNITY

Attorney Robin B. Wolf, of Pittsburgh, replying to a message of greeting to the convention from Gov. Kohler, of Wisconsin, said that the United Lutheran Church came to Milwaukee this year to court greater unity of spirit among the large Lutheran bodies of the West. Gov. Kohler stated that the convention brings to Wisconsin one of the greatest religious bodies of the world.

"The business depression is passing," Peter G. Hagen, president of the Charles P. Cochran Company, of Philadelphia, declared in speaking upon the financial budget as adopted yesterday.

BUDGET NEEDS

Unfaithfulness and malicious desertion were recognized today as the only scriptural grounds for divorce. In the absence of previous definite statements on this score, the convention adopted the reports of its committee on moral and social welfare as the "position" of the church.

The budget for necessary expenses was set at $2,400,000, the same amount as last year. Business conditions were thought improved so that the full program may be continued without retrenchment. Hagen stated that to date $3,000,000 is paid on pledges to the ministerial pension fund raised during the biennium.

MANSION WILL HOUSE OFFICES

Ridge and Galveston avenues, center of the district containing the former palatial homes and estates of Pittsburgh's millionaires, is to become a site of business houses. The stone mansion of the late W. P. Snyder, which stands on the northeast corner, soon will be transformed into the offices of an insurance company.

The owners of a few of the mansions protested vainly to Council, which affirmed an ordinance changing the zoning regulations of the corner from residential to commercial. Protests had been made by a group headed by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander. Most of the former residents, however, seldom use their homes and did not fight the zone change.

At one time Ridge avenue was known as "Millionaires Row." A dozen beautiful homes still stand. One of these is the Snyder mansion. It is to be the headquarters of an insurance company.

Whether Council will rezone the other three corners is a matter of conjecture. It is on these corners that the old homes of the Olivers, the Byerses and Robinsons still remain.

INVENTOR SUES WESTINGHOUSE

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company was named defendant in an equity suit filed yesterday in Federal Court by the Automatic Arc Welding Company, of Detroit, in which the latter concern charges infringement of a patent relating to a portable electric arc welding apparatus.

The bill of complaint was signed by Harry D. Morton, secretary and treasurer of the plaintiff company. The bill avers that Morton is the inventor of the patent involved and had assigned patent rights to the plaintiff concern. The plaintiff company asks that the Westinghouse company be restrained by writ of injunction from directly or indirectly manufacturing, selling or using the arc welding methods and process embodied in the patent claimed by the plaintiff, and that the defendant company be made to account for all gains and profits realized from the alleged infringement.

The Camera Question Box

Today's question: The charge has been made that women are largely to blame for traffic accidents. Does this seem true to you?

Mr. Williams

WILLIAM WILLIAMS, traffic officer: This is true as far as I am concerned. All of the trouble we have in this section is due to women drivers.

Mr. Ferguson

C. C. FERGUSON, Representative, State Bureau of Motor Vehicles: I am the representative for the bureau of motor vehicles of Allegheny Co., Pennsylvania and hear at least 100 accident cases per week. Out of the last 300 cases, 298 were men and only two were women. Draw your own conclusions.

Miss Kaplan

MISS MILDRED KAPLAN, Schenley Heights, student, high school: No, I don't believe that women are responsible for the greater number of accidents. All of the accidents that I have heard of or read about lately have been caused by men.

Mr. Allerton

A. E. ALLERTON, Property Custodian, Police Dept: Most women are very careful drivers. I don't think they are largely to blame for traffic accidents. If they do get in an accident it is usually due to too much caution on their part.

Mr. Cicconi

EDWARD CICCONI, state accident reporter: No, they are not to blame. Women are as physically and mentally capable of operating a car as a man. Only a small percentage of accidents have been caused by women drivers.

Miss Van Patten

MISS E. M. VAN PATTEN, Mt. Oliver, operator: No, I don't believe they are to blame. A woman is just as level headed as a man when she gets in a tight place. The common fallacy that a woman is bound to be a poor driver causes lots of women to lose confidence in themselves.

BURGLARS LOOT THAW HOME

City detectives today instituted a search for bandits who held up a Soho meat market and burglars who ransacked the homes of William Thaw and A. V. Snell, in Squirrel Hill, last night.

Two armed thugs escaped with $350.35 after holding up the butcher shop of Michael Kudras, at 2135 Forbes street. The proprietor and Michael Brahary, of 2101 Tustin street, a customer, were ordered to throw up their hands. One of the bandits rifled the cash register of $350 while the other took 35 cents from Brahary.

Every room in the home of William Thaw, at Morewood avenue and Morewood place, was ransacked by burglars, it was discovered yesterday. A side cellar window was jimmied. Three doors on the second floor were broken open, police who investigated reported.

When a maid in the home of A. V. Snell, at 5252 Beeler street, walked into the house last night she saw a man ransacking a room. The thief fled out the front door with a diamond ring valued at $100.

Card Party Ends In Stabbing, 5 Held

A stabbing during a card game in the home of Ralph Plumbo, 68, of 932 Wheeler street, led to the holding today of Plumbo, his wife, their daughter and two other men for a hearing today.

During the card game last night, Mike Zello, 36, of 1031 Wheeler street, insulted Plumbo's wife, Rose, 64, according to police. Plumbo's daughter, Rose, 24, stabbed Zello as he was about to strike her mother, police said. Zello, treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital, was lodged in East End Police Station along with the Plumbos and their roomer, John Sacco, 40, it was reported.

FOUR ARRESTED IN DRY RAIDS

Arresting four men in as many raids prohibition agents seized two stills and large quantities of moonshine yesterday.

A 100-gallon still was reported found in a dwelling at 225 Four Mile Run road, and another in the home of Luciano Angelucci, 45, rear of 807 Vermont street, Glassport, according to the agents. Angelucci was arrested.

Richard Williams, 70, and John Kyle, 30, were arrested in a club at 228 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, where, agents said, confiscation of whisky was made.

Charles Hado, 42, of 910 Vermont street, Glassport, was released on his own recognizance following the seizure of moonshine in his home, it was reported.

2 Held in Beating Rum Case Witness

Two men charged with beating Charles Johnson, a witness in a liquor case against Herman Bozer, a storekeeper in Center avenue, were arrested on charges of aggravated assault and battery, according to Alderman M. J. Griffin.

The two, William Pittler, of Breckenridge street, and Isadore Bazer, of 2318 Center avenue, are accused of beating Johnson after he had testified against Bazer, Isadore's brother, and a brother-in-law of Pittler. Bazer was indicted two weeks ago by a county grand jury, with 14 alleged Hill district racketeers, who were arrested by Griffin's constables.

BERMUDA TRIP RARE TREAT

When the chill winds of December are blowing around here, what could be more desirable than a trip to balmy, tropical Bermuda, all expenses paid, extra money to spend, fine steamship and hotel accommodations—everything de luxe? The Sun-Telegraph is offering five trips to these sunny islands to the girls of Pittsburgh and vicinity, amplifying Gloria Swanson's generous offer of a trip to Paris during the same month and also to be awarded through this newspaper.

The requirements for obtaining these trips are easy and quite a few girls are already active in the campaign for the awards. It isn't too late to send in your nomination blank. You'll find the blank printed on page 44 of today's Sun-Telegraph.

It isn't necessary to say much more about these tours—the story has been so often told. The Paris trip will be one to be remembered for a lifetime, as Miss Swanson has overlooked nothing in the way that would make the Paris tour of entertainment and sightseeing a memorable one for the girl who is fortunate enough to get it.

M., the Knights Templar and the supreme council, thirty-third degree of Free Masonry. He leaves a son, A. D. Miller, III; a brother, J. B. Miller, of Pittsburgh, and three sisters, Mrs. Fannie V. Miller, of Ben Avon; Mrs. Ella W. Broughton of Cleveland and Mrs. Stella M. Johnston of Bellevue.

SPROUL'S RADIO RULE DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Examiner Pratt, of the Radio Commission, reserved decision today on the motion made by the Rev. John W. Sproul to strike from the files the applications of Pittsburgh Broadcasters for a construction permit to operate station WMBJ, Pittsburgh.

The motion was made by N. B. Williams, counsel for Sproul, who argued that Pittsburgh Broadcasters, in their application for the construction permit, said they were creditors of WMBJ and of Mr. Sproul, who seeks a renewal of his license.

Since Pittsburgh Broadcasters admitted they were creditors they have, Williams said, "no standing under the law to make, hold, use or operate a broadcasting station."

L. A. Gravelle, counsel for Pittsburgh Broadcasters, requested Examiner Pratt to permit the creditors comprising Pittsburgh Broadcasters to sign the application as individuals.

The Sproul case, which originated when a sheriff's sale foreclosed his radio station WMBJ, developed into a three-cornered fight when the Rev. Sproul sought to regain his broadcasting license, and Pittsburgh Broadcasters, Inc., and William S. Walker, Pittsburgh advertising man, applied for licenses to erect stations on his old wave length of 1,500 kilocycles with 100 watts of power.

Pittsburgh Broadcasters, Inc., having seized Sproul's broadcasting transmitter, for alleged unpaid bills, want the right to use it. Mr. Sproul's defense will follow their statement of their case.

Tried for Killing 6 Years Ago, Freed

Charles Jones, 40, Negro, of Hazelwood avenue, is free following his acquittal of murder by a jury in Criminal Court before Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County. Jones was charged with shooting John Gilford, 35, Negro, of Monongahela avenue, November 23, 1924. On the witness stand he claimed self defense, saying Gilford cut him before he fired. Jones escaped and was arrested when he came back to Pittsburgh last August, nearly six years later.

Man Found Dead In Office Building

Floyd Green, 38, of 2304 Reed street, a porter in the Hannan Shoe Company store, 531 Wood street, was found dead on the second floor of the building late last night. Charles Waters, 1517 Wylie avenue, elevator operator, found him and notified police, who took him to Mercy Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

WEIGHTS MEN NAME OFFICERS

Joseph G. Rogers, assistant superintendent of the Department of Weights and Measures of New Jersey, and A. R. Vosburg, deputy of the Pennsylvania bureau, were to be the principal speakers at the closing sessions today of the Pennsylvania Association of Weights and Measures in the Port Pitt Hotel.

Yesterday's sessions were featured by an election of officers. They were: President, Albert B. Smith, chief of the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures, Harrisburg; vice presidents, W. A. Brown, of Wampum, Pa.; T. E. Mathias, of Scranton, and John Delahanty, of Pittsburgh; treasurer, J. Perry Runkle, of Quentin, Pa.; secretary, George B. Nebinger, of Harrisburg, and sergeant-at-arms, Fred Jones, of Johnstown.

OFFICER HELD IN SHOOTING

Sub-Patrolman John F. Sankiewitz, 25, of 172 Forty-first street, whose Wild West tactics last night in two Lawrenceville stores were brought to a halt by his arrest, police said, faced arraignment in the Penn Avenue Police Court and before the Police Trial Board.

The patrolman, off duty, "shot up" the confectionery store of John Machala, at 4116 Foster street, according to police. Before the shooting, they say, he threatened Machala, his wife, Mary, and Anna Zarko, an employe. The "cowboy" policeman left the Machala store for one operated by Joseph Delach, at 155 Forty-second street.

There, police asserted, Sankiewitz menaced Delach and his wife with his service revolver. Police from the Forty-third Street Station, notified of the shooting in Machala's store, arrested Sankiewitz on a suspicious person charge.

ASK ELECTRIC REBATE

Representatives of 19 companies in Beaver and Lawrence counties yesterday appeared before Public Service Commissioner Charles Young and asked for an order rebating $63,000 to the complainants due them by the Harmony Electric Company for alleged excess charges for electric power.

William A. Magee, counsel for 18 companies, claimed the money involved represents the difference between the schedule of rates filed by the light company and the rate as later fixed by the Public Service Commission. The rates involved were first fixed April 15, 1927. The companies complained to the commission that the rates were too high and the commission ordered them lowered. The case was fought through the courts and is now back before the commission for disposal on the rebate question.

Retiring Police Vets Honored With Gifts

Fellow policemen at the Center Avenue Station last night honored Lieut. David R. Fitzsimmons and Turnkey James Clark, who were retired from the force several months ago.

Superintendent Peter P. Walsh presented Fitzsimmons, who served on the force 29 years, a diamond studded gold badge, and Clark, a member 28 years, a watch. Besides Walsh, Inspectors Albert Beebe and James N. Hoey, Capt. John Schnurr and Lieut. W. J. Lavery spoke. Music and refreshments followed the speeches.

Mourner Stricken After Funeral, Dies

Mrs. Emma Willer, 46, a widow, of 129 Carrick avenue, Carrick, died in South Side Hospital early today. Yesterday she attended the funeral of a friend, and a short time after returning to her home became ill. She was taken to the hospital last night.

OBITUARY

Bloom Funeral.

Funeral services for Joseph H. loom, 49, who died yesterday, were to be held at the home, 7439 Idlewild street, today. Interment was to be in Gates of Wisdom Cemetery, Carrick. He was born in Russia and had been a resident of Pittsburgh 35 years. He leaves a daughter, Miss Myra Bloom, and five brothers.

Waugh Funeral.

Funeral services for William Waugh, 67, of 228 Ella street, Bloomfield, who died Tuesday, will be held Saturday in St. John's Episcopal Church, Lawrenceville. He was born in Ireland and came to the United States at the age of 9. Besides his widow he leaves a son, Traffic Policeman Edward Porter Waugh, three sisters, and a brother.

COURT PERMITS HOTEL SUIT

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker signed an order granting permission to the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, as trustee under an indenture of mortgage, to institute and prosecute proceedings for the foreclosure of a $1,650,000 mortgage given by the Pittsburgh Hotels Corporation, on June 3, 1928.

The order is directed against the corporation and E. C. Eppley and H. V. Blaxter. The latter were recently appointed receivers of the corporation in an equity suit brought in Federal Court against the Pittsburgh Hotels Corporation by the L. B. Herbst Corporation of Delaware. The defendant corporation owns the William Penn and Fort Pitt hotels.

The court order stipulates that the foreclosure proceedings must be conducted in the Federal Court, which is already in custody of the hotels by virtue of the receivership.

New Air Company Awaits Schedules

Officials of the Transcontinental and Western Air, said today they expected announcement of definite schedules for passenger and mail planes which will be operated from coast-to-coast through Pittsburgh. The company is a combination of the TAT-Maddux Air Lines, Western Air Express and the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Hospital's Benefit Nov. 5

No matter how attractive a season may be, leaders never forget in the rush of social obligations their philanthropies. So we shall have attractive benefits to add another phase to the many phases of the fall and winter.

A benefit that will attract many society women will be the annual bridge party for the Eye and Ear Hospital, to be held in the Hotel Schenley Tuesday afternoon, November 5.

Mrs. Robert McKay is chairman of the benefit; Mrs. John A. Murtland, vice chairman; Mrs. William Scott, treasurer. Mrs. William Blair will be chairman of refreshments; Mrs. E. B. Scully and Miss Anne Robinson, admission; Miss Alice Gray and Mrs. Wallace Hurtte Rowe, decorations; Mrs. H. H. McClintic, Mrs. J. L. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. H. B. Hays, invitations and tickets; Mrs. E. N. Ohle, Mrs. J. McC. Wilson and Mrs. C. E. Lotze, table supplies.

Mrs. William McKelvy is president of the hospital; Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. McClintic and Mrs. Scully, vice presidents, and J. E. Crawford, secretary.

October, whether it be rainy, cloudy, sunny or crisp and sparkling, always brings news of fetes for brides. Today I can tell you of three affairs in honor of a bride of October 18, Margaret Ralston Jarvis, daughter of the William Rice Jarvises, of South Graham street, who will marry Frederick Redfield Weed, of Boston, Mass., on that day.

Bridal Affairs

The day before the wedding, October 17, Mrs. John Malone, of Coraopolis, will give the bridesmaids' luncheon. That same evening the rehearsal dinner will be given in the University Club by Robert B. McKinley, of Thornburg.

And on the morning of the wedding there will be a breakfast at 12 o'clock noon, which is to be given by Mrs. J. C. Burton, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Sarver, of Palmer street, Swissvale, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Hazel W. S. Sarver, to Eugene S. Springman, of Swissvale and Williamsport, which took place on Saturday in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Swissvale, at 3:45 o'clock, with the Rev. P. H. R. Mullen officiating.

Church Wedding

The bride wore a gown of brown crepe with a matching velvet hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Her only attendant, Miss Helen Klausing, wore maroon crepe with a matching velvet hat and carried orchid chrysanthemums. Willis Sarver, brother of the bride, was the best man.

A dinner for the members of the bridal party was given in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Springman will live in Swissvale after their wedding trip.

Head of Club Inducted at Edgewood

The presence of a former president, Mrs. Rufus F. Emery, added much to the interest of president's day as observed yesterday by the Edgewood Woman's Club. Mrs. Emery, who has been to South America by way of Europe since her last visit to Pittsburgh, had many things to tell concernig her travels, especially of a visit she had made with a former club member, Mrs. Amelia de Rutis, at the latter's home, in Basle, Switzerland.

Mrs. R. W. Cummins, new head of the Edgewood women, made a splendid inaugural address, basing it on the year's study theme, "What's New," and called on several of the members for "echoes" of their vacation. There was a most delightful musical program by Mrs. N. P. Ambursen, one of the members, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Chisholm Garland.

Presidents from several other clubs were present. During the tea hour Mrs. Dean Harvey, retiring president, presided at the tea urn, the table being decorated with a bouquet of button chrysanthemums, the same flowers which were used throughout the decorative scheme. The meeting was held in the club's customary gathering place, the Edgewood Club.

The Girl Scout leaders' fall dinner and roundtable to be held tonight in the Congress of Clubs will be of especial interest for more than one reason. To begin with, Mavis Nowell, a Girl Guide leader (the Girl Guides are England's Girl Scouts) who is teaching in Pittsburgh this winter, will be the guest of honor and will speak. Another special guest will be Adelaide Werner, of New York, regional director for Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and District of Columbia.

Scout Dinner

DULL DRESS IS A SHINING SUCCESS IN THE FALL MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The dull dress is an exceedingly bright star in the sartorial firmament and so manages to shine with conspicuous success. Wherever one may be one sees dresses of dull-surfaced material cleverly enlivened by the kind contrast of cleverly applied lustrous material. Dresses of satin crepe therefore turn their dark side to the world and are content to be smart by virtue of their brightness and are clever enough not to seek lustre through the use of a metallic fabric that would eclipse the good effect of cleverly used dull-faced material.

THINGS that are with us still include the peplum and the tiered skirt. Both of these items seem to have found themselves and have become fixtures for the season. The peplum is so carefully handled that it can now be more easily worn by the woman of ample proportions than was formerly the case. The tiered skirt is good but should be eschewed by the short woman if she does not wish her weight to appear "cut."

THE SKETCH to the right is of a smart Drecoll-Beer model designed for afternoon wear. The dull side of the fabric is used with pipings, bindings and appliqued motifs of the shiny side. These motifs are in the form of falling leaves scattered carelessly over the princess bodice and are embroidered along the edges and centers. The draped yoke is drawn up to one shoulder and tied in a soft bowknot. Both peplum and skirt are circular in cut.

THE OTHER SKETCH is of very graceful evening model by Molyneux. It is of peacock chiffon velvet. With its high waistline and tiered, shirred skirt it is typical of the radical change of silhouette at this house. The draped corsage is enhanced by the addition of two tea-roses at the front.

That natural finish and how to get it

WITH THIS NEW BEIGE POWDER FROM PRIMROSE HOUSE

If you want more color in your skin, use rouge to get it, but never look for it in your powder box. Light shades leave the skin spotty. Extra dark powders make the face hard and old. Primrose Beige powder is exactly right. So fine in texture it actually becomes a part of the skin, giving that natural finish to the complexion that every woman wants. It will not cake or harden and the way it clings is a perpetual delight. A luxury of course, but you'll see how important if you'll just try a dollar's worth of this $3 powder.

INDICT SECRET WINE MAKERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The California Vineyards Company and nine individuals said to possess a secret process which automatically turns grape juice into wine after 30 or 60 days, have been indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Bonds of $5,000 were set in each case, and deputy marshals in Los Angeles and Chicago were ordered to arrest the defendants. Prohibition officials said the defendants had an annual revenue of $5,000,000 from a nation-wide selling scheme, and the company supplied or prepared grape juice to 250,000 customers in the Pacific Coast area alone.

The indictments set forth the defendants sent cards and advertising matter through the mails to hundreds of thousands of prospective customers guaranteeing "fine old wine" would be provided in accordance with the prohibition law.

Products shipped from Los Angeles already had been processed" and had an alcoholic content as high as 15 per cent, officers said.

AMERICANS ARE FAVORED BY LOW PRICE OF SUGAR

Most Nations Pay Much Higher Price for This Product,

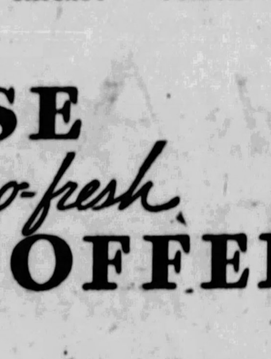
According to statistics, sugar is one of the cheapest food products bought by the American housewife day in and day out. In Australia and New Zealand, where the per capita consumption is thirty pounds more per year than in the United States, a higher price is maintained.

The standards of this country in refining sugar, not only insure uniform color, granulation, density and purity, but give it unlimited keeping qualities. Besides, Americans are offered sugar in many inviting forms, conveniently packed to suit their needs.

The low price of sugar, its many uses, and the important part it plays in the diet should not be overlooked. It is one of the chief ingredients in wholesome desserts, including puddings, custards and ice cream. It improves the taste-appeal of beverages, nutritious stewed and fresh fruits, also breakfast cereals. Used as a seasoning with salt, sugar heightens the flavor of vegetables rich in vitamins and minerals.

The healthy, well-fed United States Army consumes considerably more sugar per capita than those in civilian life. Inasmuch as the diet of these soldiers is constantly watched by medical and dietary experts, this consumption of sugar is significant. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Now—all THE FULL FRESH-ROASTED FLAVOR—locked up until ready for your breakfast cup



ONLY freshly-roasted coffee gives you fresh-roasted flavor. That's because coffee begins to lose flavor immediately after roasting. In two or three days this flavor loss is noticeable, in only nine days 60% is gone, and the coffee has acquired a flat, stale taste.*

Hands As Soft As a Duchess'

—Yet hands that spent all day in the wash tub or doing heavy cleaning!

Women Who Did Heavy Housework Asked, For Caressing White Hands, Too

NOW—AN UTTERLY NEW WAY IN CLEANING!

WOMEN who do heavy housework, women who do ALL of their own work; who scrub and rub, wash and scour hours of every day; asked, too, for pretty hands. And found them!—hands like their sisters' who did only "wash basin laundering" or occasional dishwashing.

At night—the hands of a Duchess; caressing hands, lovely, soft and alluring. Hands that from all appearances never did a single useful thing in all their precious days; yet hands fresh from heavy suds and cleaning work! You can have them if you wish.

What To Do

Use any kind of soap—even ordinary laundry or household soap.

BUT—to the water add one tablespoonful of Climalene. That is all.

That instantly takes the harshness out of harsh water—makes it soft and gentle as rain water.

Then, you use just ONE-FOURTH or LESS the amount of soap you now use. And thus do your work, NOT with skin eating, harsh suds, but with the MILDEST of all cleansers.

You do your work in ONE-HALF the time—dishes, floors, laundry work. For it DISSOLVES grease, dirt and grime instantly. And thus saves bruising skin-fabric with rubbing and scrubbing. Saves fine fabrics, too, from soap-fade and ruin.

When you take your hands out, they are smooth and white—soft as a child's. For this preparation contains incomparable beautifying agents for the skin.

Believe it or not; but try it. What happens will amaze you. Hundreds of women will tell you so.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

Flavor and Quality go hand-in-hand

"The Hot Toast Test proves Nucoa Best"

These days there is a temptation to make food products cheaper and cheaper in order to attract the housewife with price bait.

Sooner or later this policy works against the woman buyer. The time comes when she cannot trust the quality. Her taste and that of the family decide that there is a limit to cheapness.

The makers of Nucoa believe that quality margarine should be a food delicacy and not a cheap commercial article.

They not only maintain the highest standard of quality in America but they have created this standard.

Therefore Nucoa comes to the housewife with a uniform, rich, sweet flavor quite unlike that of ordinary margarine.

And this flavor can be proven by comparison in any home by the hot-toast test.

No matter where you live you buy Nucoa with the knowledge that it is strictly fresh. The Best Foods Central Laboratory has a checking sample of the Nucoa your grocer sells you. Every day it is tested for quality and freshness.

No food product in the world is more thoroughly safeguarded than Nucoa.

Gordon Moore Visits Jail To See Cathie

CHAPTER XI.

"BLOODSTAINED NEGLIGEE FOUND IN FARNSWORTH HOME

"Wife Admits Hiding Gown in Attic Box—Maid, Held as Material Witness, Disappears from Farnsworth Home

"Sensational disclosures in the murder of Alfred A. Farnsworth, millionaire engineer, were made by police today after 24 hours of searching the Farnsworth home, and the grilling of Mrs. Catherine Farnsworth, who is being held on a murder warrant sworn to by Chester Farnsworth, son of the slain man.

"The police announce that they have discovered blood-stained garments hidden in the attic of the Farnsworth home, and that the pretty young widow has admitted they are her own.

"At the same time it was revealed that the maid, Marguerite Spinney, who at first claimed she was with Mrs. Farnsworth when she discovered the body of her husband, has disappeared. The Spinney woman was being held as a material witness, but eluded a cordon of police which guarded the house during the night.

"Police officials attach little importance to her disappearance and believe that she will turn up some time today.

"The blood-stained garments, a silk and lace trimmed nightgown and negligee were found in a locked trunk in a dark attic corner of the Farnsworth home. They were hidden under old newspapers and cast off garments.

"Police declare that an unsuccessful effort had been made to remove the blood stains.

Cathie Weeps

"Confronted with the newly discovered evidence, Mrs. Farnsworth broke down and wept. It was many minutes before she was able to speak, and then tearfully admitted that the garments were her own.

"Mrs. Farnsworth, in a statement to Captain of Detectives Cromwell Snider, admitted that she was wearing the expensive nightgown and negligee when she came upon the body of her murdered husband in the darkened bedroom of the family home.

"Groping in the darkness, Mrs. Farnsworth declared she touched the body and smeared the blood on her garments.

"Questioned by the police as to her motive in attempting to remove the stains and hide the garments the young widow stated that she became wildly excited upon finding her husband's body and acted upon the advice of the escaped maid, Mrs. Spinney, to whom she went for aid immediately after discovering the tragedy.

"Trial of Mrs. Farnsworth will begin on May 6 with Judge Wendell East on the bench."

"The newspaper people are waiting to see you," Fanny Evans, the matron, said. "Hadn't you better comb your hair and wash your face, dearie?"

Cathie looked at her dully.

Appearance Changes

"Come now, don't you want to get all fixed up nice? They'll want pictures, you know."

"No. Please tell them to go away, Mrs. Evans."

"Now listen. You're a new one, and you don't know about these things. I'm an old timer, here, and I know. These people have to write something, and they will whether you see them or not. If you are nice to them they'll be nicer to you. More sympathetic, do you see."

Silence from Cathie.

"Come now, there's a good girl!"

Cathie stood up. You'd never have known her. Four days of confinement in the city jail, four days and nights of pitiless questioning, and only broken, fitful sleep, had washed most of her beauty away. She looked like a flower that has been left too long in the rain. Her skin had an unhealthy, transparent pallor, her blue eyes were heavy and red and her hair had lost its golden, shimmering luster. It was pale and dead looking and tangled. She still wore the black silk dress she had put on that tragic morning. It was mussed and bedraggled. She had not taken advantage of the kindly matron's offer to send for more clothes.

What does it matter how you look when you're in jail, and nobody but policemen and lawyers can see you? What does anything matter, when you're disgraced?

"Where are they?" she asked. If they had to be seen, she'd see them, and have it over with.

"I'd clean up a little, if I were you. They'll wait, dearie."

Asked Many Questions

Cathie ran a comb through her tangled curls, accepted Mrs. Evans' offer of powder. Then she went with the matron to the room where they were waiting for her, a dozen or more men, and four or five women.

At first she was too shy to lift her head and look at them. They began firing questions, a long nosed woman and a tall, shock-headed youth taking the lead. The others took notes, and asked something just now and then when the long nosed woman and the shock-headed youth paused for breath.

Well, Cathie was used to questions. She answered everything. The crazy, impertinent questions of the shock-headed youth. The sly, weighted questions of the long nosed woman. The babble of questions from the other men and the other women. Probably the attorneys, Allen and Gunther, would be angry with her. They were always scolding her for talking too much, or saying the wrong thing. Well, she couldn't help it. Besides it didn't matter . . . nothing mattered any more . . .

"Listen. Why don't you plead guilty!" It was the shock-headed youth who was asking.

"Because I'm not guilty!"

"You'd get a lighter sentence!"

"Why tell her to plead guilty! You listen to me, baby. You stick to your story. Hold out for a jury of men, and you'll be O.K. Don't let 'em put any women on it—that's all."

"She's O.K. anyhow. The state of California's never hanged a woman! There's never been a woman hanged in the west—"

Gordon Calls

"There hasn't? What about that one in Arizona—circumstantial evidence at that!"

"Oh, that was different, Eva Dugan. That was an old grandmother!"

"Just the same, I'd like to see the girl plead guilty. Listen, Mrs. Farnsworth—"

"Aw, let her alone! Come on—I've got a deadline if the rest of you haven't—"

A pretty woman in a red hat crammed her scribbled notes into a morocco handbag and groaned. "Ten-thirty! And I've got a manicure at 12—I'll never make it. Good heavens, this Farnsworth woman isn't the ONLY thing in life!"

"Come, dearie," the matron said.

Cathie went back to her cell and sat on the edge of her bed. She was still sitting there, heavy-eyed, motionless, when the matron came in again, yawning a bit after a heavy lunch.

"Mrs. Farnsworth — pardon ME! I oughtn't to eat cabbage, it always comes up on me that way! Mrs. Farnsworth, there's another man to see you. Moon, I think the name is—no it's Moore. Mr. G. Moore, the pass says . . . oh! — it's THAT Moore!"

"Yes. It must be. Oh. I—I don't know what to say. I knew he was coming, but I didn't think it would be today. I can't see him now. Look at me! I didn't know he was coming. Why didn't somebody tell me? I can't see him now, looking like that—oh, no, no—don't send him away. I don't mean that. MRS. EVANS! WAIT!"

THE BEAUTY BOX

By HELEN FOLLETT

Standing with the weight on one foot is a bad habit. It throws one shoulder higher than the other. It puts the curve of the spine in the wrong place. It makes the tummy prominent. In every way it destroys physical grace and makes for incorrect posture.

Salt is a beauty aid. It can be used as a tooth powder and a mouth wash. Dissolved in hot water it is an excellent tonic for eyes that are tired or which have been subjected to dust The salt glow is invigorating; moisten a bowlful of salt and rub into the skin surface all over the body; rinse away with cold water. Salt water applied to the armpits is a mild remedy for excessive perspiration.

Weak ankles can be strengthened by walking on tip toe. A good exercise is to swing the foot in circles, from the ankle. Run-over heels weaken the muscles of the ankles and calves, and spike heels are bad when this condition exists.

The life of wearing apparel depends upon what kind of care it receives. Stockings should be washed after a single wearing. Wool stockings should be put on stocking stretchers. Shoes that are kept on shoe trees don't get a down-in-the-heel look. Coats keep their shape better when they repose on hangers. Hats should sit on little racks; gloves pulled out flat and laid away in a sachet-filled box.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Loves Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Puzzled at Presence of Veritzen in Catskills

I usually pride myself upon my keeping my head in emergencies, but I certainly lost it when I spied Philip Veritzen's limousine and his chauffeur, Otto, in the street just behind me. There was no possible reason why I should fear my employer or evade him, but I had done so much dodging, physical and mental, during the trying hours just passed, when we had been trailed by the mysterious private detective, that I yielded to the unreasoning panic which seized me at sight of the car, and hurried around the nearest corner down a block, turned another corner, and, after another block, another, before I slowed down.

I am used to running with Junior, so I felt no discomfort from my hurried pace, and, though I had been conscious of people halting to look at me in the streets I had traversed, there were no pedestrians on this street near enough to notice the precipitancy with which I had entered it. I felt vaguely as if I had reached a haven in this little back-water thoroughfare and I again slowed my pace, this time to a saunter, as I pulled myself together, and considered the surprising knowledge which had just come to me.

So Philip Veritzen was this near to New York. We had thought him a continent away.

I knew that he had several homes—mountain, seashore and pastoral lake country—so that he could indulge his fancy for any kind of scene or climate at any time. I did not know that one of them was in the Catskills, but this did not prove he had none in this section of the country. He had been sulking in his "mountain fastness" during all this time, perhaps keeping in touch through some trusted envoy with the affairs which he ostensibly had entrusted to Harry Underwod and myself during his absence, which he said might last until his death?

I remembered that Lillian had laughed at that melodramatic declaration. "Old Phil Veritzen can't stay very long away from his beloved Broadway," she had said in effect. "Now that the theatrical season is well on, he'll be turning up some day, you'll see."

Was he on his way to New York now? If so, why had he not attempted to speak to me. It would have been an easy matter for Otto, in that powerful car, to have caught up with me, even on the tortuous dodging course I had taken.

Something which had been knocking at the door of my brain came through it, and I stopped short in the street with the astonishment of a sudden realization.

Philip Veritzen had not wished me to see him. I remembered Otto's queer, crouching position over the wheel and the sudden screech of the brakes as he manoeuvred the car around the corner. My employer was running away from me even faster than I had fled from him.

This did not spell a return to New York. Or if it did, there must be some reason why he did not wish me to know he was in the Catskills. Yet why? Why? Why?

I boxed my mental compass in the endeavor to find an answer to the question. The only possible answer involved an action so fantastic, so bizarre and so crassly ill-bred on my employer's part that I could not give it credence, even though I was angry enough at him.

I had been walking aimlessly, absorbed in the questions engendered by the appearance of the Veritzen car and the chauffeur. When I finally decided to put the whole puzzling business aside until I could talk it over with Harry Underwood, who shared with me the ultimate responsibility for the Veritzen dramatic productions during the great man's absence. I looked around at the shabby quarter in which I found myself, and realized that I had no idea where I was or how far I had wandered since I took to heels at sight of the Veritzen car.

Hazily I remembered that I had turned almost every corner which presented itself, and had traveled a zigzag course, but I had made no mental notation of street names, and I had not the slightest idea how to get back to the corner where I had turned off my course.

It was with a shamefaced grin that I took Mr. Train's despised map from my bag and looked at it, checking back on the blocks I had covered while walking along the main boulevard, the name of which I had remembered. I had taken no notice of the cross streets, noting only the number of them which I had to traverse and the name of the last one where I was to turn over to the street upon which the Trains lived. There was but one thing to do, of course, and that was to inquire of the next passerby the nearest way back to that corner, and I put Mr. Train's map in my bag with a mental apology to that kindly, bustling gentleman and a little paean of thankfulness for his efficiency.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, October 10

The lunar transits, in effect on this day, point to some small difficulties and delays, minor agitations and perplexities, but also have a promise of an important change or journey, attended by the prospect of financial advantage. Personal tact or affiliations may assist in the fortunate culmination of affairs, both private and of business interest. Much may depend on this personal equation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate some change or journey during the year. There is some help for financial progress, but there may be minor obstructions or delays. Care should be exercised in making contracts, although personal correspondence and private approaches may aid in further material interests.

A child born on this day should be intellectual, artistic, gracious and friendly, learning toward independent action and decision. It may have fair final success, despite many minor obstacles and handicaps.

Latin lovers may be the tenderest; but only an American gentleman can divorce his wife as tenderly as he courted her.

A good-natured man can forgive almost anybody, except the man to whom he owes money, and the woman who keeps reminding him that he "owes" her his love.

A woman struggles to hang onto her youth, by wearing things that make her look foolish—a man, by doing things that make him look foolish.

The most tragic moment of a woman's life is that in which she is forced to stand smilingly by, and watch a man slowly but surely convalesce from his infatuation for her.

Just about the time when a woman needs all a man's moral support, her hair begins to turn gray, her ankles begin to grow fat, and her husband begins to turn foolish.

A happy wife is one who knows when to turn off the motor of her conversation, put the brakes on her wit and tune off an argument.

Marriage does something miraculous to a man—but, it's a rare girl who can transform a seasoned Don Juan into a perambulator-pusher and furnace-tender, just by waving a marriage-certificate over him.

Many a man looks upon the marriage certificate as "just a scrap of paper"—until he starts paying alimony.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Engraved Engagement Announcements Not Socially Sponsored

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly tell me whether it is very bad form to send engraved announcements of an engagement? This is what I should prefer doing, but I was told it was incorrect.

READER.

You are correctly informed. It is not considered good form, in the society that carries on the best traditions, to send formal, engraved announcements of engagements.

Instead tell your close relatives and close friends. Then write charming notes, telling of your happy news, to other friends whom you wish to know it "first." Then, if you wish, your mother and father may make a formal announcement of your engagement in the newspapers.

Addressing Invitations to Married Friends

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married very soon and there are a few men in my office whom I would like to invite to my wedding, also some girls. As some of these men are married, I am wondering whether to address the invitations to "Mr. and Mrs." or confine my invitations just to the office force? M.

When we send invitations to married people, we should address the invitations to both the wife and the husband, whether or not we know both. This is a very definite social form. It is quite correct for you to send invitations to these colleagues, if you wish, but be sure not to address them only to the husband.

Carrying One's Own Luggage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. While touring the country by automobile, should one carry one's own handbags into the hotel or wait for the bellhop to go out to the car and bring them in?

2. A newly married couple stopping at a hotel: How should the register be signed, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe," or "Mr. John Doe and wife."

3. Is it proper for the bride's parents to send out the marriage announcements after the ceremony if only the two families have attended the wedding? M. M.

1. By all means wait for the bellboy to take your handbags into the hotel. It is very undignified for you to carry your bags into the hotel, and the hotel management, even the management of the most humble of hotels, would be much chagrined to know that you had done it. Usually there is a door man at the entrance, and he calls the "front" to carry the bags of arriving guests.

2. Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, Seattle, Washington, is the correct form for the signature. It is extremely poor form to write "Mr. John Doe and wife."

3. Yes. As a matter of fact, it is in circumstances like this that wedding announcements are of the greatest importance and convenience, for there will then be many relatives and friends who are to be notified that the marriage has taken place.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Is It Necessary to Pay Interest on One Bad Mistake For the Rest of Your Life?

[illegible] you had done a stre[illegible] the big house—

W[illegible]e your duty to confess it[illegible]irl you loved?

Or—[illegible]aid your debt and put [illegible]d you, would you have [illegible]let sleeping dogs lie?

Louis wan[illegible]. Many, reading the [illegible]of his black months, will do a little private shuddering of their own. For ghosts will walk! Ghosts of an hour of folly—that left a lifetime of secret shame. Ghosts of a chapter that was closed so long ago—but never, never forgotten.

But is it really over? Or should they make it live all over again by telling?

"Dear Sally Martin—

"I wonder if you would settle a question that is in my mind. I don't know what to do myself.

"I am one of those guys who grew up too fast. At the age of 18 I was a tall know-it-all kid, who looked to be at least 22. And I was much too wise to go around with fellows of my own age. I always associated with a crowd two or three years older than myself.

"Of course that was no sin, but if I hadn't done it I would never have got into the trouble I did. Here's what happened. I fell for a girl I met in that crowd. A girl of 21, who likewise fell in love with me, thinking I was much older than I was.

"This girl was well off, as were most of this bunch, and I being just a fool in love, and only a $25 a week clerk, led her to believe I was able to travel with the people she traveled with . . . who spent money freely on cabarets and other amusements. An evening with her usually meant a week's salary blown in.

"Well, I stood the gaff for about six months, and finally drew my last dollar out of the bank to be able to take her out. By this time we were deeply in love, and I, being just a yellow sap, kept on lying to her.

"Well, the breaking point came, thanks to my cowardice, I began, in a small way, just a few dollars each week, to dig into the office safe. In a few months I was $300 to the bad. I covered this up for a time, but it wasn't long before it leaked out. Then, being unable to raise $300, I skipped out with a few of the company's bonds. I was soon apprehended, of course, and was sentenced to 18 months in the pen.

"And do you know, my girl took it like a soldier. Here was I, supposedly a respectable guy, well liked by her parents, and her possible future husband, in a jam like that! And she came to me with tears in her eyes, blaming herself, and saying she still loved me and would wait for me. Gee! What a woman!

"But I was so ashamed, and so low in my own estimation, that I wouldn't let her do that. I realized I wasn't worthy of her. So I discouraged her by telling her I no longer loved her.

"But here's my trouble. I only served a year of my term, getting off for good behavior. And when I got out, I got a job, and have worked up in it so I get a good salary now. But girls seem to be off me on account of my past. I fell in love with Mary, and I figured it was only fair to tell her about my mistake. But oh, boy! Did she drop me when I did? She did . . . and how!

"And now I've fallen in love with Anne, who is a lovely girl, and comes from a splendid family, and I am almost sure that she loves me. Must I tell her, too, of my past, and risk losing her? I have paid for my mistake, and struggled back to decency, and I feel as if another throw-down would drive me mad. Must I keep on paying the rest of my life, because I once was a weak sap? Or would it be okay to marry Anne without telling her?

"Please help me. I sure need it. And thanks a lot.

"LOUIS—Ex-Con."

Shall you tell? That's up to you, kid. I might, in a less serious matter, tell you what's sensible—or what's sappy. But I can't, in this case, tell you what's right. For it all depends on what you think is right.

There is no law of rightness for all people.

What's right for you may be wrong for me.

If you think you're in honor bound to tell this girl the truth about yourself, then you'll be two-timing yourself if you don't tell her.

If, on the other hand, you think that your past is your own business . . . if you feel that no one has a right to judge your life since no one can live it for you . . . if you feel that you paid in full and settled the score . . . then it's your right to keep that secret to yourself.

Personally, were it my past, I'd keep it to myself. I'd say to myself—"You can't undo what you've done. You can't erase the pain it caused. And even the year in prison can't pay for that shame and pain. But you can do this: Because you were foolish, you can be wise. Because you were cruel, you can be kind. Because you were a wicked, wasteful fool, you can be gentle and intelligent and controlled. And because you were wrong yourself, you can be infinitely more tolerant and merciful to other sinners. You can do these things and it's your duty to do them—for it's the only way you can even the score."

That's what I'd say to myself, if I had a past (and who hasn't?). Then, having said it—I'd keep my mouth shut. And—if the past were discovered—what then? Why, then I'd feel that it was still my business, and that no one had a right to judge me . . . if I were living it all down.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

'Poking' at the Ear Is Dangerous

What to do for the minor accidents of life is something everybody should know. The baby gets an object up his nose or ear, one of the family gets something in his eye, or some other painful accident may happen — any one of these experiences calls for judgment and skill at a moment's notice.

It is not uncommon to get a foreign body in the ear. It creates a disagreeable sensation. Probably nothing is more distressing than getting an insect in the ear, and yet how easily that accident can happen. No matter how small the insect is, it can make a lot of trouble.

Nature has provided a safeguard in the form of the sticky odorous earwax. When an insect gains entrance to the ear the feet and wings just naturally get entangled in this substance. This usually prevents the insect from reaching the eardrum. If an insect ever does crawl far enough to reach the drum membrane the effect is maddening. The loud noises made are overpowering. There is such pain, with headache and vomiting, that convulsions are sometimes caused.

The thing to do at once is to pour sweet oil or olive oil or sewing machine oil into the ear and let it remain for a few minutes. Insects are quickly killed by this means. Then the ear should be gently irrigated with a stream of warm water from a fountain syringe.

When an object like a bean or pea, or any wooden object is found in the nose or ear do not use water in attempts to remove it. This would cause the object to swell.

The thing to do is to take a camel's hair brush of small size, dip it in collodium or glue and apply it to the object. Let it dry for a moment and then you can remove the object by pulling on it very gently. Sometimes adhesive plaster will serve just as well when used in a similar manner.

There is no cause for alarm, even if the object remains in place for several hours or a day or two. In the case of a child he should be soothed into thinking no harm will come from it. It may be disagreeable, but it is nothing to be frightened over.

2 MORE HELD IN MARRIAGE RING

MARION, Ind., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Jack Scott, 22, and Fred Hostettler, 25, were arrested here in connection with an alleged matrimonial bureau postal fraud revealed Monday by the arrest of five persons.

Scott and Hostettler were implicated by George Shriver, of North Bend, Neb., a patient in the Grant County Hospital, who said he came to Marion Sunday to marry Mrs. Oda Lippens, one of the five under arrest. He said he knew Mrs. Lippens as "Roxie Chaney" and had given her more than $70 on her request. Shriver became ill soon after his arrival here.

NEW PANTAGES TRIAL OPPOSED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Attorneys for Alexander Pantages, theater magnate convicted of assault, have filed their reply to the state's petition for an Appellate Court hearing on its recent order for a new trial.

The answer defended the court's retrial order and went to considerable length in answering the state's arguments against testimony bearing upon the character of the prosecutrix, Eunice Pringle. It defended the Appellate Court's opinion such evidence should have been admitted.

Permit Asked to Recall Watchman

Application has been made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the Public Service Commission for permission to discontinue gates and a watchman at the Hulton road crossing, Oakmont and substitute a flashing signal.

Lights Cigaret, Gas Blast Follows

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—A gas explosion which occurred when he struck a match to light a cigaret, caused injuries to Jean Atwood, 21, Chicago, which physicians believed might be fatal. Firemen said Atwood, who was employed by a motor freight company and stopped in Charleston last night en route to Chicago, apparently failed to entirely close a gas jet in his room.

Brooklyn Builder Slain by Gunmen

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Two men last night shot and killed Ruggiero Consiglio, 45, a well-to-do building contractor of Brooklyn, and wounded his brother, Arthur, an insurance salesman. The slayers escaped.

The shooting was the third of the week in the Bath Beach district of Brooklyn.

Find Ancient Idols In Honduran Ruins

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Archaeologists working in the ruins of the ancient city of Copan have found a large number of old stone idols supposed to be Mayan gods. The scientists say their discovery will aid in solving many mysteries connected with Mayan civilization of bygone centuries.

Jury Acquits Man In Death of Girl

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Carl McCune, 37, was acquitted of murder charges in connection with the assault and slaying of 9-year-old Evelyn Lee last spring. The jury was out three hours.

The girl's body was found in a woodland along the eastern city limits of Des Moines.

U. S. OPENS QUIZ IN BANK FRAUD

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The New York American says that an investigation has been started before the Brooklyn Federal grand jury into charges that a Brooklyn politician had attempted to obtain between $50,000 and $100,000 from some of the directors of the collapsed City Trust Company to prevent their indictment.

The paper says that the charges laid before Howard W. Ameli, United States attorney in Brooklyn, are that about the time the extraordinary grand jury began its investigation, which resulted in the indictment of 13 directors and employes of the City Trust Company, the politician sent envoys to several of the directors with a message that he would halt the indictments on payment of $5,000 from each director.

LOAN MEN URGE BUSINESS UNITY

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 9.—(AP.)—A plea for co-operation in business and between individuals in time of local, state and national emergencies was made by R. Holly Myers, Los Angeles, president of the United States Building and Loan League, in speaking before the fifteenth annual convention of the West Virginia State Building and Loan League. Other speakers included Charles Wilcox, president of the Allegheny County Building and Loan League, Pittsburgh, and William E. Best, Pittsburgh, first vice president of the national association.

The addresses were delivered at a banquet at which Robert A. Douglas, Chester, W. Va., presided as toastmaster.

The convention closes today with election of officers. Eighty-eight delegates from 44 associations were in attendance.

Pittsburgher Goes To Job Aid Meeting

A. B. Keller, industrial manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, is in New York representing the chamber at a national conference on community and industrial plans for employment security and stabilization. The conference is held under the auspices of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Ideas brought out at the gathering may be utilized in efforts of the Pittsburgh chamber to effect a plan for regulation here, Keller said.

Medicos to Banish Cold, Clammy Clasp

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The cold and clammy hand now may be changed to one capable of a warm handclasp, the Southwest clinical conference was told by Dr. L. G. Rowntree, Rochester, Minn.

The change, he said, is effected by cutting two little nerves that lie along the spines of persons whose hands and feet are cold. Persons with arthritis or bone fever also may be benefited by the operation which increases the blood supply in the afflicted regions.

Peru Issues Decree Establishing Divorce

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The government has issued a decree establishing a divorce law.

Peru thus becomes the second South American country to recognize divorce, Uruguay being the first to have such a law.

Hogan, N. Y. Catcher, To Explain Stabbing

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Francis "Shanty" Hogan, catcher for the New York Giants, was to appear in West Side court Friday to tell how he was stabbed by a Negro elevator operator.

Two stories were told police. Hogan said the Negro, Joseph King, attacked him with a ball-bat and knife. Hogan's two friends corroborated this story. King said that Hogan made an insulting remark and then attacked him.

GUARD THAT LOVELY SMILE

IT MEANS so much to animation, to youthful charm. And how surely it depends upon healthy teeth and gums! But how will you decide the best way to care for your teeth and gums? There are so many conflicting theories—dozens of different dentifrices. What is right? ★ ★ E. R. Squibb & Sons asked a prominent research institution to make an investigation among 50,000 dentists in order to obtain their answers. Read the summary of the replies received:

95% of the answers stated that germ acids most frequently cause tooth decay and gum irritation.

95% of the answers agreed that the most serious trouble occurs at The Danger Line, where teeth and gums meet.

85% stated that the best product to prevent these acids from causing decay and irritating the gums is Milk of Magnesia.

What stronger proof could there be that Squibb Dental Cream will safeguard your teeth and gums? For it is made with more than 50% Squibb Milk of Magnesia. ★ ★ Try Squibb's. HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM GOSSIP; COMING THEATER ATTRACTIONS

Little Theater Groups Plan Big Things This Season

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WHILE the big playhouses occupy the attention of the average playgoer, the average playgoer is mostly unaware that Pittsburgh is blessed with at least four Little Theaters with very ambitious programs. The oldest of these is the one fostered by the Dramatic School of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, which has a fine auditorium, a well-equipped stage, expert guidance, and usually a good roster of students to draw on. Here Shakespeare, Ibsen, Lope de Vega, Moliere, as well as more modern dramatists have been put on in recent years, and a new season is about to open. That dynamic Russian actor and director, Boris S. Glagolin, is coming back to Pittsburgh next week, and will launch another production at the Institute, which ought to arouse widespread interest.

George Seibel.

Next to the Carnegie Little Playhouse, the Playhouse of the Y. M. & W. H. A. in Bellefield avenue has done notable work, and will shortly open a new season with a production of "Ned McCobb's Daughter," by Sidney Howard, a Theater Guild play. Frank and Helen Stout are again in charge of these activities, so that good stage settings and intelligent acting may be expected. Last season this playhouse produced Glagolin's "Golem" in a fashion that still is being talked about.

Shaw, Galsworthy, O'Neill, Andreyev and such dramatists have been seen on this stage, along with modern successes like "Beggar on Horseback."

IRENE KAUFMANN PLAYERS

Meanwhile a new auditorium with a perfectly equipped stage has been added to the Irene Kaufmann Settlement on Center avenue, and they are planning very ambitious things up there. Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" will be the opening play on October 21.

This group has been organized with Walter H. Framer as president, Morton Nusbaum as vice-president, Eleanor Frank as secretary, and Dorothy Maretsky as treasurer. Louis Isaacs will be the director, and is to be envied for having a stage with every modern device in the way of lighting and other effects. The auditorium holds 625.

Tea being the universal lubricant, these Irene Kaufmann Players are pouring it with great egularity and inviting stage celebrities to make addresses to young people in the group. Here are not only aspiring actors, but embryo playwrights, costume designers, make-up artists, stage hands and even critics. They are enrolling new members and students all the time.

UP IN WATSON STREET

Then there is the Little Theater up in Watson street, which is sponsored by Lewis H. Abel, and is trying to build a miniature Greenwich Village close to downtown Pittsburgh. The "Greenroom Club" of this aggregation is to foregather next Sunday evening at the Hollywood Restaurant to discuss "Pittsburgh, the Theater Town."

With a children's theater, a musical comedy club, a radio department and various other side lines, this Little Theater has a full season's activities blocked out. It has a total membership of 2,500. "Mary the Third" will be the first production on October 31, "Liliom" later.

But these organizations by no means exhaust the amateur or semi-professional groups in Pittsburgh. There are at least a score of dramatic clubs and groups doing commendable work. Among them is a German opera bouffe company which does not hesitate to put on things like "The Merry Widow" at the Moose Temple on Penn avenue.

Nearly every high school also has dramatic groups, which sometimes go in for novel and original forms of entertainment.

There's the Oliver High School of Brighton road, for example, which is going to celebrate the two thousandth anniversary of Virgil's birth on Octobr 15 with a marionette show of "The Wanderings of Aeneas." Lottie Claire Scott has written the play, the puppets are being designed and made under direction of Marian A. Sutch, and the whole thing is being done by students and teachers, working with the Latin department.

So our little theater groups in various ways keeps up interest in drama, educating audiences for the big theaters which the average playgoer thinks are all there is to the Theater.

Emsworth Parents, Teachers to Meet

The Emsworth Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the public school auditorium to hear the report of the summer roundup by Mrs. Walter Leitch. James Potts, assistant professor of physical education, University of Pittsburgh, will speak.

(Being a bit from WABC "talkie")

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, and those who used to like me, but are not so sure any more . . . Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks will sail for France the latter part of next month, thus stifling the recent talk that they were weary of each other. . . . Ethel Barrymore is in a new show, appearing in blackface. Well, Ethel can appear in all the blackfaces she likes, but she'll never be as good as Bert Williams.

Schneling is the only important fighter whose picture is not included in the official Madison Square Garden Program . . . The Oscar Hammersteins (she was Dorothy Blanchard Jabson) are anticipating a blessed adventure . . . As are the Messmore Kendalls (she was Kitty Flynn), who are thrilled because their child will have someone to tease.

Sunday night, via Collier's Hour, Helen Hayes, the star, went gay, and gave the dramatic critics a piece of her pretty mind . . . Preceding her was Commissioner-General of Immigration Hull, who remarked that he was trying to solve the unemployment sitch-e-ay-shun, and thought that a good idea would be to bar from the country hod-carriers, actors and bricklayers.

Miss Hayes said that she was glad Mr. Hull had placed actors between dramatic critics.

Some of us would like to wager that Helen was toying with her husband's pet hobby. He is Charlie MacArthur, who is always teasing critics. At any rate, maybe Helen really was angry, because her current starring show (which is partly owned by her mother) was received in the lukewarm manner by the reviewers. As one of them I want to warn Helen that no matter how far away they exile me, I shall continue to adore her acting. And I hope that all her children become dramatic critics—so that they can live in style.

Here is a miniature story. In the middle of the St. Lawrence River, opposite Alexandria Bay, is a monument to America's "greatest heartache." A New York man, who owned what was once the most famous hotel in the world, built a seven-million-dollar castle there for his young bride. He imported distinguished painters, artists and others to decorate the place, which wasn't finished.

She ran away with his chauffeur.

It appears that my clown crack of last week concerning Al Jolson was taken to heart. . . . I wondered if Jolson would work on Yom Kipur at the Capitol Theater, considering that "The Jazz Singer" film revealed him as an orthodox Hebrew boy who quit the show in that flicker to observe the holy day. The picture was said to be based on his life, you know . . . Well, Al, they tell me, told the Capitol audience that day he had been up all night wondering what to do about it, and that he decided to work and make people happy, instead of roaming the avenue like a hypocrite.

I'm sorry. I take it back. My error. I didn't know that Al worked at the Capitol to make people happy. I was under the impression he worked to get that $20,000 salary, so I apologize. . .Now that I know Al likes to make people happy, I wonder if he will appear for Heywood Broun and myself at the Broadhurst Theater this Sabbath night, where a grand program is being arranged. . .

Most of the proceeds will go to charity, and the Catholic Actors' Guild, the Jewish Theatrical Guild, the Episcopal Guild, the N. V. A. and the Actors' Fund of America. . .Not only will Jolson make the Broadhurst crowd happy with a song or two, but I feel sure he will make the recipients of the money happier. . .And if he sings for us, he can have the pleasure of slapping my face right before the audience, which, anyone'll tell you, certainly will make a lotta people happy.

Among other safe predictions to make is that within 18 months there will be but two moving picture companies in America . . . Lillian (Luana) Bond was divorced from H. Schulman in Chicago several months ago . . . The Nathan Aschs (his last book was "Pay Day") had the handcuffs melted in Paris . . . Heywood Broun and Don Seitz, formerly of the N. Y. World, clashed at the Newspaper Men's Club the other night . . . Seitz rapped the tabloids, and Broun championed them . . . Broun also defended the columnists, who were under the Seitz fire.

I am sorry that Heywood disgraced the craft with a defense . . . getting indignant gets you nowhere . . . I prefer getting laughs . . . I certainly wouldn't want to swap my luck with Don Seitz . . . Not by a don seitz!

Edna Ferber, the novelist, feels wretched because Corey Ford said things about her in a rag recently . . . She considered a suit, they say, but I prefer to believe that Edna was merely terribly, terribly hurt.

Sunday night I published that Alice Kenny married a Britisher in England the day before . . . Every paper two days later confirmed the sealing. This, of course, makes my job exciting. . . The Associated Press reported that they were "quietly married" . . . It was so quiet that the A. P. man in London heard it 48 hours after some of us knew it in N. Y.

Harry Hershfield, the creator of "Abie Kabibble," and one of the local favorites, will be toasted Saturday evening at the Commodore by thousands of well-wishers. They are giving Harry a big dinner.

Have you ever noticed that they never give a guy a dinner until he can afford to buy one?

VETS TO HOLD REUNION HERE

"Pittsburgh's Own" fighting unit in the World War, the 111th Infantry, will hold its annual reunion here November 9-10-11. A parade on Armistice Day will draw hundreds of veterans from the tri-state district and from many other states.

George Murray, vice chairman of the 111th Infantry Veterans' Association has been named general chairman of the reunion, which begins on Sunday preceding Armistice Day. He will name committees at a meeting next Wednesday, and the place for the annual Armistice banquet will be selected. Wives and mothers of veterans will be recipients of special entertainment during the reunion.

The regiment took part in several of the most severe engagements in the war, and was in the front line trenches, only 100 yards from the German foe, in the Thiacourt sector, when the peace pact was signed.

Highway Engineers Guests Here Monday

Eighty highway engineers from Europe, South America, Australia and the United States will attend a banquet in the William Penn Hotel Monday night. They will be guests of the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh. Pennsylvania will be represented by James Lyall Stuart, secretary of highways, and Samuel Eckels, chief engineer of the Highway Department.

The visitors will inspect the Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel Company Monday morning, have lunch at the Chamber of Commerce and inspect county highways and bridges in the afternoon.

Women Arranging Y. M.-W. A. Dance

A barn dance is being planned by the women's activities committee of the Y. M. and W. H. A. for Sunday evening. Mrs. Frank ertheimer, head of the affair, will introduce Adolph Roth as master of ceremonies. Several clog dance numbers will be given by Rosalind and Hannah Rosenthal. Assisting Mrs. Wertheimer will be Celia Gilman, Freda Dines, Celia Stern, Olga Friedman, Jeannette Leebob, Leah Simon and Mildred Shayer.

PROLONGS LIFE OF SILK HOSE

All women will be interested in the recent discovery of a leading New York fashion expert. She learned that besides perspiration, all next-to-skin garments absorb an oily excretion from the sebaceous glands that causes silks to rot.

Soap and water cannot dissolve this destructive oil film—it requires a solvent like Energine. So when next washing silk hose or lingerie, add a tablespoonful of Energine to a quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash thoroughly—rinse well—and note the new fresh cleanliness—see how magically the original color is revived and with far less rubbing. You can't appreciate how much soap and water fall short till you make this Energine test. More wear, too, from every pair of hose. And don't forget that millions use Energine daily for quick removal of dirt and grease spots from suits, hats, dresses, gloves, shoes, etc. Large can 35c. Get Energine today.

Burning Stomach Torture 3 Years

Misery Ends Quick With New Prescription, ACIDINE.

"For the last three years I have been bothered by food souring, causing a burning sensation, that at times I felt like jumping in the river," says Mr. E. J. Moore, Cincinnati, Ohio. "I tried innumerable medicines, consulted a stomach specialist, but no relief. Finally I heard about ACIDINE and got some. No more burning or sour belching and vomiting, no headaches. ACIDINE is wonderful."

Similar reports from all over rave about this amazing new prescription that succeeds where others fail. The reason is that ACIDINE is entirely different. Contains the marvelous digestant called Japtase. In laboratory experiments Japtase has been tested on certain starchy foods which cause so much stomach distress. It digested 800 times its weight of such foods in only 30 minutes!

Five other ingredients in ACIDINE instantly neutralize burning acid, soothe irritated stomach lining, stop gas and headache from acidity. No other remedy contains this scientific combination to end acid stomach.

Don't risk serious and more painful troubles. Get ACIDINE from your druggist today. Costs only a few cents. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink, and smoke all you want. Results guaranteed. Maker gives money back if not delighted.

Thick, wavy hair!

You, too, can have long, soft, abundant hair. It's simply a matter of using this easy method; approved by hair-specialists; endorsed by stars of stage and screen; used by millions who haven't time for the more laborious treatments.

Tonight when you arrange your hair, just put a little Danderine on your brush. Then as you draw the bristles through your hair, see how the scalp is toned and soothed. See how the hair becomes softer, easier to manage; how its natural color is brought out; how it takes on new brilliance and lustre!

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; helps stop falling hair; keeps hair and scalp healthy; encourages the growth of long, silky, abundant hair. Five million bottles used a year. That proves Danderine's effectiveness!

Why should you let housework spoil your hands?

YOU ask any beauty editor. Look in the magazine and newspaper articles. You'll find "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly recommended all the time to keep the hands soft.

Follow the advice of those people who know. Apply "Vaseline" Jelly to your hands at night and wear old cotton or silk gloves. When you manicure your nails, wrap a little cotton around a dull orange stick, dip it in the Jelly and work back the cuticle.

These two easy things will make a world of difference in the looks of your hands. We all have to wash dishes, and dust furniture, or pound typewriters or work in gardens. But our hands need not advertise the necessary toil to the world. Lay in a store of "Vaseline" Jelly and use it freely. Get a jar today just for your own personal use. Don't delay.

Dorothy Mackaill to Play In Screen Adaptation Of 'A Lost Lady'

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.

After lying in the files for about two years, Willa Cather's "A Lost Lady" will at last be produced by First National.

Dorothy Mackaill will portray the ardent heroine, considered by many to be Miss Cather's finest character.

Dorothy Mackaill

In all likelihood, the picture will not go into production until after January. It may not even be Dorothy's first under her new contract. But the story is definitely assigned to her.

Several years ago, "A Lost Lady" could not have been produced without fundamental story changes. Now, with the broadened viewpoint which has come with the talkies, it can be told substantially as Miss Cather wrote it.

LINQUISTS POPULAR

Catering to Europe's curiosity about the film capital Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is producing a revue, "Seeing Hollywood."

Adolphe Menjou, speaking German, will be master of ceremonies, and Frank Reicher will direct.

It is planned to include shots of "Henrys," "The Montmartre," "The Roosevelt Hotel," "The Brown Derby," and other rendezvous of the film stars. Cameras also recorded a portion of the opening of "The Big Trail" at Grauman's Chinese.

This film adds a fourth language to Menjou's repertoire since his return from Europe. He has made other pictures in English, Spanish and French.

VACATION ENDS

Janet Gaynor starts tomorrow on "The Man Who Came Back." This will be the first work she has done at the Fox studio since February 12, when she went on strike. Charlie Farrell, her old-screen partner is with her again, and Raoul Walsh directs.

HOLLYWOOD:

One of the Janet Gaynor boys in the publicity department of a certain studio recently introduced a friend to his superior. He sang his friend's praises.

The next week, he had an argument with his boss and was fired. As he started out the door, his superior called out:

"Say, ——, what's the telephone number of that fellow you introduced me to last week?"

GETS CONTRACT

A long-term contract has been given Myrna Loy by Fox.

So ends a period in which the player's fate hung in the balance.

She was gaining prominence at Warners when the movies found their tongue. Talkie roles came to her, but her career had lost momentum. For a while, it appeared as if she might fade away with a number of other silent favorites.

Recently, however, she has had several good roles. It was her work in "Renegades" which won the Fox contract.

Won't Cut Hair Until Dry Law Is Repealed

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 9. (AP.)—Al Preusser, of Red Bluff, his long hair and longer beard waving defiance at prohibition, strode into Federal Court, pleaded not guilty to a liquor charge and was acquitted after a brief trial.

It was the third time he had faced liquor charges. On one occasion he was convicted and served a six months' sentence.

At the time prohibition became effective, Preusser declared it "wouldn't last long." He asserted he would not shave or cut his hair until the law was repealed. His hair falls to his shoulders and his beard already has passed the two-foot mark.

WHY ETHYL GASOLINE?

A PLAIN STATEMENT OF FACT

1 Ethyl Gasoline is a superlative quality motor fuel. It is a simple fact that no matter how good any grade of gasoline is, the addition of Ethyl fluid is bound to improve its anti-knock quality.

2 Public demand. More Ethyl Gasoline is sold in the United States than any other single brand of motor fuel. The marketing of Ethyl Gasoline by practically all of the major oil companies in the country is, therefore, simply meeting a public demand.

3 Ethyl Gasoline came into existence as the result of development in motor fuels in the Research Laboratories of the General Motors Corporation. Its purpose is to permit the use of higher compression and therefore more efficient motors. It is endorsed by practically every automobile manufacturer in the United States.

4 The cost of Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline to the public is three cents a gallon above the price of motor gasoline. Any statement to the effect that any brand of non-premium motor gasoline is equal to Atlantic Ethyl Gasoline is contrary to fact.

EARNSHAW COPS SERIES FOR A'S

IF CONNIE MACK had not numbered among his defensive assets such a phenomenal pitcher as George Livingston Earnshaw, there might have been a chance for the National League to regain the world baseball championship this year. Otherwise, the Cardinals shaped up sufficiently well in comparison with the Athletics to appear strong enough to make an even fight of it, which they did in the first four games. But that one item, Earnshaw's pitching, was the factor that ultimately led to the undoing of the Redbirds and caused the world title, by a count of four games to two, to remain on the American League side of the fence, where it appears to have taken up a permanent residence.

George Earnshaw

Above all the other players who participated in the series on either side, towers the mighty figure of Earnshaw. If ever one man dominated a diamond derby and brought victory to his club and his league by his own individual efforts and brilliance, the big righthander of the A's did it on this occasion. Not since Christy Mathewson shut out the Athletics three times in six days in 1905, pitching his third triumph after only one day's rest, has any moundsman risen to the heights reached by the Mackian ace in 1930.

DOUBTS AS TO Earnshaw's form were expressed by even American League partisans when the series opened. He had not been himself for several weeks, it was said, and the A's faced the none-too-encouraging prospect of having to make the fight with only one dependable hurler in the person of Bob Grove. But if Earnshaw was not right for the series, it is sad to contemplate what would have happened to the National Leaguers if he had been at his best. Probably he would have pitched every game from the start and wound up the argument in four games.

As it was, he gave a series of exhibitions that leaves no room for doubt as to his being the greatest pitcher of the present day, and there are many who will dispute any claim that he was excelled by any pitcher of any other baseball era. Though he is credited with but two of the Mackmen's four victories, the two others being marked up in favor of Grove, Earnshaw really was the star performer in three of the triumphs.

IT WAS ONLY his wonderful slab work for seven innings in the fifth game that kept the Cards from gaining a winning lead behind the shutout pitching of Burleigh Grimes, and made it possible for Grove to breeze through to the decision in the final two innings.

But for Earnshaw's great hurling for the first seven innings, the Redbirds would have been out in front with the game sewed up before Grove ever stepped in. Grimes' pitching that day was of the kind that wins nine times out of ten, and only an Earnshaw could have beaten him.

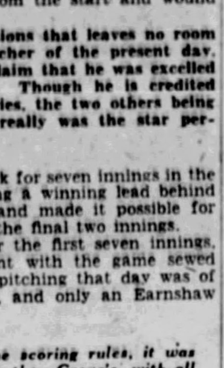
SO IN EVERY way, except under the scoring rules, it was Earnshaw's victory on that occasion rather than Grove's, with all due credit to the latter for his splendid two-inning finish after pitching a full game only the day before. And upon that victory probably hinged the series, as the clubs were deadlocked at the time and a win would have put the Cards ahead by one game and the lead at that stage meant practically everything. That performance, after his 6-to-1 victory in the second game, would have been a full share for Earnshaw in the series, but, to top it off, he came back yesterday after only one day's rest and won the series with another exhibition that would have beaten any club in creation.

EVEN WITHOUT CONSIDERING the iron-man qualities he showed, Earnshaw's pitching deserves a place of its own in World Series history. His three games would have to be classed as brilliant standouts even if he had enjoyed a full usual period of rest, instead of working three times in seven days, with his last performance separated by only a single day for recuperation.

In a total of 25 innings, or almost three complete games, big George allowed only two runs and 13 hits, and struck out 19 men. Until the Cards made their only run of the final game in the closing inning, Earnshaw had given them only one tally in 24 rounds, and from the second inning last Thursday until the ninth yesterday he held them scoreless through a straight stretch of 22 innings. He simply wasn't human.

THAT KIND OF pitching is not to be beaten in a World Series or at any other time. And Grove was not far behind Earnshaw. The left-hander had the smiles of the fates in winning the opener, but with clean support he would have had a 1-to-1 tie instead of defeat going into the ninth inning of the Sunday game, which he lost, and he was perfection again when he came back for the last two innings on the following day.

The Cardinal pitching in four games—two by Grimes and one each by Bill Hallahan and Jess Haines—was of a high order, good enough to win four decisions and the title in any average World Series, but against the matchless brand uncorked by Earnshaw and Grove, the first named in particular, it was only wasted effort.



Lefty Grove

ACCORDING TO THE ancient baseball theory that a pitcher can only be as good as his catcher, heaps of credit must be given to Mickey Cochrane for the superb work of Earnshaw and Grove. A pitcher may have everything and yet be ruined by faulty handling and defective work behind the bat. Earnshaw and Grove never were in danger on that score. From start to finish Cochrane handled them like the master he is, steadied them over the rough spots and got out of them in every inning the best that they had. Aside from being a constantly feared force on the offense, his great backstopping played no small part in the Athletics' triumph.

IT WAS A pitchers' series almost throughout, with the hurlers having the edge on the hitters most of the way. Right through to the final game, the Cards, though defeated, were in front in club average. Even at that they batted only .200 for the six games against .197 for the A's, far below normal for both sides. The Cards made only 38 hits and the Mackmen only 35.

With few exceptions the star hitters of both clubs were held

GEORGIA TECH ARRIVES HERE TOMORROW

By JESS CARVER.

Little drops of water mingled with various and sundry little grains of sand combined to put somewhat of a crimp in Carnegie Tech's practice yesterday as the Scotch went through their next-to-the-last stiff workout previous to the ball game with Georgia Tech Sat'day.

Murray Armentrout

Despite the inclement weather, Bob Waddell gave the boys a right strenuous workout. He's been polishing and polishing the offense this week, until now it shines like a new dime (you know how a new dime shines, or maybe you've heard tell).

A feature of the work this week has been the sudden ascendancy of Murray Armentrout as a kicker. Army always could do about as many things right as any halfback, and now he's getting a lot of leg behind the ball and bootin' 'em out of the park. With McCurdy, Slats Flanagan (who is back in uniform), John Karcis and Josephus Morbito all able to boot, McCurdy, of course, being the star of the lot, the addition of Armentrout to the kicking staff gives the Tartans as fine an outlay of pigskin maulers as will be found in any man's collech.

TECH DUE EARLY

Georgia Tech's cohorts will arrive in town at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow mawning and will be quartered at the Fairfax Hotel. The Yellar Jackets will practice in the Stadium in the afternoon. Coach Bill Alexander will fetch three full teams here, with one or two spares besides. Looks like quite a tornado.

I mentioned above that Slats Flanagan was back in uniform. Slats has a trick knee, which was in pretty bad shape, and he wasn't expected back on the squad so soon. His return was welcome, for it gives the Skibos a set of about six ding-dongish halfbacks.

Plans Shifted

Whitey Walinchus and Franklin Hood will again be in the Pitt Panther backfield when the whistle blows to start the game with Western Reserve at Cleveland Saturday.

Coach Jock Sutherland's plans to change his lineup and put Josh Williams and Jimmy Clark in the backfield appear to have been abandoned.

This gives Pitt two backfields to use in Saturday's game. Rocco Cutri or Zola Alpert will relieve Capt. Eddie Baker at quarter when Sutherland makes replacements.

The starting backs will be War-

World Series Seemed Like Endurance Contest--Altrock

By NICK ALTROCK,
Famous Baseball Humorist.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—The World Series is all over, just as I warned you. It only took six games to decide the winner, but the Cards should not feel bad. When you consider the way the National League entry has been knocked off in four straight games or five at the most during the last three years, this year's World Series seemed like an endurance contest.

A'S HIT HEAVILY

Wild Bill Hallahan was Gabby Street's ace in the hole yesterday, but Connie Mack started the game with an open-end straight. Old George Earnshaw was on the rostrum for the A's, and he held the Cardinals inside their gilded cage, right where he left off the other day. A couple of home runs by Dykes and Simmons were enough to decide the series anyway, because the Cards didn't shove over their only fun until the ninth. Those Athletics have not pried many basehits off St. Louis pitchers this series, but they have certainly managed to get a lot of four-ply clouts. In fact, the A's have been whamming out homers since this epic started as if they were aspirin tablets, with two to be taken after each noon-day meal.

The boys were in there for the money in yesterday's contest. The difference between each winner's and loser's share was only about $1,500, and you know what a ball player will do for that amount. Why, for $1,500 extra, Gabby Street would guarantee to catch an umpire who was thrown from the top of Washington monument.

But it is all over now, and the A's will pocket $5,000 a piece as soon as Judge Landis makes up a suitable presentation speech. The Cards didn't do so bad, copping $3,500 per athlete, but considering they did not drop the series in four straight, according to an old National League custom, they ought to be voted the difference out of the ancient league's treasury.

Of course, Al Simmons and Jimmy Dykes pecked homers off the St. Louis delivery, but the big hero of yesterday's contest was the official scorer. When Gabby Street saw the life blood ebbing from the series, he started inserting pinch-hitters faster than the boys in the press roost could jot them down. All together, 16 men got into the Cardinals' lineup, and it wouldn't have surprised me if Gabby had called on Sam Breadon to bat in the ninth.

BOTTOMLEY BUST

They will not erect any equestrian statues in St. Louis for what the Cardinal batters did to the A's, but a perfect bust of this series would be Jim Bottomley. Jim has spent most of this season as the Cards' clean-up man, but he batted in the present World Series like his contract had expired on September 28. All the experts were watching him through their microscopes, but the best Jimmy could do on 22 trips to the plate was sock out a lonesome two-bagger.

He was all right covering first base, but a cigar store Indian would have been more threatening when it was Jimmy's turn at the bat. But anyway, the series is now over and the A's are welcome to the winner's share. Everybody in the United States knows they have got $5,000 apiece extra and they will put in a busy winter answering doorbells for Fuller Brush salesmen and guys that want to let them in on an oil well from the ground floor.

Personally, I am taking my cut of this World Series dough and giving it to my broker in exchange for my shirt.

Pitt Contest Tickets to Be Mailed

Tickets for winners in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's all-time Pitt football team contest not already sent out will be in the mails before the end of this week.

The tickets for the opening game with Waynesburg and the season tickets were the first to be mailed.

Pitt does not play at home again until it meets Notre Dame at the Stadium, two weeks from next Saturday, so that the winners will have their pasteboards for future games in hand well before they are needed.

EARNSHAW HERO OF TRIUMPH OVER CARDS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

"Earnshaw"—there you have the outstanding echo of baseball's annual championship, which saw Connie Mack's Athletics crowned as monarchs of the sport for the second season in succession.

Simmons, Cochrane, Foxx, Dykes, Grove—they were all great, but the strong-armed righthander from Swarthmore College came out of the October classic of this year in such a heroic manner as to merit a place alongside of Matty, Jack Coombs, Chief Bender, Babe Adams, Deacon Phillippi and other great pitchers whose fame in the national sport is secure.

It might be lese majeste to suggest that Earnshaw be put out in front of some of the luminaries just mentioned, but when we consider that Earnshaw reached the hall of fame under the handicap of a "rabbit ball," we might be constrained to set him on a separate pedestal. He defeated the Cards, 7 to 1, in the finale yesterday.

REAL ACHIEVEMENT

Unless the ball were changed before the series started, Earnshaw's feat is a standout among similar achievements. In days of old the umpire could carry enough rockets on his person to complete a ball game and still have a couple left at the finish. Now the balls are thrown to the pitcher in profusion and, judging by the home run output, the spheres are much livelier than when the stars of bygone days were achieving their fame.

Earnshaw will not go into history as a winner of three battles, but in the estimation of many who watched him through the competition, the big fellow literally won three battles.

George won the second game of the series without much trouble, he allowing one run. His next appearance saw him tangled with Burleigh Grimes through seven runless rounds. He then rested one day and went back to cop the sixth and final game. In all he pitched 25 innings and allowed just three runs. He worked 22 rounds without allowing a tally.

GROVE GIVEN CREDIT

So any story dealing with the triumphant march of the Athletics must be built around the big righthander, who was ready at the beck and call of Cornelius McGillicuddy. No slight is intended for Robert Moses Grove when this is written. Grove deserves all the encomiums written around his feats, but who will say that Earnshaw did not tower above any star of the fights that brought more honor to the McGillicuddy coat of arms?

The inter-league mixup was not long under way before it gave

DUKES' ADVANCE SQUAD ARRIVES IN CHICAGO

BLUFF ELEVEN TO WORKOUT TONIGHT

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN,
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Night Riding Dukes of Elmer Layden, battle-bound for the North Side haunts of Loyola University, puffed into LaSalle Street Station here this morning as advancing day swept the lake mists from the canyons of the Loop. Met at the depot by formal escort of motorcycle police, the flying squadron of the Red and Blue taxied the broad sweep of Michigan boulevard and Sheridan road in brave array, traversed Chicago's famous "Gold Coast," and eased to rest at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, the vaulted corridors of which shall ring with many a Bluffite song and cheer between now and the dawn of Saturday.

Twenty-three players and two student managers comprise the Hilltop advance cavalcade led into Windy City quarters by Head Coach Layden, a day ahead of the remainder of the squad and the horde of Pittsburgh rooters slated to arrive on the Duquesne special train tomorrow. Two complete teams, plus Ted Todd, an extra halfback, are on deck and will take it easy today ere deploying under the floodlights of Loyola Stadium for final pre-bellum workout early this evening. Then a good night's sleep, another session of time-killing, and at last comes combat with vengeance-bent Ramblers, still smarting under 1929 defeat from the Steeltown host on the Forbes Field lot.

LOYOLA PRIMED

First dope to be gleaned from Chicago contact is to the effect that Loyola stands primed and ready, confident of reversing the verdict of a year ago. A powerful Maroon attack, in which fast stepping is leavened by frequent resort to the aerial game, is counted upon to prove the undoing of the long-heralded Eastern invaders. The Loyolans are banking heavily upon the loss from Hill ranks of Buff Donnelli, Duke kicking hero of the past four seasons and now numbered among the legions of the alumni, to reduce the caliber of the Pittsburgh charge and to slip the Chicagoans an advantage by virtue of the excellent booting of their brilliant triple threat halfback and co-captain, Moloy.

All of which listens quite reasonably to one who has not beheld the general speeding up that an added campaign has brought to the Duke running assault.

It is possible that opportunity will be granted the visiting performers today to tour the numerous points of interest about the town. Many of the boys hope to take in a bit of the "Chicago Day" demonstration, billed as an epochal event in the civic annals of the Western metropolis. A monster parade is planned to commemorate the historic fire of October 9, 1871, and to rejoice in the massive city that has risen from the desolate ashes of a sorrowing prairie village of 59 years ago. William Randolph Hearst will be guest of honor of the occasion.

DUKES TO REST

But Mentor Layden, 'tis understood, will be most chary of granting tick of leave to his proteges. The Duke tactician's objective in shipping his top flight and second string elevens here nearly two days before the hour of the fray is that his followers may enter the struggle at the very zenith of condition. Hence, gadding about before the contest is largely taboo and the peace and quiet of hotel and hotel grounds along the lake front appear to be the order of the morn.

The Bluff coach has thus far been reticent as to his starting lineup for tomorrow night's affair. Whether or not his "shock troops" will be allowed to adhere to recent precedent in answering the inaugural whistle has yet to be disclosed, but certain it is that the first wave will be chosen from the vanguard this moment entrenching at the Edgewater Beach, scarce a mile from the ramparts, turrets and battlements of the Maroon citadel:

Ends, Pratt, Abele, Murphy and Dudzak; tackles, Kemp, O'Donnell, Venneri and Donahoe; guards, Co-Capt. Clark, Ferrare, Amann and Folio; centers, Lally and Silverstein; quarterbacks, Devenny and McCarthy; halfbacks, Co-Capt. Benedict, Burns, Todd, Trambley and Cristina; fullbacks, Kovalcheck and Cristina.

Madge Reinstated By State Board

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—(INS.)—Two boxers were suspended for indefinite terms, another had his license revoked and three others were declared ill and unavailable at the regular weekly session of the State Athletic Commission here yesterday.

Joseph Kuhns, of Reading, and Jack Comfort, of Long Island, were the two battlers to be put on the sidelines for an indefinite term. Red Delp, another Reading boxer, lost his license.

Larry Wagner and Gabe Wallace, both of Philadelphia, and Frankie Rapp, of Camden, N. J., were ruled unavailable until they fulfill existing contracts.

James L. Dean, a referee from Shenandoah, Pa., tendered his resignation and it was accepted.

Fight Results

At Newark, O.—Nordi Smith defeated Tommy Ryan, 10 rounds; Ray Ganshaw knocked out Billy Monroe, 1 round; Ernie Payne and Bud Delancey drew, 4 rounds; Munk Rutin defeated Red Kirk, 4 rounds; Mutt Shotts and Young Genaro drew, 4 rounds.

At New York—Jimmy Sullivan and Consie Josenio drew, 8 rounds.

At San Francisco—Paul Negri knocked out Jerry Carpentero, 2 rounds.

At Oakland, Cal.—Gene O'Grady decisioned Frankie Tucker, 10 rounds.

KUHEL TO WED

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Joe Kuhel, first baseman for the Washington Senators, obtained a license yesterday to wed Miss Willette West, Kansas City.

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

TO BARNSTORM

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig will barnstorm again this fall. The Yankees will play with teams in New Jersey and at Providence, R. I.

Long's Sport Comment

below their customary averages at most stages of the proceedings. It was greater driving power that gave the A's the advantage on the offensive. They made long hits, while the National Leaguers specialized in singles.

THAT GREATER POWER at bat looks to be the one big angle that gives the American League an edge on the National. The younger league gained a two-year jump on the senior body in starting to round up men who could hit the ball far, in preference to the players who could be expected generally to deliver only singles, and the difference never was better illustrated than in the series just ended.

Though held to an average of less than six hits to a game, the American Leaguers made them count by getting distance. Of their 35 hits, more than 50 per cent went for extra bases, as they included six home runs, two triples and 10 doubles. That's a total of 67 bases on 35 hits, or practically double value. The Cards made only 13 long hits out of 38, their extra-base clouts including only two homers, one triple and 10 doubles.

THE REDBIRDS GOT a total of only 56 bases on 38 hits, or 12 bases fewer than the A's got on 35. In the first and last games of the series, the White Elephants made a World Series record by going through two complete contests without making a single. Every one of their hits in both contests was good for extra sacks. In the first event they made two homers, two triples and a double, and in the sixth they got two homers and five doubles. In the first game they scored five runs on five hits, and in the sixth they scored seven runs on seven hits, which is just about the last word in getting full value for hits. They had the ability to come through with a long hit after bases on balls or errors had put the runners on bases. The difference in the pitching was that when the Cards had similar opportunities, Earnshaw or Grove generally struck out the next batters.

A QUEER MIXTURE of form reversals in the series was Frankie Frisch, of the Cardinals. His reputation as a great money player caused him to be picked as a probable star when the fighting began, but though he started out at an impressive clip in batting, he fell into a slump after the series shifted to his own grounds and his fielding also became ragged. Frisch's error on Wilson's throw when Haas attempted to steal second in the eighth inning Monday had a tremendous bearing upon the outcome of that game and possibly upon the result of the series itself.

Mickey Cochrane

Haas was the first man to get as far as second base against Grimes, and had he been retired, as he should have been, Burleigh would have been kept out of the jam which made him bear down so hard that he weakened in the next inning, with fatal results. Besides the batting order would have been changed around in the next inning, and with the pitching altered to suit different conditions, Jimmy Foxx might not have hit that homer with one man on. Frisch still insists that he held the ball after touching Haas and that Umpire Geisel erred in calling the runner safe, but that's all part of history now.

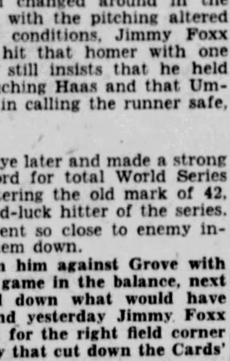
FRISCH RECOVERED HIS batting eye later and made a strong finish. In addition to setting a new record for total World Series hits by boosting his figures to 45 and bettering the old mark of 42, held by Eddie Collins, Frankie was the hard-luck hitter of the series. Three times blazing liners from his bat went so close to enemy infielders that the latter were able to pull them down.

First Max Bishop took a triple from him against Grove with two runners on the sacks and the opening game in the balance, next in the second game Jimmy Dykes pulled down what would have been an easy double against Earnshaw and yesterday Jimmy Foxx smothered another smash that was headed for the right field corner with two on and turned it into a double play that cut down the Cards' last rally.

WORLD SERIES TRIUMPHS by the American League continue to mount at a rate to make the National League look sorry in comparison. This makes four times in succession the junior body has won the big series, and of the last 19 title games played, the National has won only three.

This is the third time the American League has captured the stakes four years in succession. The other instances were from 1910 to 1913, inclusive and from 1915 to 1918 inclusive. The National League has won only 10 out of 27 series, and only six of the last 21.

THOUGH NO SYSTEM of generalship could have availed much against Earnshaw's great pitching in the series, Gabby Street's system of directing his club left considerable to be desired and made the job of retaining the title easier for the A's. It was a mistake to start Flint Rhem in the second game when Jess Haines was available, and Gabby erred again in failing to take him out for a pinch hitter in the second inning when there was an opportunity to get some runs and it was clear that Rhem was going to have a bad day. The system of continually swinging at Earnshaw's pitching instead of trying to tire him out by shifting the attack to bunting tactics occasionally also looked to be faulty. The worse blunder was keeping Jim Bottomley in the clean-up position in the batting order until the sixth game, when it was apparent to every onlooker from the start that he was a handicap instead of a help to his club in that important position. Bottomley was the batting goat of the series. In 22 times at bat he struck out nine times, batted only two balls out of the infield and made only one hit, for the emaciated average of .045, which is the zero World Series record for a clean-up batter.



Frank Frisch

THIS IS THE fifth time that Connie Mack has won the world title. He has been defeated in only two post-season series in a total of seven in which his Philadelphia clubs have participated.

In a total of 36 World Series games against the Giants, Braves, Cubs and Cardinals, Mack's warriors have won 21 and lost 15. When beaten, Connie's team lost as decisively as they won on other occasions, as in 1905 they were shut out four times by the Giants, and in 1914 they dropped four games in a row to the Braves. The A's have never gone the limit of seven games in a series and this year marked only the second time they went as far as the sixth game before reaching a decision.

CLAIRTON BOYS IN DOUBLE WINDUP

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Two Clairton youngsters who have been out of the amateur ranks only a short time make their bow in main events at McKeesport tonight. They are Eddie Hebner and Johnny Warner, both fine looking prospects. The former, a lightweight, tangles with Eddie Brannon, hard-hitting Negro, of the Hill, and the latter with Dan Billick, of Duquesne, in 10-round battles.

Eddie Brannon.

Promoter Jim McGirr is shooting for some new cards in his district to increase interest in the sport there and through it the gates for his shows. Naturally, he would like to see both Clairton products come through.

In the two six-round bouts that complete the program, McGirr has Gus Britner, of Charleroi, facing Joe Bazone, of McKeesport, and Marty Gornick, of McKeesport, in with Johnny Brown, of Lawrenceville. The prices have been reduced for the show as an added incentive for the fans.

Between Rounds

Promoter Appies Meyers reports increased interest in his third show of the season, in the Moose Temple, tomorrow night, when he will have the field all to himself, with the dog races at New Kensington closed and the Dukes playing their night football game against Loyola at Chicago. Both of these counter attractions have hurt the Moose gate in the shows held thus far. Appies has a double windup listed tomorrow night, with Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, and Larry Madge, of Cleveland, in the main event, and Johnny Kmagery, of Canonsburg, and Jimmy Reed, of Erie, in the other 10-rounder.

Emmett Reeve, the Ellwood City heavyweight, is training hard in an endeavor to redeem himself in his 10-round windup against Tom Heeney, of Australia, at Motor Square Garden next Monday night for his reveal defeat by Tuffy Griffiths in Detroit. Reeve, who, in his last start around here, at the Meyers Bowl, a few months ago, batted the winning streak of Patsy Pitrone, believes he can take the measure of Heeney, who recently drew down a decision over George Panka at the Meyers Bowl. Emmett is gunning for a match with Panka and knows he must beat Heeney or Tom will be back with George.

Danny Russell, Baltimore welterweight, who did some boxing around here last winter, is back in Braddock and will fight under the management of Bunny Buntach this winter. He is anxious to take on Ted Yarosz, Tom Malco, or any of the other 147-pounders.

Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, boxes Freddie Fitzgerald at Franklin, Pa., tonight. Andy Tomosky, of Wilmerding, and Joe Boler, of Erie, are in the semi-final.

Other bouts carded tonight include: Izzy Grove vs. Ignacio Ara, Havana, Cuba; Roger Bernard vs. Leo (Kid) Roy and Tuz Phillips vs. Morrie Sherman, Detroit; Angel Chiville vs. Billy Tonk and Ricardo Allis vs. Eric Holmberg, New York; Joey LaGrey vs. Charley Sapko, Brooklyn; Harry Ferry vs. Eddie Provor, Yonkers, N. Y.; Ernie Carser vs. Sherman Brown, Philadelphia; Pussy Walker vs. Lou Hardcastle, Egg Harbor, N. J., and Frank Baldi vs. Johnny Walker, Keene, N. H.

Acting for Charley Luck, matchmaker, who has a death in his family, Bill Dumser has closed for Joey Thomas, of Chicago, to box Soldier Dombrowski, of Detroit, in the main bout of the opening show at the Etna Elks' Temple next Wednesday night. Georgie Bretsch and Georgie Peck, North Side welterweight rivals, will box the eight-round semi-final.

Motor Boat Races Under Way Here

Motorboat racing was revived today along the Monongahela, where a series of races was staged, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The program was part of the River Mardi Gras being held in connection with the first anniversary celebration of the nine-foot river stage. Other festivities are programed on the steamer Greater Pittsburgh during the remainder of the week.

MACKS RETAIN WORLD TITLE

indications of developing into a pitchers' series. And Mack had only two sharpshooters on whom he could rely. Gabby street, on the other hand, had five or six hurlers who might have acquitted themselves in a highly capable manner.

Perhaps the Redbirds could have taken the Athletics in a long stretch of games, in view of the galaxy of first-string pitchers hossed by Mack. And maybe Mac's second-choice flingers were better than the National Leaguers think they were.

PITCHERS BEAT BATTERS

Much will be written about the impotency of the batters in the classic. But it would be a baseball paradox, would it not, if you could write pages about good pitching and good hitting in the same set of games? In the last analysis, it was a story of great pitching and not one of poor hitting. The pitchers had the upper hand, and the averages speak the truth in this particular case.

Connie Mack was full of praise for the victors and vanquished. He paid especial praise to Earnshaw and Grove before and after the games, and he was sparing in his acclaim for the defeated club. And, more to the point, perhaps, so far as National Leaguers are concerned, the Athletics proved themselves fine sportsmen all the way.

PHILLY JOYFUL

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—Philadelphia whooped it up for the world champion Athletics yesterday.

As soon as word of the 7-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals reached the central city section, confetti and ticker tape began to fall in great showers from buildings between Eleventh and Fifteenth streets and Spruce and Pine streets.

A number of impromptu parades were held on Market, Chestnut and Broad streets and at every street corner groups of fans were gathered, slapping each other on the shoulders and singing the praises of big George Earnshaw and Connie Mack.

It was the greatest evidence of "baseball-mindedness" and enthusiasm that this city has shown for years. No such demonstrations marked the winning of the championship last year, when the A's ran rough-shod over the Chicago Cubs.

The celebration had all the earmarks of spontancity and all the frenzy of extreme delight.

CARD FANS CALM

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—St. Louis baseball fans took what happened in Philadelphia yesterday with such calm as to give the impression that the element of surprise was entirely lacking. Happenings of the last few days had convinced even the most rabid of Redbirds' backers that George Earnshaw and Robert Moses Grove know considerable about fooling hostile batters, and with Earnshaw and Grove ready those who entertained an idea that the Cardinals would win the needed two in a row, were decidedly in the minority.

Until the last man was out, however, radio listeners-in consoled each other, "But you can't tell, the Cardinals have come from behind all year."

Post-Season Trophy Shoot Carded Today

The outstanding trapshooters in the district were entered in the post-season shoot which got under way at the Wilkinsburg Gun Club today. More than $1,000 in prizes will be distributed. A 100-target shoot under the Lewis class system also was on the program.

The City League interscholastic football schedule gets underway a day earlier this week as Schenley and South tangle in a feature battle at Langley today. Tomorrow, in Section I, Peabody meets Allderdice. In Section II, Perry clashes with Allegheny, South Hills meets Langley, and in an intersectional battle Carrick plays at Westinghouse.

The Schenley-South affair is attracting no little attention, in as much as South appears to be somewhat of a dark horse. The Washabaugh-coached eleven upset all the dope last week by defeating Peabody, and the fine showing made by the team against Langley indicates that the eleven must be reckoned with.

Schenley, Westinghouse and South are tied for the lead in Section I. A victory for either the Bellefielders or South today will put them in undisputed possession of the lead, as Westinghouse is idle. Schenley, defending league champion, with a heavy line and a ding-dong backfield, rules a strong favorite.

The Section II race has been more or less apathetic to date, with only one tie game having been played. Tomorrow, however, two old rivals will meet as Perry and Allegheny hook up. South Hills, tied by Allderdice in an intersectional fracas, does not figure to find Langley easy in the section game on the card.

A trio of night games will enliven the program for tomorrow night. North Braddock and Clairton meet in what looms as the feature tussle of the card. Last year, Clairton won by a 6-0 score, and marched on to the W. P. I. A. L. title. Both elevens are considered formidable contenders for this year's title, and the game at North Braddock tomorrow may make or break the season for either team.

Charleroi, after beating Catholic High 27-6 and holding Harding High of Aliquippa even, takes on Sharpsville. Bellevue, with a reputably strong eleven, invades the stronghold of Phil Bridenbaugh's New Castle eleven for the third noctural struggle.

Stowe High will dedicate its new athletic field tomorrow afternoon with Braddock High furnishing the opposition. The field is one of the finest and most complete in the district, with a baseball diamond and six tennis courts included. The gridiron is so laid out that it does not touch any portion of the baseball diamond.

King Jupiter Pluvius put a crimp in the activities of the Independent Gridi on Conference last evening when the scheduled Burns-East Pittsburgh battle was called off by Manager Jimmy Smith, of the up-river club, and rescheduled for this evening.

Several changes have been made in the rosters of the teams in the conference. Manager Freddy Iverson, of the Olympics, is not content with his club, and after Tuesday night's practice dropped Williams, Hirshberg and Detweiler. He has replaced these with Edwards, Woodward and Rice.

Iverson reports the squad in excellent shape for the game with the Mystics on Sunday. Pat Comorre dashes under the wire with the name o' F. Rhoades, former West View star lineman, and the Aliquippa policeman will be in the game against the Tube City club.

The Homewood Club will stage its first indoor night game against the Lawrenceville Mohawks in the Hunt Armory, East End, Saturday night.

A'S JUST TOO STRONG FOR CARDS—MACK

CONNIE HANDS CREDIT TO EARNSHAW

By CONNIE MACK,
Manager of World Champion Athletics.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—The Athletics may be pardoned if they feel proud just now.

Just as I felt would happen in coming back from St. Louis on the train, the Athletics were fighting madcaps yesterday and won their only easy game of the series by downing the fighting Cardinals for the fourth time and thereby capturing the world championship for the fifth time and the second straight year.

I take off my hat to the Athletics for their skill, fighting qualities and spine in this series, which ended in six games.

George Earnshaw sustained a stone bruise late in the pennant season and this leg bothered him a great deal during the last three innings, which accounted for the great right-hander being wild at the finish. His arm, however, was just as good as it was when he started the game.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES

On the return trip from St. Louis I had a big problem to solve. I had to sink or swim with Earnshaw and Grove for the rest of the series.

Earnshaw had pitched seven hard innings on Monday, while Grove had worked two innings on the same day.

I talked with both pitchers on the train and both volunteered to pitch. After a conference, it was agreed that if Earnshaw felt all right, he was to start the game, and, in case of any necessity, Grove was to keep his arm limbered in the bull pen and subject himself to an emergency call.

Grove is famous as a finisher and I felt that in midgame or after if we had a one or two-run lead that I could safely substitute the left-hander for Earnshaw without taking the slightest risk. As it turned out, Earnshaw was airtight, just as he was on the other two afternoons he pitched, and it was never necessary to take him out. In all my years in baseball I have never seen two pitchers more willing to work at all times than this master right-hander and this king of left-handers.

They won the World Series for the Athletics, each capturing two victories, and pitching every day with the exception of Saturday's game in St. Louis, when Walberg, Shores and Quinn performed.

GREAT PERFORMERS

They will go down in World Series history with their names linked with Mathewson, Bender and Combes as great performers on the peak.

They cannot receive too much credit. They won the eighth American League pennant for me, and followed it up with brilliant success in the World Series.

Mickey Cochrane handled both pitchers as only Mickey can handle them, and his bat was a big factor in our winning.

Simmons and Foxx also came through with dramatic distance hits that proved them to be the mighty crashsmiths that they are.

Jimmy Dykes and Bing Miller, who had not done so much in the hitting line in the first five games, made themselves felt in the final game, and it was their stormy extra-base blows that gave us a big lead in the opening inning.

Boley never looked better at short. He was always steady and his clean stops in pinches were a big help to us. It was mighty hard for St. Louis hitters to get the ball by him.

Max Bishop, when not hitting, was getting his usual bases on balls, and was constantly putting the Athletics in a scoring position.

George Haas played his usual captivating game in center, although he was not his true self when it came to batting.

PLAYERS ENTHUSIASTIC

The players all gave the other player full credit for his part in the great victory. Every member of the team received a ringing cheer from the players and never have I seen ball players so enthusiastic, as they had a right to be.

I was too overcome to tell them what I thought of them, but I did remind them that they were still champions of the world.

While I have mentioned the names of all my regular players, there is another unit in our machine which must not be overlooked.

I am referring to Capt. Eddie Collins, my able lieutenant, who has been a source of encouragement and inspiration to my players throughout the playing season and the World Series, and who was a big factor in our double success of the year.

I cannot finish this article without paying a tribute to the fighting qualities of Gabby Street and his players.

LAUDS CARDS

They were beaten, but went down fighting. I knew they would give us a lot of trouble, and I was not wrong, for this series was one of the hardest-fought in history.

The Cardinals played game up to the hilt and were gentlemen, to boot. I have every respect for them and so have my players.

Gabby Street handled his team like a master. I cannot point to one tactical mistake made by him. It was not his fault that the Cardinals lost the big title.

The Athletics were simply too strong for them.

It wasn't as exciting a game as I looked for after the comeback of the Cardinals in St. Louis. Something made me think that they had another kick left in them and that they might tie up the series again. But Earnshaw was unbeatable, and an occasional run here and there made up a one-sided score without anything like a real batting outburst in any inning. Two hits was the limit for either team.

MY 30 YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK, MANAGER OF WORLD CHAMPION PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

INSTALLMENT NO. 28.

During the season of 1906 the Athletics made some changes. Lave Cross was released and Simon Nicholls, who afterward died, took his place.

Jack Coombs, who was to glitter for me as a pitcher, also joined us. After winning the pennant the previous year, the best we could do was to finish fourth.

Connie Mack.

The White Sox carried off the 1906 pennant and dazed everybody by defeating the Cubs in the World Series.

When I saw I had no chance to win the pennant I commenced to try out young players. I became convinced I would have to get a lot of young blood on my team.

I started in 1901 with a lot of veterans who were all right at the time and helped me win two pennants, but they now were beginning to show signs of wear and tear because of advancing years. The players of the 1901-05 era, with some notable exceptions, had to be displaced, and I kept on the outlook at all times for suitable players who had years ahead of them.

At the start of 1907 I acquired Outfielder Rube Oldring and also swapped Jack Knight, the high school boy, to the Red Sox for Jimmy Collins, who had managed Boston and played third base with rare success.

REBUILDS CLUB

Knight was a product of Central High School in Philadelphia and did good work for me. I regretted to part with him, but believed the experienced Jimmy Collins would do better.

Jimmy played excellent ball for me that year, although suffering with an injured knee. As detailed in the previous chapter, Eddie Collins also joined us after being graduated from Columbia.

The 1907 American League pennant race was a thriller and not decided until a day or two before the close. With the Athletics and Tigers almost neck-and-neck the pivotal series was fought in Philadelphia late in September.

The two teams were booked to play three games and it generally was conceded that the winner also would be the pennant victor.

Detroit won the first game, 4 to 3, and the next afternoon a doubleheader was booked.

The late Wild Bill Donovan pitched for the Tigers and Jimmy Dygert for the Athletics at the start of what was to be a double bill.

Donovan started badly and the Athletics were off to a good lead. Dygert weakened in the second inning, however, and was replaced by Rube Waddell, who had not been pitching much that season.

GAME IS THRILLER

Starting the ninth, the score was 8 to 6 in our favor and enthusiasm was high. The first Tiger up was Sam Crawford, and he hit Waddell for two bases. Then Ty Cobb lofted the ball over the right field wall for a home run and the score was even. I quickly dismissed Waddell, and Plank got the side out without further trouble.

The game went into extra innings, and in the eleventh inning the Tigers tabbed a run, but the Athletics came right back in their half and reknotted the score. The fans knew now that it was a desperate battle.

It must be told here that the crowd was so large that many thousands were placed behind ropes in the outfield, and it was agreed that balls hit among spectators would count as two-base hits.

In front of the ropes, policemen were stationed at intervals to keep the crowd under control.

In the fourteenth inning, Capt. Harry Davis, of the Athletics, hit a liner into left center. Both Outfielders Crawford and Jones chased it, but could not get close enough to it to catch the ball. The ball went on and dropped among the spectators behind the ropes.

DECISION COSTS PENNANT

Waves of cheers swept across the field, for the fans realized that Davis had made a two-bagger under the rules and victory was in sight. But something happened.

Detroit players began to surround Silk O'Loughlin, the chief umpire, and Athletics players followed. After 10 minutes of wild gesticulating, O'Loughlin ruled that one of the cops had interferred with Crawford and declared Davis out.

As Dan Murphy, our next hitter, came through with a two-bagger, the Athletics would have won the game and championship had it not been for this technicality.

The great crowd was in an uproar and the noise increased when the rally ended without anybody bringing in Murphy.

There were wild scenes to the end of the game, which was called on account of darkness at the end of the seventeenth inning, with the score tied, 9 to 9.

Had Detroit lost this game, it would have left Philadelphia in second place, so the ruling was a shock to us all.

MACK'S TOUGHEST "BREAK"

I always will insist that in my long career this was the toughest decision ever made against a club with which I was connected, for it cost us a pennant.

The cop, as well as many of the field spectators nearby, took affidavits that there was no interference. The ground rule was made for just such a situation, and how interference could be claimed is beyond me.

We made a sharp protest with league authorities, but, as the controversy involved an umpire's judgment, it was not sustained. Hundreds of Philadelphians and business organizations sent their protests to President Johnson in Chicago, but in vain.

We lost the 1907 pennant by the slim margin of six points, so it is easy to fathom how devastating this arbitrary ruling was to us.

It made a sour finish to an otherwise glorious season.

YANK SCHOONER LEADER

ABOARD U. S. S. HARRIET LANE, OFF GLOUCESTER, Mass. (By Radio), Oct. 9.—(INS.)—By the narrow margin of six minutes, 12 seconds, Gertrude L. Thebaud, flying the Stars and Stripes, led Bluenose, the Canadian champion, at the half way mark in the first of the best two out of three international fishermen's races for the Sir Thomas Lipton cup.

At the 18-mile mark, the end of the first of the two circuits of the triangular course, the time was, Thebaud 12:29:59, and Bluenose 12:36:11.

Both schooners were forced to make another short hitch to make the mark.

It simply wasn't in the Cards for St. Louis to win, but it was a better shuffle than last year . . . . Put down Jim Bottomley at the bottom of the deck as the goat or joker of the series . . . . And Earnshaw earned his spot as the ace hero . . . . What to do with Grimes? Well, call it tough luck, and let it go at that . . . . Only thing that could have saved the Cardinals yesterday was rain, and they were all wet without it.

By the way, what became of the "Mr. Big" when Prime Carnera dropped that one to Shamus Maloney in Boston the other night? . . . They had Maloney tagged as all washed up and probably didn't figure he needed any fixing. . . . And to think that the N. B. A. ranks Carnera and Stribling ahead of Jack Sharkey, who merely has to say "boo" to beat Maloney and has taken Stribling into camp! . . . Ol' Jupe Playing, who laid off the World Series, put a damper on the Burns-East Pittsburgh Firemen football battle last night. . . . In other words, the Firemen did not play with Burns. . . . Dirty work at the crossroads is suspected in the hashing of the works on the final night of the dog race meeting at New Kensington last Saturday, which resulted in the calling off of the last three races, including the Derby, with the largest crowd of the meeting on hand. . . . The rabbit went bad once and was repaired and then, shortly after the start of the Derby, broke down again, and, as it was close to midnight and Sunday morning, there was nothing else to do but to cancel the remainder of the card and pay back all of the money wagered on the feature race. . . . Officials of the meeting think they see the fine Italian hand of some disgruntled employe or former employe behind it all. . . . Anyway, the series of mishaps ruined the night and the best and biggest race of the meeting and tossed a wet blanket on what otherwise would have been a hurrah windup. . . . Are Women Really Inferior to Men?

Science upsets many of the popular beliefs about women's inferiority. Here is a woman being tested for sensitiveness and emotion.

MEN have always said: "Women are inferior to men—can't stand physical hardship—are more timid than men—more sensitive to pain—display more curiosity, more modesty, greater intuition." But—science upsets these popular beliefs about women's inferiority—they are by no means the "weaker sex." Science says women display less curiosity than men, less intuition, and less natural modesty.

Science says women are not as calm and long-suffering as they are supposed to be: they are more easily annoyed, more irritable than men but not as temperamental. Science proves that many of the traditional sex differences are really almost the exact reverse of what everybody has assumed. Read the astonishing facts next Sunday in The American Weekly.

CARDS BEATEN BUT NOT DISGRACED—STREET

GABBY PRAISES EARNSHAW AND HIS MATES

By GABBY STREET
Manager, St. Louis Cardinals

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—We were defeated in the World Series by a great club, but we were not disgraced. Connie Mack has one of the finest teams ever put together. It is one that is especially hard to beat on its own field. It seemed to play with more confidence at Shibe Park than when we beat them two games out of three in St. Louis.

Gabby Street

I thought that I had a great club, but the Athletics, by their victory, proved better. The American Leaguers were favored by the breaks in several instances, it is true, but in the final game yesterday afternoon George Earnshaw, though making his third start, pitched another great game. He held us to two runs and 14 hits in 25 innings and proved the outstanding pitcher of the series. He showed fine speed and a great curve ball. He seemed to weaken a bit in the ninth inning, but not enough to do us much good. And at that time, we were working under a handicap of seven runs. A fine catch by Foxx of a line drive from Frisch, which was turned into a double play, kept us from getting more tallies in that fine inning.

CARDS NEVER QUIT

I gave the Athletics the best we had, when I sent Bill Hallahan to the hill in the sixth game. But Hallahan evidently had not had enough rest. He was wild, and when he did get the ball over the Athletics batted him hard. Syl Johnson and Jim Lindsey also were batted hard.

But we did not quit. We fought the Mackmen until the last man had been retired. That is shown by the way we tried to rally in the final inning. We just met a club that was better—at least in a short series, such as the world championship struggle. Over a season's play, there probably would be little difference between the two clubs.

One thing which impressed me forcibly during the series was the sensational pitching. Hurling on both sides was sensational, with Mack showing two real stars in Earnshaw and Grove. Then I also had some fine exhibitions by Hallahan, Haines and Grimes, it was a great series and the Athletics know they have been through a fight.

GELBERT SHARES GLORY

There were several stars in the series and there was one on my team. He was Charley Gelbert, the young shortstop, who did everything that could be expected of a player, especially in a world championship. He handled 28 chances cleanly and several of them were truly sensational. Then Frank Frisch made a wonderful stop in the last game, when he went far back on the grass to stop Cochrane's smash and follow with a fine throw to Bottomley to Bottomley to catch the catcher by ren Heller at left, Whitey Walinchus at right halfback, Hood at full and Baker at quarter.

On the line Eddie Schultz has been assigned an end position and the other end will be Rip Collins. Quatse and Tully at the tackles, Hart Morris and Lewis at the guards and Daugherty at center will be starters as usual.

Duquesne Set

Elmer Layden and the main body of his football troops are in Chicago today and will drill there tonight under the lights in preparation for their battle tomorrow night with the Loyola. The remainder of the Duquesne party, including the rest of the footballers and the students who are accompanying the boys to the Windy City, will roll out of here tonight on a special train

Loyola figures to be about as tough a test as the Dukes will meet in their tussling this fall. The Chicago eleven was nosed out 7-6 last year in a hectic battle at Forbes Field, thanks to Buff Donnelli's accurate place-kicking toe. Buff is among the missing this year, and his absence has been felt already, especially against West Virginia, where some Donnelli-like kicking might have saved the day.

Georgetown gave Loyola quite a kicking around last week, bruising both muscles and feelings. Some wide awake football on the part of the locals tomorrow night and it may be two in a row on the whiskers for Loyola, and any laxity of drive on the home boys' account and Coach Elmer and his laddies may see more stars than adorn the skies they'll be playing under.

The Duquesne freshmen eleven, which started its season by knocking off Bellefonte Academy, meet Potomac State Normal at Keyser, W. Va., tonight.

Coach Buff Donnelli took a squad of 27 players to Keyser for the game, which is expected to furnish the Dukelets with a stiff test.

TWO BRILLIANT HURLERS BEAT CARDS--RUTH

By BABE RUTH,
Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—I have taken so many swings against George Earnshaw on days when he had the speed and control which he showed yesterday that I know just how those Cardinals must have felt. They must have known in the second or third inning that they were up against too much of a task. After that it was only a matter of hustling and hoping. But it was a forlorn hope.

Babe Ruth.

To men who play in the American League Earnshaw's work in this series has been no surprise. Nor was it any surprise when he came back yesterday after pitching seven great innings in St. Louis Monday and having only a day of rest in between. He is a horse for work and when he has his control the other team has to come close to shutout pitching to have a chance. When the A's came through with three runs for George in the first three innings I figured it was all over. I want to say the Cardinals have no reason to hang their heads over anything that happened in this final game and series. I said before the series that I would not be surprised if the name of either Grove or Earnshaw would be found in every box score. I missed it by one game, as neither one figured in the third game of the set.

TIRED IN NINTH

It was plain in the ninth inning yesterday that Earnshaw was tiring, and it was no wonder. In a World Series a pitcher puts everything in every pitch, never knowing when trouble will break loose. Earnshaw was in a position yesterday to ease up after the fourth, but he kept on bearing down and I figured he might not last. When you pitch as he did for seven innings Monday you need a little more rest than one day between games.

That is true of the average pitcher, but I guess everybody will agree that Earnshaw is some degrees above this rating.

Connie Mack will be taking no chances. He didn't want the game to go against his team and carry the series into another game, even though this would mean many thousands of dollars to his club. Connie, as you know, is more than a manager under salary. He owns a half interest in the Athletics. But he worked overtime to win yesterday, sending Grove to the bullpen in the first inning and keeping him warmed up all through the game. Mack knew there would be hints and charges that the players were letting it go to a seventh game and he made sure that there would be no occasion for such talk.

DYKES COMES THROUGH

I was glad to see Jimmy Dykes come through with his home run and his double, as well as a walk which figured in th A's run-making. Jimmy is a great ball player, and he keenly felt the error he made in St. Louis which settled a game for the A's. He also was getting the laugh for chasing a runner back to second, but he laughed last and best. I wanted to see Jim Bottomley come through with some hits yesterday afternoon, as I appreciate how downcast a fellow becomes when he is in a hitting slump. If it happens in a World Series so much more emphasis is placed on the failure. But Jim couldn't make the grade. When Hallahan walked two men in the first inning I figured he would not go far. Bill has to have control to be effective, and a pitcher without it won't get far again this team of Connie Mack's. The pitchers who followed did their part well enough, but when a team is as helpless as the Cardinals were against Earnshaw, such pitching is worthless.

For Hard Coughs That Call For Super-Help

Creomulsion is made for coughs from colds that hang on. For coughs deep and difficult—coughs where you dare not risk a less effective help.

But careful people use it for coughs which seem milder—use it to do the utmost and be safe. For nobody knows where a cough may lead.

Creomulsion combines seven major helps in one. Some coughs yield best to one help, some to another. Doctors often differ on the best help for coughs are not alike. So here we combine all the best—to be sure.

Creomulsion stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and made palatable. For soothing membranes and combating germs, it is considered the supreme help in this type of cough.

But other helps are sometimes needed—pine tar, wild cherry, menthol, ipecac and others. Nobody can tell to which help your cough will soonest yield. So experts have combined in Creomulsion all best helps in one. No narcotic, nothing harmful to a child, but a seven-way help to deal with all conditions.

The price is $1.25—a little higher than a lesser help. But your druggist guarantees it. Your money is returned if it fails to bring the quick, complete help you desire. Don't you think it worth that little extra to be sure that you are doing the utmost for a cough?

TRADE UPSWING RESTS WITH CONSUMER

Wall Street Group Holds Government Mistaken in Bolstering Production

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Business recovery rests with the ultimate consumer, rather than with the producer.

A group of modern Wall Street bankers, who understand the psychology of merchandising, thinks the government, through the Federal Farm Board and otherwise, has made a mistake in bolstering the activities of producers. If the government desires to intervene, they insist, it could get more tangible results by helping the consumer. One specific suggestion was that the government make available from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 for financing suburban residential developments at very low rates of interest, under careful supervision. As a matter of fact, consumer relief would stimulate trade more than producer relief, but the wisdom of tapping treasury funds to quicken recovery is open to serious question.

M. S. Rukeyser

The so-called overproduction springs in part from consumer psychology. Excessive capacity will of course be reduced as soon as the consumer feels more venturesome. The business problem now is to break the vicious cycle of depression.

TO CAUSE TURN

One thoughtful investment banker, in chatting about this question, said that the turn will come from the present tendency of consumption to run along evenly while production has been reduced to a subnormal basis. This, he believes, is making shortages of inventories, which will inevitably lead to quickened industrial operations and a turn in the volume of business and in sentiment. The banker was referring to consumption goods, such as clothing, shoes and foodstuffs. He pointed out that consumption, in spite of the ups and downs of business, continues on a fairly even keel.

He placed automobiles and residential buildings in a different category, which he chooses to call intermediate goods. The subnormal activity in those two trades, he says, springs from current disobedience on the part of consumers to the law of obsolescence. In other words, for the time being, they are willing to use old houses and partly worn out cars. He believes, however, that consumers will again obey the law of obsolescence when they are assured that the business outlook is better. Accordingly, he expects general business—the manufacture and distribution of consumable goods—to precede a pick-up in the sale of intermediate things, such as homes and automobiles. The third class of goods is called production goods—plants, and factory equipment, which are made not for use, but to facilitate further production. The demand for such goods, he points out, springs not from the inert 120,000,000 Americans, but from a select class of 10,000 executives, who are more sensitive to prevailing moods and fashions about prosperity and depression.

LESSON OF DEPRESSION

Paul M. Mazur, Wall street banker, who in his books urged executives to approach business from the consumption side, instead of from the Fordized angle of mass production, sees three lessons from the depression, namely the unalterable law of consumption, which varies little through the years, apart from the long term upward trend; second, the so-called fallacy of shutting out goods by tariff and thus curtailing the market for our own production; and third, the danger of artificial price valorization schemes.

Hartley Withers, British economist, viewing the worldwide recession through spectacles, thinks that central banks of the world have disturbed conditions. He asserts:

"That 'want of wisdom' on the part of the world's banking authorities, which has heaped up gold and sterilized it in America and France, seems to have been a devastatingly serious mistake."

Among the non-monetary causes of the depression Mr. Withers lists war in China, political unrest in India and Egypt, the absence of Russia from the commercial map, lack of confidence in England owing to increased taxation aimed exclusively at the wealthy, and the everrising tariffs with which the "world's wisest rulers constantly obstruct the course of international trade."

PLANS FOR EXPANSION

Those in the confidence of Sidney Z. Mitchell, guiding factor in the Electric Bond and Share family, report that he feels that nothing in the economic picture beclouds the essential importance of electric service as a factor in present day civilization. Accordingly, he is making plans for future expansion and development, undeterred by passing business and stock market conditions.

Those with a taste for common stocks can acquire them at a discount of 20 per cent below prevailing quotations by accumulating with some discrimination shares of general management type investment trusts.

Sudden Rise May Stampede Pessimists

—By B. C. FORBES—

RECALL WHAT happened when the boom ended last year. Many were caught unawares and suffered severely.

Many will be caught unawares one of these days and will have to pay for their excessive pessimism. When prices have been forced down to abnormal they can rise just as suddenly as they fell when they had been forced to abnormal heights.

Mr. Forbes

STOCK PRICES are not the only prices which may shoot up without warning. The probability is that the first punishing of bears will be witnessed in the stock market. This may come any day.

What guarantee is there that wheat will not suddenly rebound, causing a stampede among those who have sold short on the short-sided assumption that the whole world is going to the dogs and that wheat will suffer most of all because of Russian dumping, a menace which has been fantastically exaggerated?

What guarantee is there that cotton will continue to sell almost 20 per cent under the 1913 average, notwithstanding that all commodities are today selling 20 per cent above the 1913 average? That cotton will long continue so far out of line is unthinkable. It cannot and will not.

What guarantee is there that copper will not leap up from the unprofitable 10-cents quotation without notice? Large consumers, engulfed by the current tide of pessimism, may have to pay dearly for their infantile lack of foresight and courage.

What guarantee is there that rubber, sugar, silk, tin, flour, coffee, or other basic commodities now selling very low will not also suddenly turn drastically against buyers who have been swept away by the deluge of despair which has overrun the country?

What guarantee is there that merchants who have allowed their assortment of goods to become unduly depleted will not find themselves in an extremely awkward predicament when reason supplants unreason?

Wall Street has an old adage, "The crowd is always wrong." Assuredly the crowd was wrong when it excitedly clamored for stocks at ridiculously inflated prices a year ago.

What guarantee is there that the crowd is not equally wrong today when it prefers to sell rather than buy stocks at the current thoroughly deflated prices?

J. W. HARRIMAN, president of the Harriman National Bank, New York, has just shown me the following letter he received from a very prominent merchant in the Middle West:

"Our business is improving. Tell Wall Street not to lose their heads—their 'fear' is leading them astray. Our principal trouble is unwarranted pessimism. The country is sound as a sound nut. If Wall Street would employ 25,000 optimists to travel ove. the whole country, the wheels would commence turning. All stocks are unusually low and buying must begin. We need more sane people, and less wild ones telling the people how poor business will be for the next year. Don't worry, and keep serene."

Mr. Harriman says: "This comes from a man who is not ordinarily optimistic, nor has he been so through the past couple of years. Therefore his change in attitude is rather significant.

"I think 25,000 optimists scattered throughout the country talking business up, as he suggests, would have a good effect."

WHERE IS OUR vaunted American leadership? Where is the courage we claim to be characteristic of America's foremost men of affairs? Has long-enjoyed prosperity made our once-strong men flabby, spineless, selfish, wholly afraid to exercise those qualities which built up this country? Has the world of finance, of industry, of business, become utterly leaderless?

These questions the great mass of Americans are asking at this moment.

What is your answer, you gentlemen who have arrogated to yourselves great responsibility, great power, great financial rewards?

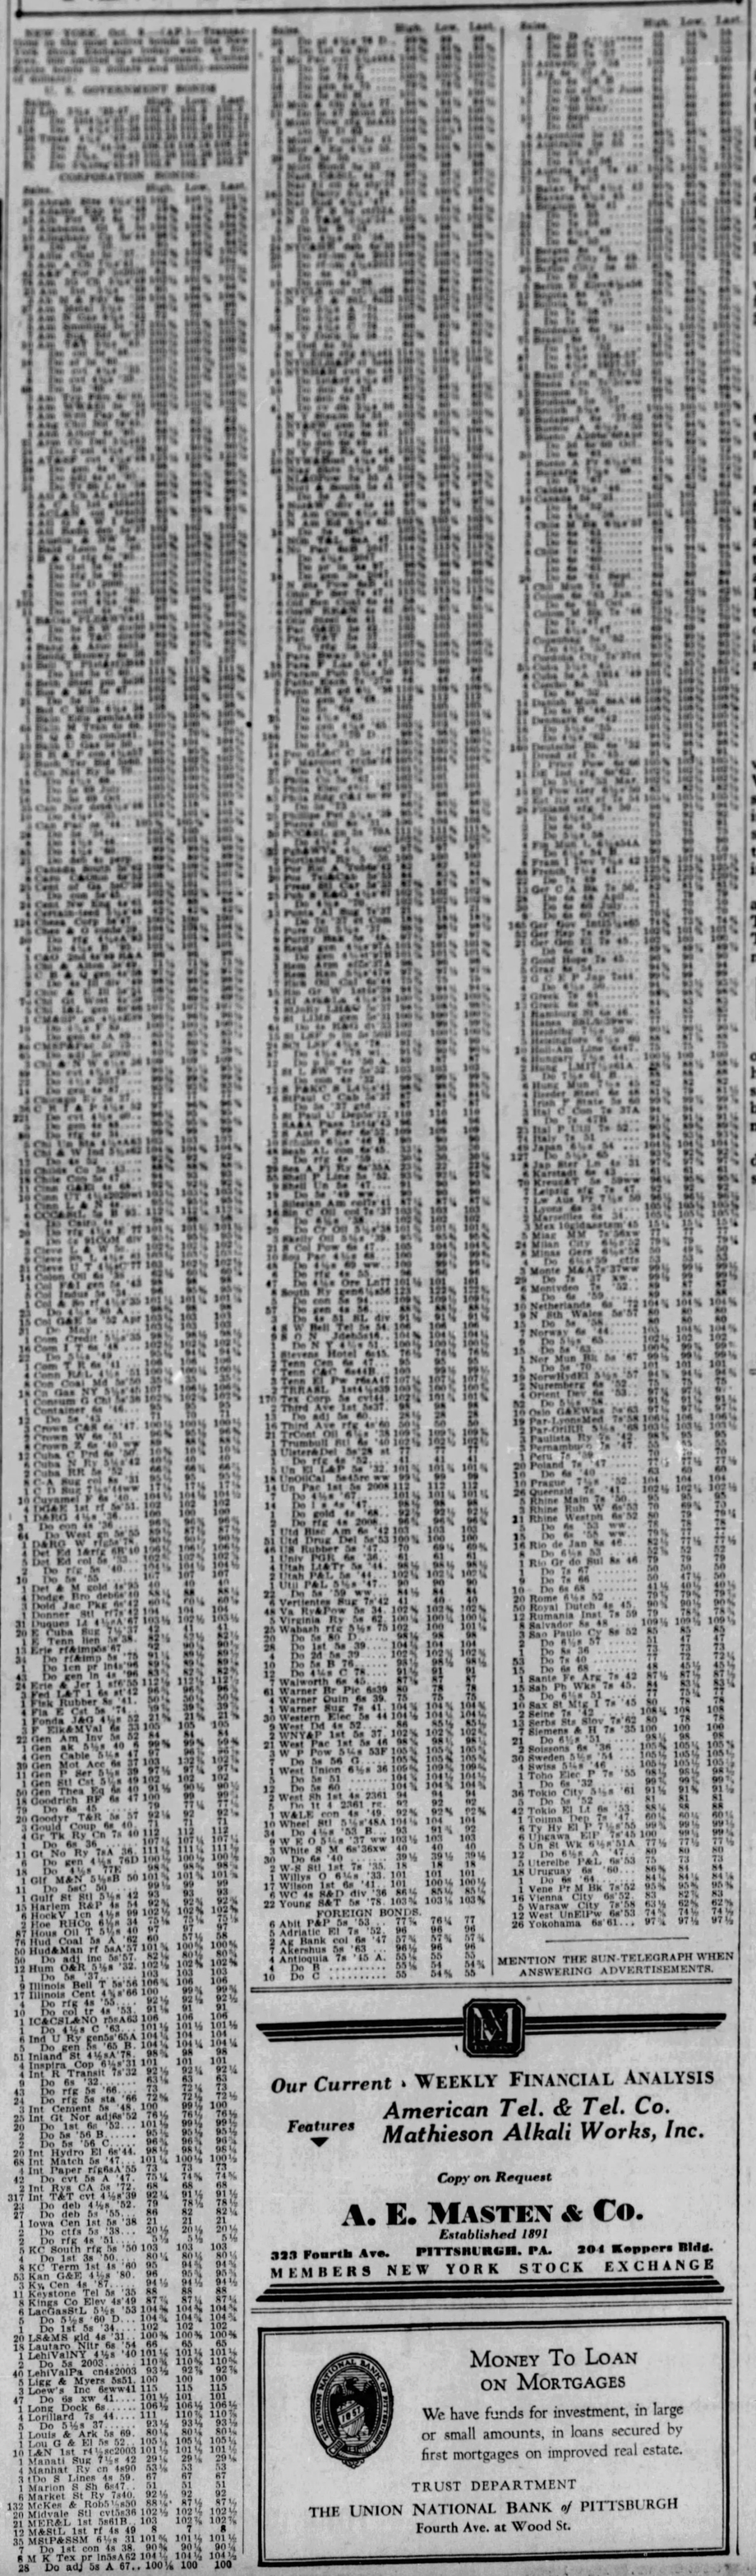
NEW YORK BOND MARKET



P. & W. Va. to Complete Line January 1

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

ENGINEERS OF THE PITTSBURGH and West Virginia Railway Company expect to complete construction work on the Connellsville extension by the end of this year. Operation of the new line was originally planned for an earlier date, but delays have occurred in the construction of some of the bridges.

Track has been laid beyond the point at which the line crosses the Monongahela River and grading has been carried as far as Scottdale. The connection with the tracks of the Pittsburgh Steel Company will be finished by November 1. This will permit operations over the first section of the new line.

The 38-mile Connellsville extension will open a connection with the Western Maryland and will make the Taplin plan to form a new trunk line from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Seaboard physically possible.

Merger Difficulties

NUMEROUS DIFFICULTIES are still in the way of the consolidation of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia with the Western Maryland and the Wheeling and Lake Erie, steps necessary to bring the Taplin trunk line into existence.

Following a recent recommendation to the Interstate Commerce Commission by C. V. Burnside, assistant director of finance, that permission to acquire the Wheeling and Lake Erie be denied, the Taplin interests have adopted a new line of attack. The commission objected to the merger because of the fact that the Pennroad Corporation controls the Pittsburgh and West Virginia. Domination of the new system by the Pennsylvania Railroad was feared. The commission also stated that any merger plan should take into consideration the acquisition of other lines allotted to the Wabash-Seaboard system in which the new trunk line would be placed under the general railroad consolidation plan.

To Buy Road Back

TO MEET THE OBJECTION to control by the Pennsylvania, the Taplins offered to buy the Pittsburgh and West Virginia back from Pennroad in their last petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission. They asked the commission to issue an order for the merger based on the condition that this step be completed. They stated that unless this order is issued there would be no point in their buying the line and eliminating the Pennsylvania from the picture.

The Taplins sold the control of the line to Pennroad about a year ago. It was generally understood at that time that the Taplins could repurchase their stock under certain conditions. The Pennroad Corporation made no change in the management of the road.

Pennroad Status Changed

THE TAPLIN PETITION threw an interesting light on the changed position of Pennroad Corporation. When this holding company was formed, its stock was offered to the stockholders of Pennsylvania Railroad. Since that time it has been assumed that this close relationship made the management of Pennroad identical with that of Pennsylvania.

It is now contended by the Taplins that Pennroad has been drifting away from the parent company. Their last petition said:

"While the Pennroad Corporation, now the owner of the majority stock of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, was originally launched as an affiliation of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the situation has largely changed during the past year.

"Since the stock market crash of a year ago vast changes in the ownership of Pennroad Corporation certificates have taken place, and furthermore, two of the original trustees have resigned and have been replaced by men who are in no way connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad."

SUGAR PROGRAM GETS SUPPORT

HAVANA, Oct. 9.—President Machado, after a conference with the sugar committee and Thomas L. Chadbourne Wednesday night, said the plan proposed for international co-operation in sugar stabilization would have his enthusiastic support.

The plan consists in taking 1,500,000 tons of the 2,200,000 tons of Cuban sugar surplus now in storage and delivering it to a corporation to be made up of four representatives of American interests, four of Cuban interests, and a president selected by both groups. This sugar will be sold by the corporation over a five-year period and outside of the United States. The sugar will be paid for at the rate of $4.00 a bag, 1.25 cents a pound, by means of bonds or certificates of treasury which Republic of Cuba will issue at 5½ per cent interest, the bonds protected by necessary amount of sugar held as collateral and by a tax which will be put upon all sugar.

BROKER CRASH SENDS STOCKS TUMBLING

Shares Break Resistance Points Despite Support; Steel Lowest in 2 Years

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The stock market closed heavy today, after absorbing the largest volume of selling since June. Important stocks were depressed 4 to more than 10 points, but rebounded about 1 to 4 from the bottom in the late trading. American Telephone and U. S. Steel dropped about 4 points, going below their bottom levels of last November, then regained a substantial portion of their losses. Allied Chemical droped 10, and Westinghouse 8, before rallying. Total sales aggregated 4,750,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP.)—The most serious financial casualty among members of the New York Stock Exchange in recent years loosened a fresh flood of liquidation on today's stock market.

Although supporting orders appeared in some volume during the early hours of the session, efforts to maintain recent resistance points were soon abandoned, foreshadowing the announcement of the suspension of Prince & Whitely, which was made from the rostrum of the exchange shortly after noon.

Selling was taken in an orderly manner, however, and practically nothing approaching demoralization developed in the trading. The new faster ticker system, nevertheless, was unable to maintain the pace, and fell a few minutes behind.

STEEL DROPS

United States Steel was crushed down to the lowest price in two years at 147½, off more than 3 points, after substantial buying orders failed to hold it at 150, the low of last November.

Only 25,500 shares were taken at the 150 level, indicating that its sponsors were making no such determined effort to support it as they did last autumn, when an order for 150,000 shares was said to have been placed. This was interpreted in Wall street as indicating that important banking interests felt that the market was on a much more stable basis, and that no emergency measures were necessary.

Losses of 3 points to more than 10 were numerous. The stocks with which Prince & Whitely were identified, such as National Dairy and Kelvinator, were well taken in the main, declining only about 2 points. Young Spring and Wire, however, tumbled 12 points. Such stocks as General Electric, Bethlehem Steel and American Can sold off 3 points or so. Shares losing 5 to nearly 10 included Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, American Water Works, Canadian Pacific, Gillette, Columbian Carbon and Allied Chemical. The market showed mild rallying tendencies soon after 1 o'clock, and the flow of selling orders slackened.

FAILURE UNSETTLING

While the actual losses in connection with the Prince & Whitely failure may be negligible, the fact that a firm which had been a member of the stock exchange for half a century could not meet its engagements was naturally unsettling. The firm's attorneys, however, announced that a reorganization was in progress, and that creditors may be paid in full.

The day's business was meagre, and not of a character to influence the market, although there was probably some further disappointed selling caused by yesterday's uncheerful steel trade reviews. Money was a little tighter, with the longer maturities of time loans a fraction higher. Call loans held at 2 per cent. Bankers stated that tighter money at this period might be regarded as favorable, indicating increasing commercial activity and use of funds.

Estimate Steel Net Equal to $2 Share

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Wall street is actively discussing United States Steel's prospects for the third quarter, and it is the popular view that something around $2 a share will be shown on the common stock. This would compare with $5.02 a share reported for the three months ended June 30, last.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Grain values underwent sudden setbacks from an early advance today, but soon steadied. The downturns followed announcements that incident to stock market weakness United States Steel shares had dropped to new low record quotations for the year. On the other hand cold weather in Argentina, unfavorable for crop progress, together with unlooked for upturns in wheat prices at Liverpool, had considerable tendency to lift the wheat market here. Opening ⅛c off to ⅞c up, Chicago wheat future deliveries fluctuated afterward at around yesterday's finish. Corn started unchanged to ½c higher, reacted sharply and then recovered.

Report Steel to Meet Powerful Support at Present Levels

As usual in situations such as exist presently in the stock market, Steel common seems to be the focus of speculative attention. Long recognized as the bellwether of the industrial list, Steel's action is being carefully watched for signs of support, which on appearance in the past has very often served to mark at least a temporary turning point in a long decline. As Steel slipped to new low ground for the year yesterday, yielding a fraction under the low of Tuesday, it was again getting close to the low of 150 reached in the process of the break last November. Wall street has heard talk of planting of powerful support orders in the attack just above that level, and naturally the test of its position was generally looked upon as being close at hand.

It now develops that the steel industry, rather than experiencing any appreciable turn for the better during September, actually turned in its poorest performance for the current depression in that month. Pig iron production tapered off 6.8 per cent to the lowest point since September of 1924, and ingot output fell 7.3 per cent, sufficient to more than cancel the gain that had been shown in August over July. As indicated at the time, the increase in business that developed during September was, as the Iron Age points out, "for forward delivery and did not result in immediate demands on the mills." Recent efforts to stiffen price schedules do not appear to be holding, as indicated from the fact that the composite price of finished steel is back again to the low level of the year reached in August. Scrap similarly is now only 17 cents a gross ton above the July low.

Illinois Central common was reported commanding a premium of 1-16 in the stock loan crowd yesterday after having loaned at a premium of 1-32 all day Tuesday. Wheeling and Lake Erie issues have been on the premium list in the loan market for several years or since early 1927 when the well-remembered "fireworks" were on as various interests struggled for control of the market in those issues. But otherwise few if any of the more seasoned rails have enjoined that distinction in recent years. Selling has evidently been going on in the shares of Illinois Central influenced by reported poor earnings. The road has been paying $7 annually on the stock since 1917 and each year since 1921 has shown such dividends covered by a fair margin. From the end of 1917 to March 1, 1920, the road was of course operated by the government. Based on results for the first eight months this year, indicated net for the stock for the full year would be equivalent to around $5.30 a share.

A bright spot in the carloadings statement is found in the figures on the movement of merchandise freight usually accepted as a fair barometer of general industrial activity. Such loadings this week stood at 382,165 cars, against 382,077 cars last week, and 385,041 cars in the record week for the year which ended August 30, last. Total loadings for the past week compare with 1,203,139 cars in the same week last year and 1,196,965 cars in the corresponding week of 1928, when the records for those years were established. Loadings from January 1 to date show a net decrease of 11.9 per cent from the same period a year ago and 8.2 per cent compared with the corresponding period in 1928.

Action of Nash Motor directors in ordering the regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share, due at this time, in spite of the fact that earnings for the quarter, ended Augunst 31, amounted to only 65 cents a share was interpreted as an expression of confidence in the outlook for the near future. All things considered, the company's directors were amply justified in declaring the regular dividend when it was realized that out of total current assets of $53,141,008 reported on December 3, last, some $42,000,000 was represented by actual cash and government securities. The $1 dividend calls for a total of $2,730,000 for the quarter, of which $1,777,000 was earned, thus indicating the need for dipping into surplus to the extent of $963,000. Profit and loss surplus incidentally, at the beginning of the year stood at $39,770,961.

One student points out that most of the recent swings in either direction have continued for from 24 to 26 days. He adds that if precedent is to be followed it is likely that the reaction which started September 10 is about reaching its end, with a good rally in sight. However, it is significant that even those holding this view have not yet shown indications of buying stocks in anticipation of a good recovery movement to continue for more than a day or two.

Railroad Adjourns Special Meeting

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—The special St. Louis Southwestern Railway meeting to consider the proposed increase in bonded debt to $100,000,000 has been adjourned to November 4. As of December 31, 1929, the road had $67,304,750 of funded debt.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Prices slipped off in flurries of selling on the curb market today. Pressure was not particularly severe, except in a few stocks, but interest in the buying side was at a low ebb and offerings found a generally lower scale.

DAILY TRUE STORY

The Warning

I watched brother Jim's two youngsters at play on the porch. I hadn't seen them since they were barely able to walk, as I had been attending to consular duties in a far country for my more or less appreciative country.

Little Jim had a squirt gun and he wore an Indian costume. Little Alice, his sister, was so engrossed in watching a humming bird in the honeysuckle that she forgot she was being trailed by a savage Indian.

Little Jim became unduly excited at this. Here was his chance to lay low the paleface.

The result was that little Jim got the water right between the eyes, instead of sister Alice.

"By George," my brother said, "that was a regular Nick Merrill!"

"And what," I asked, "is a Nick Merrill?"

"It's a long story," Jim said.

And then he told the story.

It seems that Nick Merrill had inherited a livable income about the time I left for foreign parts, to work hard for my living.

Nick didn't work hard at anything, except at keeping in the limelight and being the village cut-up. He married Ora Cummings, Jim explained, which was a surprise to me.

Of course Nick belonged to the local lodges and to the country club and the bowling team—he was a great joiner.

Becomes Angry

There was, of course, a great many who didn't enthuse a whole lot over Nick Merrill. And when the country club arranged for its annual amateur revue, Nick Merrill wasn't singled out for any part whatever.

Nick got pretty sore and said a few things about it. No one seemed to mind that.

Now it seems that on the day before the opening night of this amateur revue, Joe Walker, who was to be master of ceremonies, telephoned from Madison (although no one knew where he was at the time), a town 50 miles away.

He pleaded great stress of business and begged my brother, who was the stage manager, to try and get someone else to take his place.

The "great stress of business" that Joe Walker had confronting him at that moment was a mysterious note typewritten on plain paper, and this note read:

"Dear Joe—You better leave town for a few days, as her husband is wise and on the warpath for you.

"A Friend."

Within an hour, Ben Higginson wired to Jim, as he told it to me, as follows:

"Big business deal—lose thousands if I don't stay on the job here. Get Riley to sing my songs."

Ben Higginson's big business deal was exactly like Joe Walker's except that the letter started with "Dear Ben" instead of with "Dear Joe."

Another Letter

Now, when the third man in the cast of the revue sent a letter to Jim, which was mailed from a west-bound train, explaining that the illness of a relative had called him away and his part in the show would have to be taken by any of the boys who happened to know what it was, my brother Jim realized that this was no coincidence at all—it was some dirty work at the cross words, as he expressed it to me.

Just then Jim got a letter, special delivery. It had been mailed in town about two hours before.

Jim's letter read:

Dear Jim—You better leave town for a few days as her husband is wise, and on the warpath for you.

"A FRIEND."

Then Jim blew up!

He knew all about the coincidence, then, and he hopped in his car and beat it home to show it to Alice, his wife.

Jim's wife read the letter.

All of a sudden Alice said, "Wait!"

She went to the library and rummaged in the drawer where she kept her Women's Club papers and records. She had been the recording secretary sometime before. She rummaged about and got out some reports.

The telephone bell sounded. It was for Jim. George Thomas called up.

"This is George Thomas, Jim, and—"

"Yes, yes, I know—important business keeps you away and you want me to hire Julian Elsinge to take your place—and the important business is a warning that somebody's husband is on the warpath," Jim shouted over the wire.

"Good gosh, did you get one, too, Jim?"

"Come back or don't run away, it's a phoney, those warning letters are like noses, everybody has one," Jim assured him.

George promised to show up and help get the other boys back.

Alice went over to see Ora, Nick Merrill's wife.

She talked a little about some of the Women's Club work and then she said, "My dear, let me make a few notes on your typewriter before I forget them—it's about the club dues."

Ora took her into her husband's den, explaining that she used his typewriter, which Alice knew.

Alice typed a few lines and then called Ora in.

"Now this is not only darned mean, but serious to the club and the peace of mind of the community, Ora," Alice said, "and I want you to notice that all the letter n's in Jim's letter have a cut through the top, and the letter n on your husband's typewriter has the same cut through the top. Those wicked warning letters were written on this machine. Of course, you didn't do it, Ora."

Revue Opens

"I didn't do it—and this is just about the last straw from that big, lazy fool!"

Jim got all but one of the men back.

Nick Merrill didn't appear at the opening night of the show. He didn't appear any of the three nights.

He finally called on Jim's wife.

"Has Ora quit your Women's Club?" he asked.

"Why, not exactly," Alice said.

"What do you mean, not exactly!"

"Oh, she doesn't attend our meetings any more, she hasn't for a long, long while," Alice exclaimed," but she has so much literary work to do, she said, that she hasn't time."

Nick Merrill stared at Alice for a moment and rushed away.

His wife's sister was there when Nick rushed in.

"Liar!" he shouted to Ora.

He went up and slapped her. It wasn't a very hard slap.

"Now, you So and So, go get your divorce. I know I can't prove anything, but I'm damned if I'll live with you, and your sister can testify that I beat you."

"Thanks, Nick," Ora said, quietly.

Ora got the divorce all right.

She asked for alimony.

"If you demand alimony I'll introduce this letter I got," Nick Merrill said, showing her the letter, which read:

"Nick—Better watch your wife and one of your supposed best friends, Ora doesn't go to the Women's Club, she spends those evenings with this man.

"A WISE FRIEND."

"Yes, I've seen that before," Ora said, "in fact I wrote it—see that letter with the cut through the top? The same machine, you know, that you used in writing those fake warnings. Fight against my alimony and I'll air the whole thing, my warning letter to you and your letters and——"

Nick gave in and granted her the alimony.

"And so you see what I mean," my brother Jim said, "by calling little Jim's squirt gun fiasco a 'Nick Merrill joke.'"

Facts of Unemployment Situation Are Needed

Seven hundred men are to be employed by the city as unskilled laborers next week at $4.40 a day. There are 5,000 applicants for the jobs.

And that raises the question: Just how bad is the unemployment situation in Pittsburgh? How many men are out of work? How desperate is their need?

No one can answer. The best that can be done is to guess. And yet the information is almost indispensable if the unemployment problem is to be dealt with intelligently and effectively.

The 700 laborers are to be hired to help tide them over a bad period. The projects on which they are to be employed are being pushed at this time as a relief measure. The work could be done with fewer men. Steam shovels could be used instead of manual labor. But the city is definitely committed to the policy of giving work to the largest possible number of its needy residents.

The plan is praiseworthy, but since it is obvious that many applicants for jobs are going to be disappointed, it is desirable that steps shall be taken to assure that the work is given to those most desperately in need of it. It is conceivable that they may not be among the 5,000 applicants. But a census of the unemployed probably would reveal them.

Detroit has taken such a census, the work being done by 800 volunteers, to whom the unemployed came to register and to present such facts as had a bearing on their cases. The results of the census were illuminating.

Pittsburgh should obtain similar information.

Notable Demonstration Of Hunger for Religion

If admission to the religious discussion in Carnegie Music Hall Tuesday night had been free, the fact that the auditorium was filled and a great additional multitude clamored in vain for entrance would have been remarkable enough. But it becomes profoundly significant when one considers that the people who attended had to pay for admission as much as a ticket for a first-class play costs.

The willingness of thousands to pay for the privilege of hearing religion discussed from four points of view by able and intelligent speakers can mean but one thing—that there is intense hunger for the truth about God, and the immortality of the soul, and the plan by which the universe is governed—and that the thousands hoped, through hearing a Protestant, a Catholic, a Jew and an agnostic expound their creeds, to obtain light and, possibly, support for their own wavering faith.

The materialistic philosophy which now finds such widespread credence offers little but despair to those of normal mentality. Take away their belief in a personal God, their belief in Divine justice, their belief in a hereafter in which there in compensation for the sufferings endured in this existence, and life becomes for them a bitter mockery.

A clever agnostic skilled in debate, Clarence Darrow, defended his skepticism on the Carnegie Music Hall stage; but the facts and arguments presented by the three other speakers, who upheld religious faith, must have proved very comforting and reassuring to many in the audience who came inclined to doubt.

Feeble Defense of Lake Coal Rate Differential

As was predicted in these columns, the southern coal operators are making a plea for sympathy rather than for justice in their defense of the narrow differential now prevailing between freight rates on coal shipped from Southern West Virginia and Kentucky to the Great Lakes, and the rates on coal shipped to the lakes from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. They whine that if the spread were to be widened they would lose business.

Probably they would, since unfortunately there is overproduction of coal and not enough markets to take the output of every district.

Their defense of the 35-cent differential is feeble, since they cannot refute the Pennsylvanians' and Ohioans' argument that because of proximity the lake ports are the natural markets for Pennsylvania and Ohio coal. They cannot justify the policy of the railroads in charging $1.46 a ton for hauling coal from Pittsburgh to the lakes, while charging only $1.81 for hauling a ton of coal from the Kanawha (West Virginia) field to the lakes, which is more than twice as far.

Not being in position to demand justice, they ask favoritism—at the expense of the Pittsburgh district.

Terrible Toll of Life Is Taken by Fire Here

The number and earnestness of the organizations that are co-operating in the local observance of National Fire Prevention Week is encouraging. It offers the hope that additional precautionary measures will be taken and another reduction obtained in Pittsburgh's fire insurance rates. Fire Chief Richard L. Smith states that policyholders were saved $150,000 in premiums this year by the fire-prevention work done by the Chamber of Commerce, the fire department and other organizations last year. So, from a dollars and cents standpoint, the annual warning against the fire danger has been proved to be very well worth while.

But, important as is the financial cost of fires, it is not to be compared in seriousness with the loss of life. Fire takes a terrible toll of life here. The city's vital statistics show that 121 persons lost their lives through fire last year. The deaths from fire during the first eight months of this year totaled 51, a gratifying decrease from the rate in 1929, but still a staggering price to pay for indifference and carelessness—for 85 per cent of our fires, according to Chief Smith, are due to carelessness.

Valuable suggestions as to how fire may be prevented are being offered by the authorities on this subject. Read them and heed them.

His Own Shadow

By Nelson Harding

The sun comes up as usual,
The cloud banks drift away;
There isn't anywhere a real
Good reason for dismay.

Then why do pessimists ignore
A prospect bright and fair
And look behind them tearfully
At their own shadows there?

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

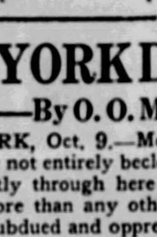
II.—The Setting of the Stage.

The weighting down of parts of the crust with these burdens led, it seems, to their collapse; and these down-dragged areas, geologists believe, gave the earth its first ocean-basins. Meanwhile great volumes of water vapor and other gases must have been pouring out, giving earth its primordial atmosphere—hot, moist and probably sulphurous.

At first the vast amount of water vapor in this steamy atmosphere condensed into an unbroken sea of cloud, through which the sun's rays never reached the surface beneath.



H. G. Wells

In this stage the larger planets like Jupiter have continued till this day; we do not see their solid surface, but only the light reflected from their cloudy mantle.

Rain fell continually from the roof of cloud, but was turned into steam again before it reached the surface of the earth below.

Finally, however, the crust cooled enough to allow the still liquid rain to splash upon it and rush towards its lower hollows; and so the seas gathered about the earth.

As more and more of the water-vapor of the atmosphere was liquified, the cloudy mantle thinned and finally tore, admitting the first sun-rays to illuminate the surface crust below.

This lighting up of the stage was not the signal for life to appear; evolution does not work so dramatically. But from the moment the first water could run on the hot surface of earth, sedimentary rocks could begin to be formed, and salt, dissolved out of the crust in the run-off of the continents, could be trapped in the oceans, which in the beginning must have been practically fresh.

In all probability a very considerable thickness of rock was laid down before the slightest intimation of life appeared; for all the evidence points to primitive life having been adapted from the first to a sea already salt.

But the sun-rays, all the same, seem to have had much to do with the origin of life, so the conditions became favorable.

Sec. 3—The Origin of Life.

The actual origin of life must always remain a secret; even if man succeeds in artificially making life, he can never be sure that Nature did not employ some other means.

Some thinkers have supposed that life was carried to this earth in a dormant state within meteorites. But this is to think timously and to balk the issue; it only removes the problem of life's origin one step farther back. It does not absolve us from asking how and when life originated, but merely introduces an extra difficulty.

It is much more likely that, at one moment in earth's cooling-down, the warm sea provided an environment never afterwards to be repeated, an environment differing in temperature, in pressure, in the salts within the waters, in the gases of the atmosphere over the waters, from any earlier or any later environments.

The earth at that moment fulfilled all the conditions which the alchemists tried to repeat in their crucibles. It was a cosmic test-tube, whose particular brew led to the appearance of living matter as inevitable as an earlier and different set of conditions led to the formation of rocks and seas and clouds.

Let us remember that there are no elements in living matter which are not found in its lifeless environment; that the energy by which life is operated is not any mysterious "vital force" but is the same energy (we have produced the energy balance sheet for our readers' inspection) by which the simplest physical and chemical transformation are worked; and that the chemical compounds found in living bodies and as yet unsynthesized seem to differ only in their complexity from those we can already put together in test tubes and those that exist as not living matter.

A PUZZLE OF THE CENTURIES

By Archibald Henderson

One vast field in mathematics is now known as the Theory of Numbers. Throughout history numbers has attracted the interest of mankind. The symbolism of number appeals deeply to the religious mind; and by its devotees numerology is regarded as a "science," whether of superstition, mysticism, palmistry, or fortune-telling. The theory of numbers, says Hardy, more than any other branch of mathematics, began by being an experimental science. Its most famous theorems have all been conjectured, sometimes a hundred years or more before they were proved; and they have been suggested by a mass of computations.

One of the most extraordinary problems in mathematics, which has its origin in the remote past, is the famous problem of Fermat. As formulated by this gifted Frenchman, the problem reads:

It is impossible to partition a cube into two cubes or a biquadrate into two biquadrates, or generally any power higher than a square into two powers of like degree.

The history of this problem, for the case n-2, goes back to times of remote antiquity among the Egyptians. The Greeks and the Chinese were acquainted with the problem. Pythagoras gave the first general proof of it known to history. This theorem is named for the Pythagorean theorem; but it is popularly known as the Pons Asignorum.

The Greeks, and before them the Egyptians, knew of the existence of a right triangle having its sides in the ratio of 3 to 4 to 5.

Such sets of numbers are, for example, 5, 12, 13; 7, 24, 25; 8, 15, 17, and 9, 40, 41. To illustrate, we have $9^2 + 40^2 = 41^2$, since 81 + 1600 = 1681. There are an infinite number of such triplets x, y, z satisfying the equation

$$x^2 + y^2 = z^2$$

It is interesting to recall that many of the disciples of Pythagoras knew not a few such triplets. In his Arithmetica, Diophantus of Alexandria, who lived in the third century of our era, gave a rule for determining such numbers.

Fermat went a step further, and stated that the equation cannot be solved for integral or whole number values of x, y, z, when n is an integer greater than 2. He said: "I discovered a truly wonderful proof of this, which, however, this margin is too narrow to hold." This alleged proof of Fermat has never been found; and doubt today is entertained as to whether Fermat had ever discovered such a proof. Many a mathematician, says Tobias Dantzig in Number, has since wished that Fermat had had a wider margin at his disposal when he wrote it.

Many of the greatest mathematicians of the last three centuries have attempted to prove Fermat's Theorem: Euler and Lagrange, Kummer and Riemann, among others. In 1908 a Dr. Wolfskoel offered 100,000 marks for a complete solution. Thousands of attempts have been made, but only a few cases have been proved. Euler proved the theorem for n=3, Fermat for n=4, Dirichlet for n=5. No one has proved the theorem in general. The puzzle remains unsolved, the prize unawarded.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I have an old shawl—very lovely.
It was made by a poor woman in India.
They tell me it took her many years to make it.
There is only one stitch in the shawl—
One stitch, done over and over, in dull red silk on gray cloth.
Over and under, over and under, over and under the stitches go,
With narrow openings, here and there.
What did she think as she worked?
Probably nothing.
Bending over the coarse cloth, year after year.
That stitch must have become as unconscious as her own breath.
As monotonous and unquestioning as the simple round of her day.
Stitch—stitch—and a room to sweep.
Stitch—stitch—and a baby to be born.
Stitch—stitch—and a bowl of rice to cook.
Stitch—stitch—tears to weep on a little grave, and then go on.
Stitch after stitch, year after year, at last it was done.
At last the coarse gray cloth was covered with stitching.
And, behold, a wonder!
Those monotonous stitches, those narrow spaces.
Seemingly all of a sameness.
Had worked themselves into a pattern,
A design full of meaning and beauty—
Unwittingly that humble toiler
Had built with her needle great art!
I sit and hold that shawl and think—
I think of the simple, toiling lives I have known,
Obscure, unheralded lives who do the same thing,
Day after day, through the years—
Fathers going down to work on the 7:45,
Coming back from work on the 5:15—
Same hour, same train, same job, year after year.
With the youth drying out of their bodies
And the adventure burning out of the eyes,
Doing it for the Missis n' the kids—
I think of mothers getting up at 6:30.
Starting the coffee and mush.
Getting dad off to work and the children to school.
Cooking food, seeing it eaten.
Making clothes, seeing them wear out,
Always the same thing, over and over,
The same step, the same stitch—
Simple lives, toiling, unheralded,
Year after year, on a drab stretch of life,
Saying sometimes wistfully—
"I wish I could amount to something"—
Thinking sometimes enviously
Of the Great Ones who do—
Then going back patiently
To ledger or kitchen sink—
Simple lives—holding this shawl
I think about them—
See life as they see it,
One monotonous step after another,
Steps that lead nowhere—
But, though they see it not
There's a wonder!
Out of those many steps, seemingly alike,
Out of those monotonous chores
Done over—and over—and over—
Flashes at last a pattern—
A design full of meaning and beauty;
The beauty of living with love
And courage and patience and honor.
Simple souls, obscure, unheralded,
Toiling day after day
At the same monotonous chores,
Taking the same stitch, the same step,
Unwittingly making of life
Great Art!

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There was a colored guy that worked for a railroad, and one day he come around and says to his boss, "Say, Boss, I'se mighty hard up. Could you let me have fifty dollars till the first of the month?"

"Why, maybe I could," says the boss. "But I don't believe you take care of your money very much. If I lend you this fifty bucks, it'll just about carry you through the crap game next Monday night."

"No, sah, I won't use any of this here money for the crap game. Boss, I got seventy-five all put away in the radiator at home for that crap game. I needs this here fifty for legitimate expenses."

Text For Today

But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.—I Timothy, v:8.

(The text for today is suggested by the Rev. G. E. Swoyer, pastor, Mt. Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, North Side.)

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Getting All Smoked Up

New York's finest now include 90 smoke gendarmes. Their business is to report any unusual activity among chimneys. Especially those legendary old smokestacks on haunted breweries.

Each scout is equipped with stem winding binoculars and is perched on the busiest skyline in the world.

When all the chimneys are working correctly any city looks like a blackberry omelet after the waiter stumbled.

The smoke doesn't seem to blow away. It just hangs around like a cat in the butcher shop. They must be mixing the stuff with glue.

When a smoke critic sees a particularly robust chimney dishing out billows of collar and cuff camouflage he calls up headquarters and informs the new soot department.

He is instructed to bring in a sample of the smoke for extensive chemical tests.

So he has to call out the firemen because that's their racket. Firemen always look more important going anywhere because they are allowed to advertise on the way.

They all gather round the chimney and give it the blindfold test. After they decide on the brand of the smoke they write an indorsement and proceed to the next smokestack for dessert.

It is the hope of the administration of health and substitutes to make city air just as pure as country atmosphere and thereby give everybody malaria.

We don't see why they want to change the city ozone because we are used to it now. Every week we go to the garage to get the carbon removed from our tonsils and our noses rebored.

Pure, fresh air is too rich a mixture for our carbureter. The old stuff was good enough for grandpa and it's food and drink to us.

They have kidded Pittsburgh about its overstuffed climate but every city seems to have its share of soft-boiled ceiling decorations.

It's fun combing out your hair after a hard day's work and giving the big pieces of coal to the children to play with.

We like our atmosphere the way it is now. If they clean it up what chance have you of sneaking by a traffic light?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Modern vagaries of an unsentimental age have not entirely beclouded New York. The golden past peeps faintly through here and there. The old Murray Hill district, more than any other, symbolizes how tenuously many cling to subdued and oppressive mid-Victorian propriety.

In this area may be found dignified gentlemen who take infinite pains in trimming their beards, cultivate a rather melancholy habit of mind and who wear hats straight on their heads instead of at rakish angles. They make sweeping bows to ladies and otherwise epitomize perfect behaviourism.

The old Murray Hill Hotel, center of the district, droops in a somnolent gloom. In its enormous lobby are venerable aristocrats who carry gold knobbed canes and meet any unseemly overtures of strangers with quickly lifted eyebrows and hearty garrumphs. A few still indulge a pinch of snuff.

There are Murray Hill men who take an afternoon off now and then to dress in frock coat and high hat and pay brief, respectful calls to the brown stone mansions of old friends. Once a month they go far down town for similar visits with the family lawyer.

Many ladies, as frail as frost, recall long black half-mitts and stately minuettes. On pleasant days they depart in closed carriages, horse drawn, for a circle of Central Park. A fleeting glimpse of their faces suggests old ivory and you somehow think of the quick, sad strokes of churchbells.

While the Morgans live on Murray Hill, not all are rich as New York judges wealth. But they are the last of the vanishing blue bloods. Uniforms of their coachmen are shabby. Butlers are flabby and gouty from age. Any number of residents still have 6 o'clock dinners in the half light of patrician basement dining rooms.

These are the thinning line of gentle folk to whom tabloids, isms, saxophones, sex novels, pagan plays and other off-shoots of a roistering generation are mysteries. Their amusements are learned lectures at Town Hall and a few auspicious symphony concerts at Carnegie.

I still think, however, nothing looks quite so out of place in the New York hurrah as one of those pointer hunting dogs with beautiful coat and pleading eyes.

On the day the celebrated Henri Matisse visited New York the metropolitan press bulged with engagement rumors of a cabaret singer to a motion picture lady. One notice of the celebrated painter was encompassed under "Hotel Arrivals," dismissed completely with a single line: Henri Matisse, Nice, France."

A returning American, weary of hearing Berkeley pronounced "Barclay" and Cholmondeley "Chumley" had his revenge. A Britisher bade him bon voyage and remarked that some day he hoped to see Niagara Falls. "You mean Niffles?" queried the Yank.

Too, I hear British ship builders are knitting brows to excel with something larger than the German ships "Europa" and "Bremen." They were at work on the thousand foot Oceanic when the Teutonic liners were launched and immediately abandoned their marine masterpiece. In the meantime French shipbuilders have up their sleeve the "Isle de la Cite," in which they hope to cross from Havre to New York in less than four days. Fun on the ocean, gracious me!

I was getting along fairly well with today's offering when Lisle Bell popped in all merry and bright and observed that what he would enjoy at the moment would be a steaming bowl of old-fashioned navy bean soup flavored with ham-hock. That gives you an idea why we skip out of town now and then to get away from it all.

Also I have got to keep away from Eleventh avenue. It is entirely too rough. Wandering about there yesterday several loafers around a gas house screeched in falsetto, "Yoo hoo!" directed, I suppose, at my spats. Feigning nonchalance, I idled before a window in which was a mirrow. "Look!" yelled another, "he's taking a pike at his puss." So I scurried away up a side street.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

When you are away from home are you an intelligent traveler or merely a passenger?

There is a great difference between being able to know what you see and where to find it and the process of just looking around.

It is shallow to see things without acquiring any definite knowledge of the relation these things bear to their surroundings.

If your eyes don't serve their purpose to stimulate your brain, you have not improved your privilege of travel.

Some folks go less than one hundred miles and come home filled with a new store of valuable facts picked up by intelligent observation.

Still others might travel around the world and not find anything more to say than: "simply marvelous."

You say that you don't want to bore your friends by bringing up your sight-seeing experiences all the time.

At least you might furnish your friends with a few valuable stories historical, or of human interest, gained through your visits elsewhere.

If you are able to do this, you will not be considered tiresome because you will have something to offer which others want to learn about.
